

An Affecting Story.
The following affecting story was related by Mr. Dudley, an agent of the British and Foreign Bible Society, at the anniversary of the Birmingham Sunday School Union:

In the county of Kent lives a clergyman and his lady, who took a very active part in the Sunday school connected with their church. They had in the school a boy, the only son of a widow, who was notoriously wicked, despising all the earnest prayers and admonitions of the clergyman, who, out of pity for his poor widowed mother, kept him in the school eighteen months; at length he found it absolutely necessary to dismiss the lad as a warning to others. He soon after enlisted as a soldier in a regiment that was soon ordered to America, it being during the last American war. Sometime after, the poor widow called upon the clergyman to beg a Bible of the smallest size. Surprised at such a request from an individual who was on the verge of eternity, and who he knew had one or two Bibles of large print, which she had long used to good purpose, he inquired what she wanted it for. She answered, "A regiment is going out to America, and I want to send it to my poor boy; and O! sir, who knows what it may do?"

She sent the Bible which the clergyman gave her, by a pious soldier, who, upon his arrival at his destination, found the widow's son the very ring-leader of the regiment in every description of vice. After the soldier had made himself known, "I for want to fan your mother has sent you her last present."

"Ah!" he replied in a careless manner, "is she gone at last? I hope she sent me some cash."

The pious soldier told him he believed the poor widow was dead; "but," said he, "she has sent you something of more value than gold or silver, (presenting him with the Bible) and, James it was her dying request that you would read one verse, at least, of this book every day; and can you refuse her dying charge?"

"Well," said James, "it is not too much to ask, (opened the Bible) so here goes." He opened the Bible at the words, "Come unto me all ye that are weary and heavy laden, and I will give you rest."

"Well," said he, "this is very odd, I have opened to the only verse in the Bible that I could ever learn by heart, when I was in the Sunday school; I never could for the life of me commit another. It is very strange;—but who is this me that is mentioned in the verse?"

The pious soldier asked if he did not know. He replied that he did not.

The good man then explained it to him; spoke to him of Jesus, and exhibited the truth and invitations of the Gospel. They walked to the house of the chaplain, where they had further conversation; the result was, that from that hour he became a changed man, and was as noted for exemplary conduct, as before he had been for his wickedness.

Sometime after this conversation, the regiment in which he was, engaged the enemy;—at the close of which the pious soldier, in walking through the field of blood, beheld, under a large spreading oak, the dead body of James, his head reclining on his Bible, which was opened at the passage, "Come unto me all ye that are weary," &c. Poor James had given up his eternal rest.

Mr. Dudley said he had frequently held the Bible in his hand; there was no less than fifty pages stained with the blood of poor James. How encouraging, said Mr. Dudley, is this for Sabbath school teachers to persevere; for should there be but one seed sown, it might, as in case of the widow's son, produce a plentiful harvest. The only verse he ever committed to memory was the means, in the hands of the Holy Spirit, of bringing him out of darkness into marvellous light; and James is now, we trust, joining the song of the redeemed in heaven.

THE LITTLE BOY WITH A STRAW HAT.
A crippled beggar in a large city was striving to pick up some old clothes that had been thrown him from a window, when a crowd of rude boys gathered around him, mimicking his awkward movements, and hooting at his helplessness and rags. Presently another noble little fellow came up, and hastily pushing through the crowd, helped the poor crippled man to pick up his gifts, and fasten them in a bundle. Then, slipping a piece of silver into his hand, he was running away, when a voice far up above him said, "Little boy with the straw hat, look up!"

He did so, and a lady, leaning from an upper window, said earnestly, "God will bless you my little fellow. God will bless you for that." That lady was the wife of a man so distinguished among the great men of this world, that every one of those boys would have been proud to obtain her approbation; and when she wrote down his name as one she wished to remember, he felt more than paid for all he had done.

As he walked along, he thought how glad he had made his own heart by doing good.—He thought of the poor beggar's grateful look; then of the lady's smile and words of approval; and last, and better than all, he could almost hear his heavenly father whispering, "Blessed are the merciful, for they shall obtain mercy."

Little reader, when you have an opportunity to do good, and feel tempted to neglect it, remember "the little boy with the straw hat."

