"That's John Bunyan's house we're coming to," said the stalwart Bedfordshire constable, striding along at the head of the small army of unemployed, as they sought safety off the premises, as it were. "Who's 'er?" roared a dozen men from the ranks. "Why," ventured a man with a strong Lancashire accent, "he was tinkler 'er."

"Ay," chorused a discontented man. "Why, then, that he 'ere's 'er 'bout 'er tinkler," queried a discontented man. "I he tinkler, too, but nobody's account 'er tinkler in 'er 'ouse."

CANADA'S PARLIAMENT WAS FORMALLY OPENED BY EARL GREY TODAY

Brilliant Scene at the Capital—Earl Grey in His Speech From the Throne Deals With Immigration, Forestry Question and Other Live Topics.

OTTAWA, Ont., March 8.—(Special)—The second session of the tenth parliament of the Dominion of Canada was opened today by Lord Grey. There was a large attendance inside and outside of parliament buildings and interest in the function was as great as in past years. The fact that the opening was some two months later than last year did not in any way detract from the enthusiasm of the occasion. As is always the case, the escort which accompanied the vice-regal carriage from Government House to the parliament buildings was supplied by the Princess Louise Dragoon Guards and the band of honor which received His Excellency at the main entrance to the House of Commons was from the Governor-General's Foot Guards. The usual salute was fired from Niagara Point, and the parade proceeded to the senate and delivered the Hon. G. M. Jarvis, of the Senate, and the Hon. G. M. Jarvis, of the House of Commons.

"In again summing up to meet for the despatch of business I am glad to be able to congratulate you on the prosperity prevailing throughout the Dominion. The more so because, since the death of her father, the King of Denmark, has assumed the throne of that country, and I am satisfied that the warm sympathy of the people of Canada will be readily extended to Her Majesty. It afforded me much pleasure as the representative of His Majesty to take part in the inauguration of the provinces of Alberta and Saskatchewan as constituent members of the confederation. The universal rejoicing on the assumption of provincial autonomy everywhere visible was gratifying to witness, and I venture to say that in no part of the world could a more contented population be found. The universal sentiment was one of abounding confidence in the future. The beautiful harvest with which we have been blessed in the past season, together with the continued development of our industries and transportation facilities in Alberta and Saskatchewan, as well as the progress in the provinces of Ontario and Quebec, has given such an impetus to our exports and imports that a pair of gloves, but there were no marks of which could lead to identification."

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., March 8.—That two men who were arrested at the Portland, Me., jail last evening, were trying to rescue two prisoners that held up at the St. John express at Rockingham Junction last month and killed an Italian, or were making an inspection of the jail in anticipation of such an effort, is the belief of the county authorities, and the local police. The two strangers escaped by scaling the yard fence. About ten o'clock the sheriff was returning to the jail by way of an alleyway in the rear, which gave him a view of the prison end. On coming over the fence he saw a man skulking along on the opposite side of the yard. The sheriff halted him, and when the man turned the sheriff fired three shots at him. About the same time another man was seen to dart away from the jail wall and with his companion ran to the fence, which they both cleared without difficulty. They left behind an overcoat in which

THE TIMES NEW REPORTER WAITING FOR JAMESEY. A TIME OF PERIL. Mr. Peter Binks says that with the house in session at Fredericton and the house in session at Ottawa there will not be much chance for some weeks now for him to think about anything but the welfare of his country. These annual indications do not lose anything of their threatening character from a repetition, and Mr. Binks says that this is a time for the good citizen to watch and pray. He derives some hope, however, from the assurance that the Ottawa session will be short.

CANADIANS CAN COMPETE Scope of Western Amateur Golf Tournament Has Been Broadened to Take in all Clubs.

CHICAGO, March 8.—The scope of the Western Amateur Golf championship tournament to be decided this year at the Glen Echo Country club, St. Louis, has been broadened so that any team participating in the Olympian team cup championship is eligible to compete for the amateur championship. This was decided upon yesterday by the directors of the Western Golf Association, who met at the Grand Pacific Hotel and decided upon the various dates of the different tournaments to be held under the jurisdiction of the association. Heretofore the western amateur championship tournament has been confined to clubs which were members of the Western Golf Association, but as the Olympian team cup championship is open to any team representing any recognized golf club in either the United States or Canada, the change in rules governing the play for the cup makes the western amateur tournament practically an international contest. June 19-22 were the dates selected by the directors for the amateur tournament, and June 18 for the Olympian cup championship. The play for the Olympian cup will be over the course of the Glen Echo country club.

