LOCAL MARKET.

London, Thursday, Sept. 6.
The market today was a large one for this day of the week. There was considerable business transacted in a short space of time, as the buyers seemed anxious to purchase. The only kind of stuff that was a slow sale was for a few kinds of vegetables. Prices were steady to firmer.

Grain—There were just three loads of old oats offered; sales were made at $1.20 to $1.25 per cwt. New oats are coming in more freely; prices ranged from 90c to $1 per cwt. There is a big difference in the quality of this year's oats. Wheat sold at 70c per bushel. Hay and straw—Hay sold as fast as it was weighed; prices were higher than yesterday, sales being made at $10 to $10.50 per ton. Straw sold at $5 to $5.50 per ton.

Butter and Eggs—Butter was not very plentiful; there was, however, no change in prices; crocks ranged in price from 21c to 23c wholesale, and pound lots at 23c to 24c. Eggs were steady, at 19c to 20c per dozen.

Dressed Hogs—There were more offered today than for some time back; sales were made at $5.50 to $6 per cwt. Fruits—Apples were in evidence, and sales were a little slow at 40c to 45c per bushel; pears sold well at $1 per bushel; they have taken the place of peaches and plums; peaches sold well at 50c to 60c per 12-quart basket; the same prices were paid for plums.

Vegetables and Roots—Potatoes sold pretty well at 20c per bushel, or 75c per bag; where one or two bags were purchased they sold at 25c to 30c per bushel. Onions sold at 80c per bushel, or 25c to 30c per dozen; bunch sold 20c per dozen.

Poultry—There was no change in prices today; the tone of the market is lower. Butcher's Meats—There was not a very large supply in this line, prices were steady.

any more than we should criticize any other man for the way he conducts his business. But the result is that the slashing newspaper article must be dispensed with. Editorials will be written with caution, and items of political news written with a view to acceptance by the opponent as well as the friend. The ardent party man will find himself bordering the strong meat required by a taste for fact. If he depends on his newspaper alone he may fast become indifferent to the joys of party conflict. Therefore, it seems to me that there should be free and frequent utterance of Parliament from party leaders on appropriate occasions. There was a time when an Aurora speech, or a Niagara speech, or even a Malvern speech, was potent in shaping or replacing the political ideas of the time. At all events, they made politics.

"In Legislative Assembly politics it is not hard to discern the opportunities which are coming to us. We know from past experience the results which are bound to follow from Conservative selfishness and want of economic skill, while it is hoped that gray offenses now rumored may be able to be proved. In the meantime our friends in the House are proving able critics and safe advisers.

"The demonstration given by Ontario Liberals in Ontario, in February, to honor the Prime Minister, Right Hon. Sir Wilfrid Laurier, was a distinctive and memorable occasion, and this association was able to be of use in arranging its details.

"The executive of the association take pleasure in again hearing tribute to the quiet efficiency and untiring industry of the general secretary, Mr. Inwood, in the work of his office.

"I desire to express my thanks for the honor of being elected president of the association, and the pleasure which has attended the performance of its light and agreeable duties.

"It is gratifying to be in a position to report again that the association has so far managed to pay its way satisfactorily.

"An acknowledgment is due to Mr. W. S. Calvert, chief Government whip, for his kindness in collecting and transmitting the fees from our members in the Commons and Senate.

"A minority of the riding associations continue to respond to the calls for membership dues, but the receipts from this source fall short of what is desired by the general association.

"Remittances were received from twenty-seven associations in 1905, being less than one-third of the ridings. These numbers, as this date, have remitted for 1906, although some returns no doubt, will yet come to hand.

"Treasurer P. C. Larkin presented his financial statement, which showed receipts totaling $5,020.85 and disbursements aggregating $3,529.78, leaving a cash balance of $1,491.07.

"Mr. Larkin reported that 27 associations, about one-third of the whole, had remitted in 1905, and fewer in 1906, though other remittances would be received. Mr. Larkin recommended, therefore, that the riding assessment be reduced to $35 to $40.

Officers Were Re-elected.
The officers were re-elected as follows: President—H. M. Mowat, K. C. Vice-Presidents—Hon. N. A. Belcourt, for the east; Mr. M. A. James, for the north; Mr. W. S. Calvert, for the west.

Executive Committee—Messrs. C. M. Bowman, M.P.P., J. Chisholm (Hamilton), G. P. Graham (Brockville), D. J. McDougall, M. P., and Lieut.-Col. Thompson (Ottawa).

Mr. Ross's Address.
All business transacted, Chairman Mowat called on Hon. Mr. Hyman, who was enthusiastically received. His voice was strong and clear, and his manner vigorous. He was glad to be present, he said, and he looked to "this association is a live body."

Mr. Ross went on, "I feel its pulsation in the discussion of public opinion. Like the late Ontario Government, too, it has a surplus."

Mr. Ross agreed with Mr. Mowat that cabinet ministers should come in to closed contact with the electorate. Let them be seen, known and heard. The press is not enough. We need the voice, the kindling eye, the burning enthusiasm.

