MILK SUPPLY REGULATIONS

Up-to-date methods of inspection adopted for St. John—Cleanliness one of the chief requirements.

The regulations governing the inspection of milk which have been put in force by the Board of Health are said to be up-to-date in every respect, and based on systems found successful in other cities.

The inspector has a form sheet on which an arbitrary number is placed against such conditions as absence of disease on physical examination, stable location, stable cleanliness, stable ventilation, etc., and these numbers added together total 100. When making his inspection he marks down such percentage of the arbitrary number as in his judgment the particular condition in a given case is entitled to. If this percentage total less than fifty, the dairyman is not given a license to sell milk in the city.

Bases of Percentage.

Among the various conditions against which such percentage marks are made are:
 "Quality of food, quality of water, stable location, stable cleanliness, stable ventilation, cleanliness of cows, condition of barnyard drainage, milk room construction, cleanliness at milking time, absence of disease on physical examination, absence of disease on approved tubercular test."
 "The inspector makes out three forms, one of which he keeps, while another is filed with the secretary of the board, and the third is left with the dairyman."
 "The inspector also notes the number of cattle on each farm supplying milk to the city."
 "Periodical inspections will be made, and it is believed the new system will assure a pure milk supply for the city."

TUBERCULOSIS CURED AT HOME

Maritime Provinces present good chances for cure of consumption—Sunshine and fresh air, essentials.

"Physicians today are not sending their tuberculous patients two or three thousand miles away to be cured by climate," said a citizen yesterday, "but they are changing the old cry of 'change of climate' to the more rational and humane precept, 'live rightly at home'."

It was pointed out that in the Maritime Provinces from May 1 to December 1, the climate was unsurpassed by any country on the face of the earth—not cold, not too hot, days of glorious sunshine and the most invigorating atmosphere. The remaining five months furnished nothing to interfere with the proper treatment of tuberculous of the lungs. The person who had not felt the physical and mental uplift of a bright crisp winter's morning with the sun making myriads of crystals and diamonds dazzling upon the earth's snowy mantle, had never denied the experience of the greatest value to those suffering from any physical trouble.

In former days it had been the custom of physicians to send patients to other places, such as Colorado, for change of climate, when they were suffering from tuberculous. In this way the Maritime Provinces had lost many citizens who might have been retained. When a patient had been able, when cured to return to his home and generally to his former occupation, it was very probable that he would spend the remainder of his days there and adapt himself, perhaps at great sacrifice, to his new surroundings in the Maritime Provinces. In these Maritime Provinces have taken upon the matter and there is now a sanitarium at River Glade, N. B., and another at Kentville, N. S., and already many cures have been effected there.

The governments have also striven to impart to all citizens the proper way to guard against tuberculous and the methods of proper living at home have been shown to many and the work is still going on.

It has been said that where a person suffering from tuberculous was not able to go to a sanitarium by proper living and treatment at home. The great question of the open window was said to be up-to-date in every respect, and based on systems found successful in other cities.

The inspector has a form sheet on which an arbitrary number is placed against such conditions as absence of disease on physical examination, stable location, stable cleanliness, stable ventilation, etc., and these numbers added together total 100. When making his inspection he marks down such percentage of the arbitrary number as in his judgment the particular condition in a given case is entitled to. If this percentage total less than fifty, the dairyman is not given a license to sell milk in the city.

Found a Friend in Dr. Chase

His Medicines Proven Effective, and Always Kept at Hand in This Home.

Mrs. Chas. Lovell Agassiz, B. C., writes: "I feel it my duty to tell you what a great friend Dr. Chase's medicines have been to myself and family. I cannot praise his medicines too highly, and Dr. Chase's name is a household word in our home. Well, quite a number of years ago I sent to you for a sample box of Dr. Chase's Ointment for protruding piles, and, having used the sample and found relief, I sent to a neighboring town for four boxes, and I am completely cured. "I have also used Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills for constipation, and, after using them, I am completely cured of this dreadful disease. I am the mother of ten children, of whom nine are living, and when seven of my children were all very bad with whooping cough, caught in the middle of a severe winter, I used Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine, and they were all cured before the winter was over, and now we are never without Dr. Chase's medicines in our home, and I recommend them to all."
