REBEL LEADER LAID PLANS IN TEXAS

Eagle Pass, Tex., Nov. 23.—Employees of the Federal telegraph lines in Ciudad P. Diaz, says Torren has surrendered and that the Maderists now invest the city. All arms and ammunition there have been confiscated by them, but the owners were told to call at headquarters at Ledero where they would be paid for the guns. An American conductor reaching Eagle Pass today from Torren, said he counted twenty-one bodies of Mexican soldiers, police and rurales at Gomez Palacio on Monday. The revolutionists carried away their dead and wounded.

A Mexican official of Ciudad Porfirio Diaz said fifty-two Mexican soldiers were killed at Gomez Palacio. General Fructoso Garcia, commanding the Mexican troops in Ciudad Porfirio Diaz, said President Diaz has the situation well in hand. Mexican soldiers today raided the San Enrique ranch of Francisco I. Madero, leader of the uprising in Mexico, on the chance of surrounding Madero, and capturing several thousand horses believed to be on the estate. They seized 250 horses, but did not find Madero. Reports had it that Madero was headed for the San Enrique property in the state of Coahuila. Furthermore, it was believed by the Mexican authorities that Madero had placed 2,000 horses there with which to mount a force of cavalry.

In addition it was reported that an armed band of revolutionists were engaged last night at Minera, Texas, and were supposed to be headed toward the ranch. The party had divided according to advices received by the Mexican authorities from a body of about 200 to about 10 men who have worked their way into Mexico. Reports from interior points in Mexico indicate that the Mexican authorities are strenuously endeavoring to protect Americans, and that in many instances the police as well as the soldiers, who are engaged in guarding the property.

ANDREW ROSSI.

The second trial of Andy Rossi, the Italian charged with the murder of Diego Siraucusa, a patriot, in the latter's house in North street, on June 26 last, ended in a disagreement. The jury retired at 9:30 last night and at twenty minutes to one this morning returned and announced that they were hopelessly divided. Ten stood for murder and two for manslaughter. The jury was then discharged. Attorney General Hazen appeared for the Crown and J. B. M. Baxter, K. C., and G. Earle Logan appeared for the prisoner. Rossi was brought into court shortly after the court opened. Although the Italian had been in jail since July last, he looked none the worse for his confinement. Attorney General Hazen, in opening for the Crown, briefly reviewed the evidence as contained in the depositions. Cornelius Sullivan was the first witness. Witness' testimony was practically the same as given at the first trial. Dr. W. W. White testified as to what took place at the post mortem examination of the deceased. Julia Jones, sister of Minnie Jones, gave similar evidence as at the first trial. Witness told about having conversations on two occasions with Rossi. John Wolfe, an Italian, told about being in Siraucusa's store on the day before the shooting. Siraucusa was not in Rossi, Minnie Jones and another person were present. Witness asked Rossi to let Siraucusa know that he (witness) would call tomorrow. Rossi replied: "Tomorrow there will be nobody here."

Newark, N. J., Nov. 23.—"I would rather be convicted and electrocuted than use bad English," Mrs. Caroline B. Martin told the court today in objecting to the record of her testimony in the proceedings to determine her sanity. If she is adjudged sane, she will be placed on trial for the murder of her daughter, Coey N. Sneed, the East Orange bath tub victim. Judge Ten Eyck ordered the word "equable" substituted for "equitable" and Mrs. Martin continued: "I'm here without a friend," she shouted, "with out a lawyer, a jury or money. I'm being crushed by this gigantic machine of men and money. Can't I tell them what I feel?" The court promised to treat her with all possible consideration but she became so much excited over the testimony of a physician who had examined her, that she threw up her hands, sobbing and shouting. Judge Ten Eyck ordered a constable to remove her, and when approached she first screamed and fought him and then collapsed. On her promise to be more quiet, she was allowed to remain in the room. Dr. C. C. Belling testified that she told him her daughter committed suicide from an over dose of morphine.

The House of Lords occupied the evening in a discussion of Lord Lansdowne's resolutions. Lord Lansdowne said that the opposition offered the resolutions as the best substitute they could provide for the government's scheme. No full and complete settlement, he declared, was possible except on the basis of the reforms and reconstruction of the House of Lords. The discussion brought out no noteworthy points and the House adjourned. The interesting announcement was made tonight that William Redmond will contest Wm. O'Brien's seat for Cork. The suffragettes continued their activities tonight. Besides creating disturbances around the parliament buildings, many of them invaded and clambered on the roof of a hall at St. Pancras where Chancellor Lloyd George was making a speech. They interrupted the chancellor at various points, but the speaker was unperturbed merely saying, "Take no notice of those cats meowing."

