

COAL HARLEY MEN; ANTHRACITE STRIKE FEARED

STRIKES FEARED AS HARLEY ENDS

Operators' Refusal Causes Collapse of Atlantic City Contract Negotiations.

CONTEST IS BITTER

Associated Press Despatch.
Atlantic City, July 27.—Refusal of anthracite operators to grant the demand of the United Mine Workers of America for installation of the check-off dues-paying system throughout the industry resulted today in the sudden collapse of contract negotiations.

After a bitter contest of words in which each side charged the other with responsibility for the state of affairs and declared its opponent was making an unfair bid for public sympathy, the joint committee of eight adjourned sine die.

At the last moment a resolution was passed authorizing the secretary to reconvene the committee if either side indicated it had anything worth while to concede.

There was no indication, however, that miners or operators saw any weak spot in their own argument that of their opponents which would be apt to justify a resumption of negotiations. Since the union already publicly declared it would not submit to arbitration, the only possible peace agency seen in the way of a threatened strike on September 1 was government intervention.

The general break was preceded 24 hours by the miners' ultimatum demanding to know the operators' attitude towards "complete recognition of the union," including the closed shop and check-off system before they would proceed with negotiations. The operators refused to grant such "complete recognition."

Urging that the fulfillment of further conference warranted immediate adjournment, the miners finally agreed to a 24-hour truce, which ended this afternoon.

Describes Proceedings.
The proceedings, as described in the official communiqué of James Gorman, secretary, were:

"Mr. Lewis, president of the miners' international, made the statement that there was no change in the attitude of the miners upon the demand for full and complete recognition of the union. S. D. Warren, into the record a statement outlining the position of the operators. Mr. Lewis made a statement outlining the position of the miners. The committee adjourned subject to the call of the secretary at the request of either side."

The recorded statement of the joint committee leaders was their only comment on the situation, except that neither would give up the demand for the other. Mr. Warren, with members of the operators' scale committee, summoned today for the most complete report of the conference. Mr. Lewis announced here "for important conferences."

Gives Out Statement.
Mr. Warren, in a statement addressed to the union leaders in the joint committee, declared the industry was operating under the best of post-war conditions, and anthracite employees today were "far above the increased cost of living." The recent report of the United States Coal Commission corroborated these statements, he said, continuing:

"In the light of these conditions we are prepared to execute a contract renewing the present wage scale to April 1, 1925. We wish to see the 12-hour day which is in effect, speed up the work of the board of conciliation, and endeavor to embody in the contract clauses covering these minor changes which we have expressed a willingness to consider during the present negotiations."

The operators' prepared statement evidently took the miners by surprise. Mr. Lewis, replying extemporaneously, said it was obviously prepared for the purpose "for public consumption." He was believed to have the intention of giving further consideration to the matters before the conference."

In demanding complete recognition, he said, the anthracite men were only asking for that form of human relationship which had obtained in the bituminous industry for 25 years. They wanted only a contract with the operators that would give formal and complete recognition of the mutual responsibilities by both parties thereto."

Associated Press Despatch.
Philadelphia, July 27.—The adjournment of the wage conference of miners and operators at Atlantic City without fixing a date for the resumption of the conference did not seem to surprise observers in the anthracite field who were keeping in touch with the situation.

An early agreement was not expected, it was said, and this was indicated when the operators in the preliminary meetings proposed that miners remain at work after August 31 in the event that a new agreement had not been reached. The miners refused to agree to the proposition on the ground that there was plenty of time to reach an agreement.

The present contract has exactly five weeks to run. In previous wage negotiations since the adjournment there has been taken but there was always a resumption of the conference and an agreement reached when the two sides were ready to make final proposals.

A suspension is looked for by those who have been following the strike closely. Hundreds In British Isles Are Leaving For Dominion To Aid In Western Harvest

By HENRY SOMERVILLE.
Special Cable to The London Advertiser by a Staff Correspondent. Copyright.

London, July 27.—Shipping agents throughout Britain continue to be flooded with applications for passages to Canada for harvesting work. Three hundred will sail on the Melita from Southampton on August 2, followed by contingents from the midlands and the north on August 3, leaving Liverpool on the Montclair. On the same date the Marburn sails from Glasgow, calling at Belfast with Scottish and Irish laborers.

Every part of the British Isles is contributing its quota. Many army ex-officers, public school graduates and several ordained ministers are taking advantage of the special through rate of £12 from the shipping office to Winnipeg.

Some are going more for a holiday than for the sake of the wages they will earn.

Applicants include men who have been in Canada before as laborers or farmers who intend to stay there after the present harvesting season. One man booked in London is a veteran of the Riel Rebellion.

Large queues are to be seen at London steamship offices daily. While they are a good type on the whole, some of them look too weakened by prolonged unemployment in England to be capable of hard labor. Though there is a medical examination en route, these enfeebled men are likely to pass because there is nothing organically wrong with them.

"While Mr. Hay refused to make any prophecy as to the name of the house leader, the paper stated that among Liberals it was W. E. N. Sinclair has the best claim to the position."

"It is said that no general convention of Liberals will be called until after next session."

The skipper says from what he could learn from the men in their weakened condition they had been fishing off Sandy Hook when their engine became disabled, and they drifted for 60 hours without food and had only water which they were able to catch in a rainstorm.

INDIANS DEMAND EQUAL RIGHTS

Simla, India, July 27.—Indian indignation here at the imperial government's decision with regard to the demand of the Indians in Kenya for equal rights with other settlers in the colony was reflected in the Legislative Assembly today when, despite strong government opposition the assembly passed a resolution introduced by Dr. Gaur proposing retaliation against colonialism in the Indian Empire by regulating their entry into Canada.