Education of Farmers.
That education is not necessary to successful farming has long been a prevailing sentiment. It has been considered important for the professional man, but as useless, or a luxury at most, to the agriculturist. Industry—plodding, patient industry—qualified for success in carrying on a farm; but that boy whose aversion to work and love of mischief, made his parents at a loss how to employ his energies, must study some profession. Did one seem rather dull and stupid, he could never be qualified for anything but farming. Another, who seemed unusually bright—who thirsted for knowledge—must be a minister, physician or lawyer; the life of a farmer could furnish no facilities for improvement or the gratification of his desires.

Now, this is all wrong—for no good reason can be shown why every farmer should not be liberally educated—why he should not find use for a good education in carrying on the operations of his farm. If his knowledge need be of a different quality, it should not be less in quantity than that of the professional man.

The great object of toil is not to wear away the weary hours, but to secure the greatest possible useful product. Knowledge enables a man to bestow his labor where it will be best rewarded. The farmer should know the nature of the soil he cultivates, what crops are best adapted to it, what succession of the same will yield most profit, what kind and quantity of manure it needs to keep it in proper condition; and this requires knowledge of Agricultural Chemistry. And to understand Chemistry, other general knowledge is indispensable. How much labor is lost by this want of adaptation of crops to the soil on which they are attempted to be cultivated!

The facilities for improvement are constantly increasing, and an educated enterprise already making use of Nature's powers and machinery to save labor. That millennium will never come, when the soil will yield abundant harvests without labor, but the improvement of the age will add continually to diminish the amount required. And yet we need never fear we shall be out of employment—and enough of it too.

Some indeed protest against the introduction of the improvements referred to, simply because they interfere with manual labor.—When Railroads first began to take the place of the old stage routes, some men who never see but an inch ahead, cried out, "This will spoil our market for horses and oats."—And yet horses and oats have been rising in value ever since. An amusing story is told of the first introduction of fanning mills into Scotland. A preacher denounced the new invention in no gentle terms. "We used to trust to Providence," said he, "for wind to fan our grain, and it is but wicked presumption thus to interfere with the Divine prerogatives and manufacture wind for ourselves!"—Rural New Yorker.

DEVINE'S
Compound Pitch Lozenge.

An appeal to matter of fact, and common sense.

It is that which has so long been sought for, and is in full faith offered to the public as a CERTAIN CURE for and will, in any case where lungs sufficient are left to sustain life, check the ulceration, and raise the patient to health. This is not an idle boast, nor is this remedy sent into the market without a thorough trial; but has proved beyond a doubt that what has been asserted can be done.

We do not ask you, reader, to take our word, but those who, but a few weeks ago had given up in despair and are now in the enjoyment of health, and without asking have given us their certificates in favor of this great remedy.

Let all, then, who are afflicted, TRY IT, and if the assertions on each box are not proved after an impartial trial, the price will be returned: when the article is not perfectly satisfactory!

If the Lozenge on being exposed to the air in hot weather should become soft, it is no objection, but rather goes to prove that they are in good condition.

W. Fuller & Co., Boston, Proprietors for Devine's Pitch Lozenge, Dr. Corwell's Pain Expeller and Macaronick, a sure cure for the Piles; also, the Yankee E. extract, an article warranted to take out all Grease, Oil, Paint, &c., without injury to the finest texture or showing any dust on the part cleaned. LESLEE'S STOVE VARNISH.
A valuable discovery by which all Stoves, Pipes, Grates, Franklin, Iron Railings, and every description of Iron work, (where an intense heat is not required), whether exposed to the weather or not, may be kept a splendid Jet Black with as beautiful a polish as a Coach Body and with one third the labour bestowed on other preparations.

This is a valuable preparation on account of its adhesive properties, all Stoves and Pipes which are put away during the summer should have an application of the Stove Varnish which would effectually prevent the rusting or corroding of the Iron.

The Varnish is strongly recommended to Families and the Public in general, from three facts: First, its cheapness brings it within the reach of all; Second, from its high polish and durability, two applications during the year being at all necessary for a Franklin; and lastly, from no labour being required in its application, this last fact justly entitles it to the name of "SERVANT'S FRIEND."
