MAN POWER IS NEED OF FARMS

200 Workers For Harvest Must Be Enrolled Before Long.

HARVESTS MAY SPOIL

Camp For Berry-Pickers Is Being Organized at Springbank.

Lieut. McQueen, in charge of the men's department here of the Ontario Government employment bureau, stated today that 200 men are still required to help harvest the crops in Western Ontario. He declared that the need was pressing, and in order that crops should be harvested without spoiling, at least 200 more men were absolutely necessary.

Miss Ethel MacRobert, in charge of the women's branch, stated today that there were positions for 30 more berry pickers from July 15 to August 15. The W. C. T. U. has a shady camp across the river from the Springbank pumphouse, within ten minutes of several fruit farms. The camp will accommodate 22 girls, the board being somewhere between $3 and $3.50 per week. There is still room for several girls at the camp, and those intending to pick fruit and camp out should communicate with Miss MacRobert at the employment bureau in the old London House immediately.

HOUSE MAY FALL INTO THE RIVER

Rains Again Wash Away Part of Ridout Street Bank.

Last night's heavy rainstorm again took toll of the river bank near the Ridout street bridge, and in consequence the house of Mrs. Lucy Upchurch is in grave danger of dropping into the river at any time. Mrs. Upchurch stated to The Advertiser today that the back of her dwelling, 20 Ridout street, was literally hanging over the bank.

Mrs. Upchurch and other ratepayers whose property has been washed away by the river maintain that the city is liable for all the damage done, while City Solicitor Meredith has informed the city fathers that the city is not responsible in the matter.

LONDONERS IN DETROIT ARE TENDERED BANQUET ON JOINING THE FORCES

Resigning his position as credit manager of the J. L. Hudson Company, Detroit, Mich., Gordon Mottashed, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Mottashed, of this city, has enlisted with the Army Medical Corps here. Three other Canadian boys—Melville Webster and Karl Edsall of the Hudson Company, and J. Clark of the Chalmers Motor Car Company, Detroit—have taken the same step.

The office staff tendered a banquet to them on their departure from Detroit. Toasts of a personal nature were followed by the presentation to each young man of a radio wrist watch and a guarantee of their positions on their return.

Deep appreciation of the generous treatment was expressed by the Canadian boys.

GENERAL SESSIONS COMING TO CLOSE

The June sittings of the general sessions of the peace came to a close as far as the taking of evidence was concerned, at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, when the arguments were reserved in the case of McAlpine vs. Maine. The action will be argued before Judge Macbeth tomorrow. Arguments will also be presented in the case of Weaver vs. Weaver, the evidence having been submitted on Saturday last.

The case of Humpidge vs. city of London has been postponed until June 26. The action is one brought by Fred Humpidge, who is suing to recover $500 for injuries sustained in a fall on an icy sidewalk on Fullarton street on March 3, 1913. His claim for damages as entered on the grounds that the city was negligent in permitting ice to remain on the sidewalk and also that the ice would not likely have formed there had it not been for what he claims was a defective waterpipe.

The county court sittings just closed comprised the largest docket in years. Several of the jury cases were postponed in order not to keep the farmers away from their work.

HORSE DONATED FOR RAFFLE BY SOLDIER ATTRACTS ATTENTION

Great interest is being evidenced in the horse that is being raffled by the Returned Soldiers' Association at the carnival at Queen's Park this week and the demand for the tickets is great.

The horse has been donated by Sergt. B. Bonser, who went overseas with the 1st Battalion, first contingent. Sergt. Bonser went over in the capacity of groom to the late Lieut.-Col. Campbell Becher, and since being returned to Canada wounded, he has offered his services again, and is now a member of the 43rd Battery. The drawing for the horse will take place before the main show at 8 o'clock Saturday night, and the winning ticket will be drawn from the box by Mayor Stevenson.

OFFICERS MUST BE WILLING TO ACCEPT REDUCTION IN RANK

None To Go Overseas Who Refuse To Revert.

IS RESULT OF CRITICISM

One Heavy Item of Waste To Country May Now Be Eliminated.

No officer above the rank of lieutenant will in future be allowed to proceed overseas unless he is willing to revert to the rank of lieutenant. This action comes evidently as the result of the criticism of the Government in allowing a large number of senior officers to go overseas, and, after they have received the pay of their rank for a number of months, and have refused to revert from rank to go to the front, of bringing them back at the country's expense.

Medical officers are excepted from this ruling for obvious reasons. If on arrival he is not permitted to revert to a lower rank, and his services are not required overseas, such an officer is required to return to Canada at once.

The order, which is published in today's mobilization camp orders, reads:

"It is established for the information of all concerned that in future no officer above the rank of lieutenant will be allowed to proceed overseas with reinforcements (other than medical), unless, after arrival, he is willing and is permitted to revert to the rank of lieutenant, and unless his services are required overseas he is to return without delay to Canada."

