THE OBSERVER.

ST. JOHN, TUESDAY, YOV. 8, 1831.

ST. JOHN, TUESDAY, TOV. 8, 1831.

There have been many recent crivals both from Europe and the United States. But our latest news is by the Tantivy, from Bristol, bringing Lendon dates to the 28th Sept.; seventeen days later than those contained in our last.—The Reform Bill passed upon its third and last reading in the Hause of Commons on the 19th of that month, by a majority of 55; within three days of three months after is introduction.—It has been sent up to the Lords, and its anticipated fate in that branch of the Imperial Padiament has given rise to anxious doubts and warm dipute. A report is in circulation here that the Bill had passed a first reading in the Upper House, but we find nothing to warrant such an assertion in the latest papers. Whatever may be its ultimate doom, the measure has already gone much farther than on any former occasion, and the generally received opinion now is, that in obedience to the voice of the People and spirit of the age, it must and will eventually pass, the one were pouring into the House of Lords, from all quarters of the United Kingdom, in favour of "the Bill."—The Scotch Reform Bill had passed a second reading in the Commons previous to the 26th Sept., but we cannot decover whether there was much opposition, or upon what majority it was carried. there was much opposition, or upon what majority it POLAND.—Fall of Warsaw.—It is cur melancholy but not unpresaged task this week, to record the surrender of Warsaw, and its consequent entry by the Russians, on the 7th Sept. It is said that during the two days hard fighting which preceded his event, 10,—000 Polish heroes, and twice 10,000 of their deadly foes, have perished. The Poles, borne lown by overwhelming numbers, evacuated the city, accompanied by all the Public authorities; and taking with them the entire materiel of their army. They have taken up a strong position at Modlin, and the General-in-chief has all fressed a spirit-stirring Proclamation to his forces.—The army is still represented as consisting of from 50,000 to 60,000 men.—We in this remote corner of the earth, can but mingle our regrets and our sympathies with those of "Sarnatia's" friends n both hemispheres, and this we unfeignedly do.—If she be doomed to fall, which Heaven avert! the assertion of the Poet will prove false—she will not—cannot—fall of without a tear."—Yet even amid the gathering clouds and darkness of European politics, one my of hepe beams forth on Poland. It is asserted that both England and France have remonstrated in her favour. If this be true—something may be hoped—something done, even at this 11th hour. Never could, honor, be this be true—something may be hoped--something done, even at this 11th hour. Never could honor be sought in a fairer field, or a war engaged in more justly pepular.—A petition presented to the House of Com-mons, on the 16th Sept., praying that His Majesty's Government would recognize the independence of Poland, was ordered to be printed.

We have given place to a sensible article from the Washington Glob c, (the Am. official paper,) prefaced by some very proper observations of the Albion, on the subject of the Boundary Line.—The papers of the State of Maine are venting their spleen in their accustomed braggadocio style on this subject. These literary Bobasilis are in high dudgeon at the late trial in Maine to fileh from us a jurisdiction we have ever exercised unquestioned, having been exposed and defeated by the vigilance of our Executive, the gentlemen Ediby the vigilance of our Executive, the gentlemen Edi-tors of Maine are on fire. Their brains, composed of matter much resembling that of their own types, cannot be brought to understand the necessity of putting down disorder and misrule. There is no harm, forsooth, in seducing the subjects of Great Britain from their al-legiance,—an allegiance which they have solemnly sworn to preserve inviolate, and from which they can sworn to preserve inviolate, and from which they can tonly be absolved by the formal act of our Government. Nor is there, say these worthies, the slightest impropriety in undermining the authority of the Government, destroying the confidence reposed by its subjects in its paternal regard, and sapping the foundation of its sovereignty. Let these gentlemen read with attention the proceedings of the trial in question, not omitting at the

On Sunday the 30th olt, the new Church just built at Musquash, in the Parish of Lancaster, was opened for the celebration of Divine Service. The Rev. F COSTER, Rector of Carleton, and the Rev. W. W MARKER, Rector of Humpton, officiated,—the latter of whom delivered an excellent discourse, highly appropriate to the occasion. The Church is a very neabiliding, capable of affording seats to 152 persons and loss toren fluished by the hundable exertions of all the parties concerned in the short space of only three months. The contractor was Mr. John Wilson, of Carleton, and the cost £180.—Courier.

Free Ports.—His Majesty, by an order in Council dated the 19th of August, has, in conformity to the powers granted to him by the Act of Parliament "for egulating British possessions abroad," added to the List of Free Ports—Black River, Rio Bonen, and the raut, in the Island of Jamaica, and foreign vessels can therefore proceed thitter accordingly.—Albion.

PATRONSED BY HIS MAJESTY.

THE object which the author has in view in presenting the Permanent Writing Book to the Public, is the promulation of the system of instruction, whereby the very useful and ornamental act of Writing may be acquired in a much shorter space of that than what is usually employed in what may not impropriy be termed the old school; to gain time, by a proper use of it, is, in learning to write, as in any other pursuit, a matter of no little consequence; and although the author by no means professes to put all its pupils, into pessession of an elegant and espeditions style of writing in the short space of half a dozon lessons, yet he presumes that, from the russle of arrangement he has adopted, his people, will arrive at a prelicency commensurate with their attention and preservance, that far shorter people than heretoner. The arrangement of the Permanent Writing Book is such as to roude it plain and simple to the lowest capacity; and those who wish to learn or improve themselves in writing, without the intervention of a master, it will be found admirably calculated, conducting them gradually from the formation of the simplest strokes to the proper slope. Blokmers, and construction of text and current hand. To indies' establishments and private families it will be found of considerable advantage, as it will afford to governesses an teachers as sure guide by which to proceed in the natrachers as sure guide by which to proceed in the natrachers as sure guide by which to proceed in the manacher of the Book receives its mane of Permanent Writing Book, which is its very great economy, there being no necessity for section of permanent, depends upon the set of a psequing describers, who are specially uppointed by the Patenter to say more as regards as system, which from the proverily patronage and extensive circulation of his original and proverily provinces.
