

near the eternal shore my look-out will be for familiar faces who will be more to me than all the jewelled hosts that encircle the eternal throne. Heaven will recognize their right; nor will it be for a day.