CIVIL SERVANTS TO GET ONLY MILITARY PAY

Members of the civil service in Canada who enlist for overseas service will in the future receive no civil service pay, according to an announcement in today's camp orders. The order reads as follows:

"All orders-in-council passed since the outbreak of the war relating to civil service pay to civil servants who have already enlisted have no effect and are void in the case of members of the civil service who have joined or join the military forces of Canada either by voluntary enlistment or otherwise, from and after 29th of May, 1917.

Soldiers Now at Sanatorium First To Make Response

Returned soldiers now in the Queen Alexandra Sanatorium are leading the way in the "Big Heart Campaign" that is to extend the work that will be done there for the men who come back afflicted with pulmonary tuberculosis. Today the chairman of the campaign committee, received a check from the soldiers under treatment, accompanied by the following letter:

"To the Chairman, Sanatorium Campaign Committee.

"Sir,—As an effort is being made to collect funds for the work of the Sanatorium here, we feel that we would like to be the earliest contributors. Those of us who have found it necessary to avail ourselves of treatment appreciate, more than anyone else could, the great benefit and necessity of such work. Not only for the benefit of ourselves personally—a great consideration—but to our families and friends as well. What we receive we wish to help make available to other afflicted individuals. We, therefore, take pleasure in contributing to this very worthy cause." (Signed) SOLDIERS AT THE SANATORIUM.

LITTLE BLACK JOY-RIDER BOUNCED LIKE RUBBER BALL

Clung To Car and Had Merry Time Until Grand Trunk Tracks Were Reached.

A prominent South London woman, an enthusiastic motorist, who drives her own car, a high powered machine, had a somewhat startling and at the same time amusing experience yesterday afternoon.

Wishing to engage a chimney sweep for some work at her home she drove down into that section of the city inhabited by the class of workman she desired to hire. Arriving in the district she engaged one and was about to leave. Getting inside her closed car she failed to notice that two boys, each about 6 years old, had climbed to the running board of her car, bent on a joy ride.

One a colored boy, and the other a white lad, enjoyed their stolen ride, and were having the time of their lives, until the car proceeding north on Wellington street came to the Grand Trunk tracks. Here something happened, for when the car struck a rut a few inches from the outer track the little colored boy bounced like a rubber ball, and rolled to the road.

Switchman Eli Heatherly saw the whole proceeding, and signaled the autoist to stop. She did so, and came back and found the colored boy crying, but not hurt in the least. And then another discovery was made when the white boy was found on the other side hanging on for dear life, but not saying a word. Refusing to take any further chances, she bundled the pair into the car and drove them back to the district from where she had come. "Us kids had a great ride," said the colored boy when let out of the car.

ALDERMAN BLAMES MAN IN CHARGE FOR INCINERATOR STATE

Chief Engineer Leaves After Quarrel With Engineer.

SAYS HAD NO CONTROL

Ald. O. G. Keene, who was informed that the men at the incinerator had quit, stated that this simply established his position that there should be a strong directing force in charge of the garbage plant.

"I do not blame the men so much as I do the superintendent, Walker," he declared. "He was in charge, and it was his duty to look after the men and keep them in line. He has failed and I have not the slightest hesitation in saying that he should be dismissed."

Chief Engineer Kerr, at the incinerator, has also tendered his resignation, and has informed City Engineer Brazier that he would not work any longer for him. This followed some words at the incinerator yesterday afternoon.

Why He Is Quitting.

"He is too much for me," said Mr. Kerr, "I am not going into details, but from the conversation we had yesterday afternoon I concluded that I could not work for him, so I resigned. I do not think Engineers Greason and Bennett have tendered their resignations, nor do I know that they intend to. Mr. Brazier is too overbearing. I had one man up last year for failure to do his work, and when he was dismissed the council interfered. I had no control over them, and now I am held responsible for the condition of things. Interference by the aldermen is as much to blame as anything else, I am quitting; that's all I have to say."

From present indications there will not be much of an investigation into the tipping charges. The men will be warned that such practices will not be allowed. One man admitted that he had received 25 cents from Ald. Keene, but the others were not so ready to admit that they had been given gratuities.

No Friend of His.

Engineer Kerr also denied any knowledge of the dusky maiden. He usually worked in the day time. Ald. Keene and others declare that there is information that the lady in question was a frequenter at the old shack.

City Engineer Brazier has not decided whom he will put in charge, now that Mr. Kerr has resigned. He will probably report to the council on Monday evening, and if necessary make appointments for temporarily filling the position.

"I have his resignation, and will act on it shortly," he stated.

"That's all right," said Ald. Keene, when notified of the resignation. "Let them all quit, and then the department will be reorganized as it should be. We are going to have a thorough cleaning up or know the reason."

Mr. Keene will also demand information about the amount of coal used at the incinerator.

JUNE WEDDINGS

McPHERSON—SMALE.

One of the prettiest June weddings was solemnized at high noon Wednesday, June 13, at White Oak, when Miss Adothea Smale, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eli J. Smale, was united in marriage to Clifford Bruce McPherson, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred McPherson of Glanworth. Rev. R. L. Wilson conducted the ceremony.

