SOMETIME

Sometime we shall know why Our sunniest mornings turn to noons of rain;

And why our steps are shadowed so by pain;

And why we often lie on couches with thorns of care and doubt,

And why our lives are thickly hedged about

With bars that put our loftiest plans to rout?

Sometime we shall know why Our dearest hopes are swept so swiftly away;

And our brightest flowers first decay;

Why song is lost in sigh,

Why clasping fingers slip so soon apart,

Entranglement, space and death

Reel heart from heart,

Until from deepest depths the tears drop start.

Sometime we all shall know Each other, ay, as we ourselves are known,

And see how out of darkness light has grown;

And He—who loves us so—

Despite our wilfulness and blind complaint—

Will show us how His kind and calm restraint

Can mould a human soul into a saint.

Sometime our eyes shall see The silver lining to the darkest cloud,

While silver echoes follow thunders loud;

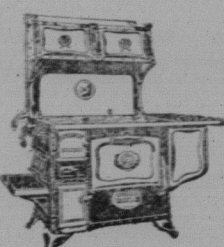

Sometime our hearts shall be Content, forgetting all our restless mood,

And knowing everything has worked for good—

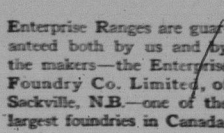

The how, and when, and why He understood.

Considerable interest has been aroused in London, England, over the arrival there of 5,000 peony blooms for exhibition in the Canadian Pacific pavilion at Wembley. The peonies were grown by W. Two automobile accidents occurred in Montreal over the week-end at railway crossings, in both of which it was proven that the car struck the train. In the first accident the car ran into the first car behind the engine and in the second struck the side of the engine itself. Public attention has been directed to these accidents as illustrative of the results of negligent driving.

Early in July a party of one hundred French-Canadians associated with the University of Montreal departed from Windsor station on a three-weeks educational tour of the country under the auspices of the University. Bear River boy is badly bitten by a fierce dog.

Bear River.—While Ralph, the four year old son of Clarence Henshaw was playing in the garden of his home here at noon Tuesday, he was attacked by a collie dog, owned by John Morine, and so badly bitten in the back of his head that the physician called in attendance found it impossible to dress the wounds by the customary method of stitching. The child it was stated would recover.

The dog was destroyed.

Tuesday's attack was the second of its kind happening within the immediate vicinity this summer. Elizabeth Harris, 11, of Medford, Mass., having had her face frightfully scratched by a dog at Smith's Cove a month ago.

What is your friend ahead going to do at the next corner? You don't know, and perhaps he may give you no warning signal. If you haven't already done so, you better equip your car with bumpers front and rear. They are a great protection, and you cannot foresee how soon the occasion may come when they will be called into use and pay for themselves in damage averted.

Advertising did it.

Wrigley, the chewing gum man, has explained how he built up a business of millions of packages a day.

He has done it by sticking to his one line and advertising it. He spends over a million dollars a year in buying newspaper space to tell the world about 5 cent chewing gum. He has educated people to chew gum and to chew Wrigley's. He did not stop shouting as soon as he attracted attention.

He says you must keep it up or the buyers will forget you. Whether yours is a 5 cent or a $50,000 business, keep telling about it.

Enthusiasm is the spark-plug that keeps the current circulating in the business engine.

WATCH THE CAR AHEAD

You may be in an awful hurry, but don't follow too closely after the car ahead. Leave a safe distance for stopping your car, if the fellow ahead suddenly slows down or brings his car to rest. He may fall to give stopping signal in time to warn you. His brakes may be better than yours or he may possibly have four brakes to your two, in which case he can stop in about half the distance you can. Slippery roads are always in season and nobody can tell just what will happen when he "jams" his brakes. Perhaps his car is wearing chains and yours has not yet donned them.

Don't rely on your rear light traffic signals too implicitly; they may fail to work; and, anyway, most of them do not warn until the brakes are actually applied. Remember, it is the following car that usually suffers more in a rear end collision. If the following car carries a rear bumper and the following car has no front bumper, the latter is sure to be the greater sufferer.

What is your friend ahead going to do at the next corner? You don't know, and perhaps he may give you no warning signal. If you haven't already done so, you better equip your car with bumpers front and rear. They are a great protection, and you cannot foresee how soon the occasion may come when they will be called into use and pay for themselves in damage averted.

WHEN THE NERVES ARE OUT OF GEAR

They Need New, Rich Blood to Restore Their Tone.

Men and women with nerves out of gear become irritable and fretful and are blamed for ill-temper; whereas the fault is not theirs. Their poor health is the cause. The tired over-busy wife or mother, whose household cares have worn her out; the breadwinner whose anxiety for his family has worried him until he is thin and ill, are the nerve sufferers who become run down. Their nerves, like all bodily organs, need healthy red blood; worry tells on their digestion and their nerves are ill-fed. In such cases a course of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is necessary, for these pills make new blood and tone up the nervous system. The patient becomes full of energy and happiness for themselves and others returns. Mrs. Wm. Hughes, Coldwater, Ont., has proved the value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and does not hesitate to say so. She says:—"Two years ago I suffered untold agonies with my nerves. The pains in my head and the back of my neck were unbearable. I was depressed and cranky all the time. All the rest I took and the best of medical attention did me no good. I was advised to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and after taking them for a time felt much better. I continued their use with great benefit, and after my baby was born they were the only tonic that helped me nurse her. I found them a splendid blood enricher, and cannot recommend them too highly."

You can get these Pills from any medicine dealer, or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

MAY REVOLUTIONIZE ART OF PRINTING

Application of Photography, Development in London Makes Metal Type Obsolete

London.—In a small workshop in a London back street two men, after four years of patient work, have brought to what is called commercial perfection in machine, which it is asserted will revolutionize printing.

J. R. C. August and E. K. Hunter, brothers-in-law, say they have perfected a new application of photography which may make the use of metal type in printing obsolete.

The basis of the invention is a film on which letters, figures and all kinds of type have been photographed. By a key board, like a typewriter, characters from the "master film" are projected in rapid sequence on to a sensitized base and photographed by fractional exposures. The exposed film corresponds to type set on a linotype machine, bearing the image of the matter to be published.

The printing may then be completed by a line block for letter press, by direct lithography, by photographic processes from plate or stone, or by offset photolitho.

The camera projecting the master film characters focuses automatically. Different sizes of type are obtained by adjusting the lens of the camera by an automatic operation, and an infinite variety of type can be secured, they say, adding that the width of the column, style and size of type and spacing between letters can all be decided in a quarter of a minute by the adjustment of small levers.

By the application of telegraphy and wireless telegraphy, it is also claimed, the operator of a keyboard in London could set up copy simultaneously in provincial towns.

Seventy patents have been taken out on the invention, the main use of which, the inventors think, will be the offset printing process, which is rapidly coming into favor in America. It is stated that the invention, which will be valuable for newspapers in a few years, will save millions of dollars to the printing industry in capital outlay and greatly increase the speed of newspaper production.