Dr. Gaur emphatically criticized the manner in which Indians were treated in Africa, especially in Kenya, and he roundly condemned the segregation proposed by the imperial government of South Africa. A resolution, moved by Sir Malcolm Haileys, to circulate the bill proposing retaliation was rejected by 50 votes to 10. Sir Malcolm said the government thoroughly sympathized with the Indians in their gallant position, and considered their status in the Indian Empire as a disgrace.

A Reuter despatch received here from London states that strong denials of the imperial government's decision on the Kenyan question were voiced by Sir Srinivas Sastri, the leader of the Indian delegation in London, in connection with the matter.

Sastri characterized the decision as a profound humiliation and a deep affront to India, and suggested that the Indian members of the government in India might resign as a protest against it.

CHINESE LIVING IN DOMINION Must Now Be Registered

Canadian Press Despatch.
Ottawa, July 27.—The registration of all persons of Chinese origin and descent in Canada is provided for by the bill, which is now in the second reading stage in the House of Commons. The registration, according to place of residence, has to be made with immigration inspectors or commissioners, custom officers or members of the R. C. M. P. Failing such officers the Chinese may register with the postmaster of their district. Parents must register children under 13 years of age, but such children must appear before the registrar.

Chinese thus registered will be issued with a certificate giving their name, age, description, address, occupation, birthplace, date of entry into Canada, etc., and attached to the certificate will be a photograph of the person concerned.

By another order-in-council now gazetted, officials of the department of immigration are made controllers of Chinese immigration at such cities and ports at which they are at present located.

Regulations governing Chinese in transit through Canada are also gazetted this week. Such Chinese are made subject to medical examination for certain diseases, including leprosy and tuberculosis.

Before being allowed to pass through Canada the transportation company which is carrying them must give bond or deposit $1,000 with the chief controller of Chinese immigration to cover penalties provided for by the immigration laws. Such sum or bonds is remitted after the Chinese have lawfully passed out of Canada.

A similar bond or deposit of $1,000 has to be given by shipowners for every person of Chinese origin brought to a Canadian port as a member of a ship's command or crew.

Upon sailing again the deposit is returned only on evidence the Chinese in question are on board.

Sastri characterized the decision as a profound humiliation and a deep affront to India, and suggested that the Indian members of the government in India might resign as a protest against it.

Lord Delamere, the spokesman of the white settlers' delegation from Kenya in London, in an interview by Reuters, cordially welcomed the home government's decision on the Kenyan issue, although he expressed himself as being disappointed in some of the details.

The cable was brief in tenor and merely related that the privy council had upheld the decision of Mr. Justice Kelly. The judge in question held that the ownership of the large plant, situated on Murray street, was vested in the U.S. government.

An appeal was taken to the supreme court of Canada, and the members of that body, with one dissenting voice, held that the ownership rested with the Motor Trucks. It was then the appeal was taken on behalf of the U.S. government to the privy council, with the result just announced.

There was in connection with this case that City Solicitor Henderson went to England, and that a legal representative of the United States appeared before the highest court in the British Empire.

The plant in the first place was constructed for munition purposes, and the U.S. government advanced some $800,000 for the cost of security. The dispute was with regard to ownership. The buildings represent a heavy investment.

RUSSIAN TELLS OF OVERHEARING
Bandit Plotters Talking In Toronto House.

Canadian Press Despatch.
Clarkson, Ont., July 27.—The Canadian Press has been authoritatively informed as follows:

In December last a certain Russian, a roomer on Nelson street, Toronto, heard on several occasions Russians talking between two and three in the morning in the room adjoining, which was occupied by a Russian known as "Frank."

From time to time, according to this informant, "Frank" would leave for mysterious absences and return with large sums of money, as much sometimes as $1,000. For thirteen years Frank had never been known to work.

Before and after Christmas last, the Russian who gives this information overheard a discussion in Frank's room regarding a plan to rob a bank. These speaking did not occur in the place, but were heard to say that July would be the most suitable time, as the trees would be most thickly in leaf. They said they could hide about two weeks and then when the chase was over, "skidoo" from the place.

This Russian talked several times to his friends about what he had heard, but they laughed at him. He was aware that the Russians in the weeks before last Tuesday, and feeling that the gang meant business he telephoned to his sons to ask whether or not it happened.

The description of one man who took part in the Toronto holdup Tuesday last is 5 feet 6 inches, face brown, with dark hair. According to this informant, it fits "Frank."

At their meetings in the Nelson street rooming-house, Frank always cautioned the others of the gang to "shoot the money carriers on the spot." This man discussed various securing provisions, such as bread, bacon, tobacco and matches for two weeks in the bush.

The Toronto police are now investigating the disclosures made by the Russian.

CONTINUE SEARCH.
Canadian Press Despatch.
Toronto, July 27.—Detectives after an all-day search for the bandits who figured in the Thursday holdup in the district here Tuesday, did not find any clues. A number of messages were received from outside points, but these did not bring the men closer to the robbers. During the day Bertillon cards of gunmen from different parts of Canada and the U.S. States were examined at detective headquarters.

Today a statement was made to the police by an east end resident that one of the robbers was wearing a blue suit and a hat with a band. The man, while under arrest, saw blood pouring from the wound and running down the bandit's clothing as he climbed into the waiting automobile.

Of the many telegrams received by the police today one was from Buffalo stating that two men were being held in custody and that a blue riddled-car was found in their possession. Examination of the car showed the marks were not from bullets. The men, while under arrest, saw blood pouring from the wound and running down the bandit's clothing as he climbed into the waiting automobile.
