Are You Prepared?

For the heavy, disagreeable walking conditions that will be upon us soon now.

Winter is at hand and Fall is here. Our line of Fall Shoes includes many beautiful and practical examples of Footwear, made to withstand the weather conditions of late Fall and Winter.

The Shoe shown above, for instance, is one that is made for outdoor use—for walking about the city streets—shopping, and for general wear. It is a high top, tan lace, dark shade, medium pointed last, military heel, with a slightly heavier-than-usual sole. The Price is $11.00. Same Shoe carried in black at $10.00.

Come into our stores sometime as you are passing and look at the many beautiful models we have to show. It is impossible to properly show all our shoes in our windows. We want you to see the others, and you are under no obligation to purchase when you do so.

Battery Repairs

Our U. S. L. Battery Service Station is now completely equipped with the necessary apparatus and electrical instruments for the care and repair of storage batteries of all makes, and in charge of expert battery men. We carry a full line of spare parts and make repairs promptly and at reasonable prices.

Winter Storage and Overhaul

Your storage battery requires special winter care. Batteries stored wet in apparently good condition frequently develop trouble during the winter or soon after being placed in service in the spring. You can't determine the condition of the working parts without disassembling the battery. They deteriorate appreciably in acid, even though standing idle and properly cared for, and usually require overhauling annually.

We therefore store "dry" by a new process all batteries left with us—overhaul, wash, re-insulate, re-assemble, charge completely, then remove acid and seal them. We make only our regular overhauling charge of $10.00, and store your battery free until next spring.

Investigation Into the Price Of Milk Opens

Representatives of the Housewives League, Dealers and Producers Before City Hall Committee Last Evening

That during an investigation held last year by the Housewives' League into an increase in the cost of milk, a farmer, who was asked to testify, deliberately "cooked" his report, was a statement made by Mrs. J. W. V. Lawlor, president of the Housewives' League, who gave testimony last night at the first meeting of the Fair Price Committee, held in city hall. Another development came later in the investigation when Charles W. McMullin, of the Pacific Dairies, refused to answer a question regarding some matters brought up at a recent meeting of the local dealers and a delegation from the Kings County Milk Producers Association, unless the papers promised not to publish it. When a representative of the press refused to withhold any information from the public he declined to answer.

Commissioner Fisher presided at the meeting and associated with him was Commissioner Bullock. The chairman said that it had been decided that all testimony must be given under oath.

Mrs. J. W. V. Lawlor was asked to throw some light on the question. In answer to a question from the chair, she said that the price now being asked, fourteen cents a quart for milk, was most unfair. She cited instances where cows had been purchased, all of their feed bought, and yet the milk they yielded not only paid for themselves but yielded a profit and the milk was sold for ten cents a quart. Last year, she said, the league held an investigation and she told of receiving a statement from a farmer who owned twenty-five cows and who had contended that at the end of the year his balance was on the wrong side, and that he had lost money.

Later she heard the man say that his statement was "cooked." She said that if a person who buys cows, pays for feed, and milks them, can make a profit and sell milk for ten cents a quart, the milk and the farmer who produced it could also make a larger profit at the price they are receiving.

She said that from evidence they received at their investigation it was evident that it costs too much to distribute the milk and she advocated having a centralized distribution; the city specifying to the dealers their respective routes and then procuring their licenses. She said that by so doing it would lower the cost to the consumer. She said that the Kings County farmers were the cause of the trouble and that farmers in St. John county ought to produce enough milk to supply this city. She said that the excuse that farmers had to work hard for a living might be true, but the people in the cities also had to work hard and they could not afford to have the well-filled larders that the farmers have.

After visiting homes in the city and seeing people starving for want of proper nourishment, Mrs. Lawlor said, there was little sympathy for farmers.

She said that the Kings County Milk Producers Association came under the order-in-council and contended that they did come within the scope of this investigation because they were supplying the city of St. John. She said that representatives of that association should be summoned to testify. She said that it was unfair for them to set the price of milk here if the city had no control over them.

In answer to a question by Commissioner Bullock, Mrs. Lawlor said that from personal observation the farmers in Kings county made no attempt at cleanliness in handling their milk. She told of purchasing what was said to be cream and upon having it tested by Doctor Melvin found that it was a composition of evaporated cream diluted with milk. She said that there was an inspection of milk, but no testing done in this city, unless a sample was taken to the health officials to be tested. She maintained that the milk dealers had a cool nerve to ask fourteen cents a quart for the quality of milk they were selling.

That condensed milk could be used for bringing up children and that it was absolutely pure and clean, was a statement of the speaker. She strongly advocated cutting off the supply of milk from the organized association and using condensed milk. The reason it was not more generally used, she said, was because people do not know enough about it. She said that it was simply a hold up on the part of the Kings county producers and that the citizens should not stand for it.

Mr. McMullin was then called. He said that a solution might be found and cheaper milk furnished to the consumer if one man controlled the entire output in the city, and assigned his teams to certain routes instead of having to go all over the city. This system was in vogue in Ottawa and people were getting ing milk for—he thought—twelve cents a quart.

In answer to Commissioner Bullock, he told about the delegates coming from the Kings County Milk Producers Association and demanding an increase. He maintained that there was no association of local dealers and that they had been called together to discuss the question with the representatives. He said that the increase was not wanted by all the producers, but by a majority. If the local dealers refused to agree to the increase asked, he said, the representatives threatened to cut off the supply. He said that they were now paying seventy cents for an eight quart can, in addition to paying on an average of three cents a can freight. When asked what was the cost of delivery, he said, that the commissioners could get that information at the dairy, but he did not wish it published.

Information Refused.

He said that according to law they could charge five cents more a quart than at cost them to have it delivered in their dairies. Up to the present time, he said, the local dealers purchased the milk by the measure, but in future it would be purchased by weight. Asked about the meeting of the local dealers and the representatives of the association, he said, that he had offered one cent a quart more, but this was refused. When questioned about other matters coming up at this meeting he said he would mention them if the papers would not publish them. The chairman said that it would have to be left to the judgment of the reporters and as those present refused to withhold any information from the public the witness refused to answer. He gave a few more details about the selling and delivering of milk.

Mrs. W. E. Raymond gave some interesting data on the question. She was a member of the investigating committee when the question was taken up by the Housewives' League. She strongly advocated that all milk should be captured before being sold to the consumer. She thought the price should be regulated. Albert E. Macaulay, a former milk dealer, did not agree with Mrs. Lawlor that there was much profit in the milk business. He discontinued his arguments when she asked him if he had not made enough to retire.

A further hearing will be held in the near future.