QUEBEC TOPIC OF HOUSE AND SENATE

French Canadian Members Have Field Day in Commons -- Blondin Loyal to King and Party

Excitement at Fever Heat While Some Members Are Not on Speaking Terms.

Senator Lougheed Deprecates Talk of Disloyalty—Liberals Retained in Power by Such Canvass

Special to The Standard. The post-mortem on the Drummond and Arthabaska election continued all day in the Commons. Excitement remains at fever heat. Members of opposite sides of the house are scarcely on speaking terms. In the chamber the speeches by both Liberals and Conservatives are of a high order, but they are intensely vindictive. This afternoon the Quebec members had the field to themselves and as expected the chief interest was in the remarks of P. E. Blondin, who was one of the Nationalist leaders in the Drummond-Arthabaska campaign. Hon. L. P. Brodeur, who opened the proceedings, went over practically the same ground covered by the prime minister. He declared that the telegrams of advice sent to the electors in the Quebec election by Hon. Geo. E. Foster, Hon. Robert Rogers and others showed that an entente cordiale existed between the Nationalists and the Conservatives. In reply to Mr. Monk he said that plebiscites were not in keeping with the idea of responsible government. When the people disapproved of a government's action it would be turned out. Loyalty to King and Party. Mr. Blondin declared that in spite of all statements made, he had remained true and faithful to the king and country and to the principles of the Liberal-Conservative party. This statement was received with loud derisive cheers by the Liberals. He denied emphatically that he had said Quebec owed nothing to the other provinces or to Great Britain. Some one had said that Quebec owed everything to Great Britain, and he had denied it. Sir Charles Tupper, Sir Richard Cartwright and others had said as much. He also denied that the Nationalists had raised the race cry; which he had obtained largely by the exploited race cries as much as they could.

The member for Champlain declared that he was opposed to the government's naval policy because it constituted a retrogression to the policy of the Liberal government. Dr. Boland of Beauce, who conducted the Liberal campaign in the constituency, declared that the disloyal speeches had been made by the supporters of Mr. Gilbert. He further asserted that Mr. Gilbert had represented himself as a Liberal and that Armand Laverne had assured the electors that Sir Wilfrid Laurier would really be pleased at Mr. Gilbert's election, inasmuch as it would enable him to go to the confederate, Earl Grey and R. L. Borden, and say, "See, the people have declared themselves against the naval policy. We must repeat the bill."

MT. ALLISON WIN PLAY-OFF FROM ACADIA

Godfrey Made Only Score Of Game Which Gave Intercollegiate Championship To Mount Allison.

BETTER TEAM WON. GENERAL VERDICT

Special to The Standard. Truro, Nov. 23.—The playoff for the King-Richardson trophy, and the intercollegiate football championship today was won by Mount Allison by the score of 3 to 0. The great struggle was witnessed by almost four thousand people. Two hundred Acadia students arrived on a special train from Wolfville, and almost as many more were present from Sackville. Truro was football wild, and practically the whole town turned out to see the game.