The bride, who was given away by her father, entered the drawing-room to the strains of the wedding march from "Lohengrin," played by George Smale, and took her place under an arch of maple leaves and pink blossoms. She was charmingly gowned in oyster white poplin de soie, with opalescent sequin trimmings and a long Brussels net veil and orange blossoms falling gracefully over the gown. She carried a large bouquet of white roses. Miss Reta McPherson, sister of the groom, who attended the bride, was becomingly gowned in white silk with an overdress of ninon and carried a staff of pink roses and lilies-of-the-valley.

The bridegroom was attended by Fred C. Smale, brother of the bride. Two little cousins of the groom—Mina Comfort and Gladys Kilborne, acted as flower girls.

During the congratulations and signing of the register, the pianist played "Wedding Bells" march, after which the bridal party and guests, numbering 70, sat down to a sumptuous wedding dinner served in a tent on the lawn.

The bride's gift to the bride was a diamond and pearl necklace, to the bridesmaid a pearl drop necklace, and to the flower girls gold bracelets. He presented the best man with a pearl tiepin and a set of gold cuff links to the pianist.

The bride and groom motored to London, where they took the train for Thedford. The bride's traveling suit was of taupe taffeta, with a leghorn hat trimmed with pink.

The presents to the bride were numerous and costly, testifying to the high esteem in which the young couple are held. Friends were present from London, St. Thomas, Port Stanley and Woodstock.

Mr. and Mrs. McPherson will be home to their friends after July 1 at the groom's farm on the 5th concession of Westminster.

WILSON WARNS

It rejected the idea of solidarity of race entirely. The choice of peoples played no part in it at all. It contemplated binding together racial and political units which could be kept together only by force—Czechs, Magyars, Croats, Serbs, Rumanians, Turks, Armenians—the proud states of Bohemia and Hungary, the stout little commonwealths of the Balkans, the indomitable Turks, the subtle peoples of the east. These peoples did not wish to be united. They ardently desired to direct their own affairs and would be satisfied only by undisputed independence. They could be kept quiet only by the presence or the constant threat of armed men. They would live under a common power only by sheer compulsion and await the day of revolution. But the German military statesmen had reckoned with all that and were ready to deal with it in their own way.

Fear In Their Hearts.

"The military masters under whom Germany is bleeding see very clearly to what point fate has brought them. If they fall back or are forced back an inch their power both abroad and at home will fall to pieces like a house of cards. It is their power at home they are thinking about now more than their power abroad. It is that power which is trembling under their very feet and, deep fear has entered their hearts. They have but one chance to perpetuate their military power or even their controlling political influence. If they can secure peace now with the immense advantages still in their hands which they have up to this point apparently gained, they will have justified themselves before the German people; they will have gained by force what they promised to gain by it: an immense expansion of German power, an immense enlargement of German industrial and commercial opportunities. Their prestige will be secure, and with their prestige their political power. If they fail, their people will thrust them aside; a government accountable to the people themselves will be set up in Germany as it has been in England, in the United States, in France, and in all the great countries of the modern time, except Germany. If they succeed they are safe, and Germany and the world are under one; if they fail Germany is saved and the world will be at peace. If they succeed, America will fall within the menace. We and all the rest of the world must remain armed, as they will remain and must make ready for the next step in their aggression; if they fall the world may unite for peace and Germany may be of the union.

"And they have actually carried the greater part of their amazing plan into execution. Look how things stand. Austria is at their mercy. It has acted not on its own initiative or upon the choice of its own people, but at Berlin's dictation ever since the war began. Its people now desire peace, but cannot have it until leave is granted from Berlin. The so-called Central Powers are in fact but a single power. Serbia is at its mercy, should its hands be but for a moment freed. Bulgaria has consented to its will, and Rumania is overrun. The Turkish armies, which Germans trained, are serving Germany, certainly not themselves, and the guns of German warships lying in the harbor at Constantinople remind Turkish statesmen every day that they have no choice but to take their orders from Berlin. From Hamburg to the Persian Gulf the net is spread.

Kaiser Wants Peace.

"Is it not easy to understand the eagerness for peace that has been manifested from Berlin ever since the snare was set and sprung? Peace, peace peace has been the talk of her foreign office for now a year and more; not peace upon her own initiative, but upon the initiative of the nations over which she now deems herself to hold the advantage. A little of the talk has been public, but most of it has been private. Through all sorts of channels it has come to me, and in all sorts of guises, but never with the terms disclosed which the German Government would be willing to accept. That Government has other valuable pawns in its hands besides those I have mentioned. It still holds a valuable part of France, though with slowly relaxing grasp, and practically the whole of Belgium. Its armies press close upon Russia and overrun Poland at their will. It cannot go further; it dare not go back. It wishes to close its bargain before it is too late, and it has little left to offer for the pound of flesh it will demand.

The Intrigue For Peace.

"Do you not now understand the new intrigue, the intrigue for peace, and why the masters of Germany do not hesitate to use any agency that promises to effect their purpose, the deceit of the nations? Their present particular aim is to deceive all those who throughout the world stand for the rights of peoples and the self-government of nations; for they see what immense strength the forces of justice and of liberalism are gathering out of this war. They are employing Liberals in their enterpr