NEW YORK, March 8.—According to the annual officers of the National Horse Show Association of America and the English Hackney Horse Society are cooperating to establish in London an international horse show. The project was first broached during the last horse show at Madison Square Garden, in November, when English and American horsemen talked of holding an exhibition in London next May. Owing to the lack of sufficient funds for preparation of the show, it was impracticable but James T. Hyde the "father of the national," and Henry F. Jones, secretary of the English Hackney Horse Society are now working together to carry out the enterprise in the spring of 1907.

Nuptials of Miss Mona Thomson and Captain Clinch

St. Stephen's Church a Bower of Beauty—Handsome Presents and Costly Wedding Gifts—Bride Will Accompany Her Husband to India to Reside.

A brilliant society wedding and one which has been anticipated with interest for some months past will take place this afternoon at St. Stephen's Presbyterian church when Miss Mona Clyde Thomson, daughter of Robert Thomson, will be married to Captain Herbert Warshaw Clinch of the 13th Hussars.

Over two hundred invitations have been issued and guests will be present from Montreal and other cities in Canada, England and the United States.

The hour set for the ceremony is 2:30 o'clock and the nuptial knot will be tied by Rev. Professor D. J. Fraser, of the Presbyterian Theological College, Montreal, who at one time occupied St. Stephen's pulpit and was a former pastor of the bride's church of this city.

The bride's costume is of rich white duchesse satin with train, artistically trimmed with white duchesse lace and she will carry a beautiful shower bouquet composed of bridal roses, lily-of-the-valley and asparagus, tied with chiffon and lined with liberty ribbon.

The maid-of-honor will be gowned in a princess costume of pink chiffon-tulle with trimmings of white princess lace and pink moirai lace adorned with roses and feathers, also of pink and white. She will carry a bouquet of pale pink bridesmaid roses tied with white ribbon.

The bridesmaids will also wear princess costumes; of white chiffon-tulle, white beaver-cloth hats, wreathed with pink roses and long chiffon veils. They will carry spray bouquets of pale pink bridesmaid roses tied with ribbon of corresponding color.

As the bride enters the church, on her father's arm, the choir, under the direction of Miss Wilson, will render "The Voice that Breathed Ever Eden," to "Merry as the Breeze," the proper Psalm to be sung, and as the bride and groom go to the altar, the hymn "O Perfect Love" will be sung. Barby's wedding march will be rendered by the organist, Miss Wilson, as the bridal party leaves the church.

St. Stephen's church presents a picture of formal loveliness, the decorations throughout being of the most aristocratic character. From the top of the semicircular space at the back of the chancel, are hung graceful festoons of white roses and anemone, with which the edges of the arch are also adorned, and the same material is hung from the base of the arch to the electric fixtures on the right and left. In the semi-circular space directly in front of the chancel are four floral pillars about seven feet in height and placed at regular intervals, while from the tops of these to a point directly over the communion table are suspended garlands of anemone and daisies. The pillars themselves are entwined with anemone, daisies and white roses. On the communion table rests a tall vase of white lilies, while the white and red flowers of the platform are adorned with palms and ferns. On either side of the chancel steps are large pots of wood ferns and stalks. Affixed to the tops of the pews on the outside are sprays of white lilies, fastened with large bows of white silk. The windows and doorways have been decorated with evergreen, which makes a very appropriate finish.

From the outer edge of the sidewalk to the top of the steps a canopy has been erected, under which the bridal party will pass.

At the house, the decorations are probably the most elaborate that have been seen here in many years. The bride will receive in the drawing room, under a canopy and bridal ball of anemone and appropriate flowers. The dining table presents a dainty picture, with shining silver, gleaming cut glass and artistic floral decorations.

The wedding gifts were many and beautiful, attracting as they do the popularity of the happy couple, who have the best wishes of a large circle of relatives and friends. The bride, who is very popular in local circles, will be greatly missed in St. John, but her many friends will wish her every happiness in wedded life.