After the struggle, "Hump" Campbell, of St. Francis Xavier's college, challenged Mount Allison to a game, which will probably take place in Sackville. The game was a battle royal from start to finish, and the teams fought like tigers. It was a fairly good exhibition of football and was intensely exciting from the beginning to the end. The Mount Allison's had the better of the first half, but the Acadians put up a strong defensive game. In the second period, the Wolfville boys came on the field determined to repeat Mount Allison's trick. At times the garnet and blue halves got away on spectacular combination plays, when a score looked certain, but the Mount Allison's were always in the right place at the right time. Forwards Game. It was a forwards game, and the New Brunswick heavier scrim men won out. Acadia halves were faster than their opponents, but they missed a number of good opportunities to make gains, the quarters on both teams played excellent football. Parrillo, Acadia's new man, showed up to good advantage. Both full backs put up a splendid exhibition. Reid's long punts and drop kicks were very effective. Trappell's spectacular tackling was a feature of the struggle. Best Team Won. Those who witnessed the game are unanimous in saying that the better team won the game. Mount Allison, the play was carried to Acadia's territory, from a scrim, the New Brunswickers were awarded a free kick, gaining twenty yards. The Allisons rushed the ball, carrying the pigskin to Acadia's quarter line. Mount Allison was awarded a free kick on Acadia's twenty-five yard line. Cochrane tried a place kick for goal, without success. Kaiser made a gain of twenty yards. Richmond punted to the half line. The Allisons worked the pigskin back to the garnet and blue line. For three minutes the New Brunswickers kept the play between Acadia's quarter and touch line. Kaiser retrieved the situation making a nice run of 20 yards. The Allisons rubbed the ball to Acadia's twenty yard line and tried hard to score. The garnet and blue took the pigskin out of danger with a thirty yard dribble. Cochrane and Milford combined, making a gain of thirty yards. As the latter was tackled he dropped the ball and Godfrey swooped on the pigskin and made a magnificent burst of speed shot across Acadia's line for the only score of the game. Cochrane's attempt to convert was fruitless. During the remainder of the half both teams fought hard and Acadia showed marked improvement. Second Half. Acadia kicked off in the second half to the Allisons quarter line. McKean dribbled to centre field and the Allisons carried the ball to Acadia's twenty-five yard line. Both full backs indulged in an exchange of punts. Acadia's half backs got away on a pretty combination play, gaining thirty yards. The Garnet and Blue were setting a terrific pace at this period, and for a few minutes played rings around the Allisons. McKean made a run of fifteen yards for a punt. Porter of Acadia received a pass from Black, ran ten yards and passed to Macdonald who gained twenty yards; Acadia rushed the play to Mount A's twenty yard line and tried hard to score. Mount Allison carried the ball to Acadia's ten yard line but the Garnet and Blue put up a grand defence and drove the Allisons to the quarter line. Macdonald received a pass and made a beautiful run of twenty yards zig-zagging through the whole Allison team with the exception of Trappell, who made a splendid tackle. With but a few minutes left Acadia tried harder than ever to score, but to no avail. Acadia's speedy half Richmond had his shoulder hurt and was compelled to retire in the first half. Porter taking his place. The game ended Mount Allison 3, Acadia 0. Wm. Godfrey who made the deciding score hails from Chatham and is only a youngster. He is in his sophomore year at Mount Allison, but has come rapidly to the front as a football player. ATTELL BEATS WALSH. Kansas City, Mo., Nov. 23.—Monte Attell, of California, won a ten round decision over Jimmie Walsh, of Boston, here tonight. LONDON BRIEF. London, Nov. 23.—The Frieda was routed today. The fire in the Vauxhall has been extinguished.

HON. J. K. KERR, Speaker Of The Senate.

The Conservatives desired a navy which would always be at the disposal of the admiralty. The Liberal party was for a navy controlled by the Canadian parliament. The Nationalists desired a navy which would not leave our shores. Mr. Nantel spoke in French. He said that the opponents of the government had told the electors that Sir Wilfrid Laurier was not a god nor yet a demagogue, but just a plain man with a love for titles and automobiles given him by English lords, and that they were perfectly entitled to rebuke them were they made a mistake. The people of Drummond-Arthabaska had heeded this advice, he said, and the victory was the result. He denied that they had been disloyal. They had urged the right of the people to express an opinion upon the naval policy of the government, and they had been scrupulous in advising the electors that if the people voted in favor of the policy those who were opposed to it should accept the popular verdict. Mr. Turcotte, Quebec county, also speaking in French, explained that the incident of the election had no real significance. Dr. Paquette moved the adjournment of the debate.

THE SENATE

Senator Lougheed Declares Canvasses Used In Recent Campaign Have Always Been Employed by Liberals in Quebec

Ottawa, Nov. 23.—In the senate, Senator Lougheed, speaking on the address said that he could not see why Liberal leaders had indulged in such hysteria in regard to the motions and arguments used in that election. For the last four or five elections this sort of thing had always been indulged in in Quebec campaigns. The skirts of the Conservative party might not be clear of this sort of thing, but the Liberals had resorted to it to a far greater degree. The prime minister held power by virtue of the solid support he had brought from Quebec and which he had obtained largely by the methods which he now condemned. Sir Wilfrid had declared he would have shouldered his musket on the banks of the Saskatchewan with the rebels of that day. In Drummond-Arthabaska Mr. Perrault, the government candidate and other government speakers had declared the construction of a navy was the first step towards independence. Was not that less loyal than Mr. Bourassa's contention that before adopting the naval plan should have been submitted to the people. Senator Lougheed deprecated the persistent talk of disloyalty and charges of disloyalty being hurled at each other by the party leaders in Canada. What Canada needed was a national spirit and this must be based on a spirit of unity which could not be established until these charges of disloyalty were no more heard of. In the opinion of Senator Lougheed the naval bill would have been as heartily condemned by any English constituency as it had been by Drummond-Arthabaska.

TRAGIC SHOOTING.

Glace Bay, Nov. 23.—A fatal shooting accident occurred at New Waterford this morning, which caused the death of Jas. J. McLean. The brother of deceased, Dan McLean was in one room examining an automatic revolver, and thinking it unloaded, snapped the trigger. The deceased was in the adjoining room, only a thin partition dividing them. The brother's shot went through the partition, striking McLean in the forehead and coming out at the back of the head. The deceased was 23 years of age.
