BY HENRY J. REILLY. PARIS, May 6 .- Now that the war in its tenth month, it is interesting to look back and see what the French neve accomplished and to see why is such a difference between what France has accomplished in this war and what she accomplished in The plans of the French mobilization were made primarily to meet a an attack coming from the east. A large proportion of her standing army was placed on this frontier. While the Germans attacked pracically all along the French frontier.

main attack came thru Belgium and Luxemburg. This necessitated at last moment a decided change in the French plans of mobilization, as hey had to put the bulk of their forces to the north and northeast rather than the east. Altho the French mobilization work-without a hitch, the preparedness the Germans and the suddenness of their attack enabled them to strike the French before they were quite ready. Due to this, and in spite of some local successes, the French were elled to retreat.
