WHITE LEGHORN EGGS FOR HATCHING

GET THE BEST. At the recent Poultry Show, my stock, or stock that I had sold, won eight out of eleven prizes offered. These hens are prolific layers, and while eggs are likely to remain high, they are the ones to raise. My best pen is headed by these High Class Birds. My second pen is headed by a very fine Cockerel of heavy laying stock that won the first egg laying contest ever held in Canada. Better order early as I will only have a limited number from the best pen. Orders will be filled strictly in the order in which they are received. A number are already booked for April 1st.

As indicated in a former issue, the entertainment is being repeated primarily for the benefit of the inmates of the County Humane Institutions, in order to bring a little of the brightness of the outside world into their lives. "Fox the Fugitive," who is employed in the interests of the Halifax Herald, was captured in Bridgetown last Wednesday afternoon very shortly after his arrival in town, by Mr. C. B. Longmire, who won the Herald's prize of $5.00. His Worship, the Mayor, who ever has the interest of the town at heart, very graciously gave considerable of his valuable time that afternoon to "The Fugitive" for Mr. Blood of New York, by which name he was introduced to the Mayor in looking about town for a site for a proposed new industry. While "the scheme" did not materialize in keeping with the Mayor's high hopes, we feel sure His Worship does not feel that time spent in talking up or showing strangers his native town is entirely spent in vain.
