

CHAPTER	PAGE
XXV.—CHILDREN OF THE FOREST	171
XXVI.—ON A SWEET SUBJECT	179
XXVII.—A BUSY BEE	181
XXVIII.—OLD FACES UPON NEW NEIGHBOURS	190
XXIX.—ONE DAY IN JULY	194
XXX.—VISITORS AND VISITED	202
XXXI.—SUNDAY IN THE FOREST	207
XXXII.—HOW THE CAPTAIN CLEARED HIS BUSH	213
XXXIII.—THE FOREST ON FIRE	218
XXXIV.—TRITON AMONG MINNOWS	225
XXXV.—THE PINK MIST	230
XXXVI.—BELOW ZERO	240
XXXVII.—A CUT, AND ITS CONSEQUENCES	244
XXXVIII.—JACK-OF-ALL-TRADES	251
XXXIX.—SETTLER THE SECOND	255
XL.—AN UNWELCOME SUITOR	262
XLI.—THE MILL-PRIVILEGE	265
XLII.—UNDER THE NORTHERN LIGHTS	271
XLIII.—A BUSH-FLITTING	277
XLIV.—SHOVING OF THE ICE	284
XLV.—EXEUNT OMNES	290

---

* * The story of Cedar Creek has been composed from the journals and letters of an emigrant family, and contains true pictures of life in the Far West. Intending emigrants should obtain the most recent information, from the latest official Colonization Circular (published by Groombridge and Sons), or by application at the Government Emigration Offices, the addresses of which are given in Almanacks and Directories.