Visits St. Boniface Indian Indue trial Achool and Orphanage.

His Honor Lientenant Governor Pat ferson visited the St. Boniface Indus rial School and the Orphanage Thurs rial school and the Orphanage Thurs day afternoon. The exercises of the in mates in both of these institutions wer nost interesting, and showed in an unis being conducted, and what grea ayencies for good they are. His Hono was much pleased with everything te saw, and himself and party enjoyed the afternoon to the fullest extent. With afternoon to the fullest extent. With him were Mr. Cluas. Patterson and Capt. Gardiner, and His Grace the Archhisio Senator Bernier, Supt. McColl, and othe gentlemen and some ladiea joined th party at St. Boniface, and remaine with them during the visit to the vari ous buildings.
Punctually at three o'clock His Hono arrived at the Industrial school, the and other manifestations of a heart welcome. After passing through the the recreation hall. This building, is which the ceremonies took place, was most tastefully decorated, the centre table on whicb there were some beauti ful flowers, was in front of the ful flowers, was in front of the chair where the gubernatorial party sat. The north end of the ball was handsomely decorated with flags and buntings. The Indian words, "Nibwaka Mawatjibituwin Gete," with the English translatio "Welcome to the old man, wise in coun

The boys and girls dressed in black and red, standing in tiers at the end an two sides of the room, completed a picturesque scene, which was thorougbly enjoyed by all. The Tache band was enjoyed by all. The Tache band was assembled in one part of the ball. This organization is composed of the pupils the schoo, months. This statement $i$

Huxley and Spencer
Father Malone, of Denver, has acquir ed a reputation as a lecturer which gives him an honorable place on the list of the lecture bureaus, and his as signments are increasing. He has pre pared a lecture on Robert Green Inger soll, which we have had an opportunity of reading. Its plan is entirely new of reading. Its plan is entirely new and original. Instead of replying to the loquacious infidel directly himself, makes the agnostics. Darwin, Spence Huxley and others, whom Ingersol him. This plan of utilizing the rebure from whieh Ingersoll draws much o dre his ammunition makes an exceedingly interesting lecture, and the result is surprising revelation. The replies are so pat and so pertinent to Ingersol so pat and so pertinent to Ingerso that one would imagine Huxley, Spencer and the rest had their intellect applause when they wrote. Needless to say that when the lecture brings In