Mr. Ross did not consider the present the proper time to outline the policy in the Local Legislature. In fact, policy was largely a matter of evolution, helped materially by the blunders of one's opponents.

"The people of Ontario," said Mr. Ross, "in their wisdom prescribed what is known as the rest cure, which some of us needed in more ways than one. This rest cure, however, was a short time only. We Liberals are as vigorous and as loyal to Liberal principles as ever. Few though we may be, we never desert, we are never recreant, and we shall always be heard emphatically in the discussion of public issues.

"Don't be afraid, gentlemen. We will watch public opinion, and we will not fail to make use of it. It took the Dominion Liberals eighteen years to destroy the Conservative party, and the Conservatives thirty odd years to upset the Liberal party. We will not promise you that it will not take as long to eject the present Ontario Government, which will not long reject public opinion. The Ontario Government of today has a large majority, but large majorities crumble before the burning of public opinion. Liberal practice has been ignored in its way at once wanton and cruel in the interest of the spoilsman. Why were 6,000 magistrates dismissed? Why were the license commissioners and inspectors removed? We were told that the licensing system was to be free from partisanship. When Mowat came in no officer was dismissed. Let the Province be reformed, as it is being reformed, and the salutary effect of public opinion will be felt."

Mr. Ross referred to the Whitney Government's financial methods. "They have been in power only 18 months, yet their expenditure has increased 30 per cent. Where will this Province be in five or ten years, if the present Administration is still in power? Not a single barbed wire left of our surplus. Col. Matheson

NO FOUL PLAY IN BROOMFIELD CASE

The Old Man Died from Lung Trouble, Due to Exposure, the Jury's Finding.

A coroner's inquiry was held last night at the central police station into the cause of the death of John Broomfield, the old man who was found in a helpless condition in an outhouse at Springbank last Thursday, and passed away shortly afterwards at Victoria Hospital. The jury returned the following verdict:

"That John Broomfield died at Victoria Hospital, on the 30th of August, 1906, and that his death was due to a disease of the lungs, oedema, induced by weakness and exposure on the previous night."

Coroner Dr. Ferguson, who conducted the inquest, called on Frank Baker, A. Garthwaite, Policemen Bolton and Monaghan, Thomas Pinch, Richard Lucas and the two doctors who made the post-mortem examination, as witnesses.

P. C. Monaghan, who was on duty at Springbank, told of seeing Broomfield wandering about the park on the day preceding his death, and of last seeing him go to an outhouse, where he afterwards found him. Not considering the old man to be ill, the officer did not disturb him.

Frank Baker and A. Garthwaite told of finding Broomfield in the outhouse next morning. They notified the police. In response to the call, Constable Bolton went to Springbank and had Broomfield taken to Victoria Hospital in the ambulance. P. C. Bolton said he found only a little loss of change in Broomfield's pocket.

Messrs. Thomas Pinch and Richard Lucas, relatives of the deceased, gave evidence to show that Broomfield had not been in good health for some time, and that he was not in the habit of carrying much money with him. They also stated that they were satisfied that no foul play was connected with his death.

Drs. Macgregor and Davis, who conducted the post-mortem, testified that death had been due to a disease of the lungs, called oedema, which was due to exposure.

The jury consisted of Messrs. Maurice Scarrow, Robert Ward, Leonard Weaver, D. Tripp, E. Farnsworth, McLean, James Jones, Charles Cox, Samuel Hersey, John Simpson and Frank Taylor.

An agreement was reached on these clauses while the council was in committee of the whole, with Ald. Garratt as chairman.

A CRITICAL PERIOD
Intelligent women prepare dangers and pain of this critical period avoided by the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

How many women realize that the most critical period in a woman's life is the change of life, and that the anxiety felt by women as this time draws near is not without reason?

If her system is in a deranged condition, or she is predisposed to apoplexy of any organ, it is at this time likely to become active, and with a host of nervous irritations, make life a burden.

At this time, also, cancers and tumors are more liable to be in their destructive work. Such warning symptoms as a sense of suffocation, hot flashes, dizziness, headache, drowsiness, palpitation of the heart, sparks before the eyes, irregular constipation, variable appetite, weakness and inquietude are promptly heeded by intelligent women who are approaching the period of life when woman's great change may be expected.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound invigorates and strengthens the female organism, and builds up the weakened nervous system as no other medicine can.

Madame Louis Belleau of 17 Ramsay St., Quebec, Que., writes: "Dear Mrs. Pinkham: Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound assisted me to pass the change of life with but very little sickness and pain, and I am pleased to give my endorsement to it. I feel sure that if I had not taken your Vegetable Compound I should not have passed the change safely. I took it off and on for two years, and now that I am in splendid health and strength and feel younger and better than I did ten years ago. Much praise to your medicine, and may all suffering women learn of its value."

For special advice regarding this important period, women are invited to write to Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass. She is a daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham and for twenty-five years has been advising sick women free of charge. Her advice is free and always helpful in aiding women.
