THE EDUCATIONAL REVIEW,

P. O. Box 850.

Fredericton, N. B.

The Editor regrets that, owing to an oversight, Mr. Perley Quail's name was not appended to the interesting article "The Value of Consolidation," which appeared in the June issue of the Review.

The following is a quotation from a letter recently received from Mr. E. C. Allen, of the Blind School, Halifax:

"I shall be glad to be of any assistance that I may by personal correspondence with your readers."

If any of the friends of the Review have questions regarding birds, Mr. Allen has kindly promised to answer them personally.

The attention of our readers is drawn to the article "History in Education," by Mr. W. C. Milner of the Dominion Archives Department. We are fortunate to be able to promise our readers a number of history stories from the annals of the Atlantic Provinces which will appear during the year and should supplement our Canadian History Texts.

Since play is as real a part of life as work, we are fortunate to have a series of Play-Ground articles which are to run throughout the year. These will be prepared by a teacher of Physical Education, who has excellent training and considerable experience.

Suggested Bible readings for each month have been prepared by Dr. Calder, Dean of the Religious Education Department, Lindenwood College.

The first of a series of articles, dealing with certain exercises or tests which help the teacher diagnose the preparation of the individual pupil in certain subjects, appears in this number. Miss Proudfoot teaches in the High School of Chicago Heights, Illinois. If any of our readers are interested to purchase such tests, they may do so through the editorial office of The Review (Moncton).

To subscribers: The administration of the Review asks each subscriber to notice the date upon the wrapper which shows when your subscription expires. We also ask your prompt attention to the notice of expiration which you will receive. It is necessary, owing to the
