Amherst Pianos, Limited,
Amherst,
Dear Sirs:—
Having purchased an Amherst Piano for my Digby Theatre I wish to say that I am very well pleased with same.
To my way of thinking a Piano that will stand up for the hard playing it receives in a Moving Picture Theatre, and holds its tone as the "Amherst" does, must have the goods inside.
The case is beautifully finished and the tone is pleasing in every way.
I was in the market for some time, for a new Piano, and it was only after the Amherst Piano had been tried by my regular pianist, and several other musical people, that the order was given.
I have heard nothing but praise for it since getting the instrument.
You may use this letter or any part of it as a reference.
Yours very truly,
JAMES F. CRIPPS,
Digby.

Amherst Pianos, Limited,
Amherst, N. S.,
Dear Sirs:—
We have been using one of your Amherst Pianos in our theater here, and are perfectly satisfied with its work. As you know, a piano in a moving picture theater has to stand severe tests. Nothing but the most perfect construction will stand the continuous strain that is put upon it. We find the tone of your piano full and harmonious and its musical qualities. The action is easy and helps to lighten the work for the pianist; the finish and construction are ideal. In fact we do not believe we could get a better piano anywhere. Yours truly,
METZLER & LUGRIN,
Empress Theater, Halifax.

J. E. D'EON,

Amherst Pianos, Limited,
Amherst,
Dear Sirs:—
Your "Cremonotone" Player Piano, to say that I am delighted with the instrument is putting it mildly. I do not claim to be a musical critic, but I have had the Piano thoroughly tested by my many friends who are competent judges, and they all agree it is a marvellous piano, surpassing anything they have seen in the line of Players. The "Cremonotone" attachment, which I understand can only be had in an Amherst Player removes the remaining trace of mechanical effect in playing. The most musical person sitting in an adjoining room is unable to tell whether the piano is being played by hand or by self playing mechanism. Considered simply as a piano it is a most perfect instrument for hand-playing, and when the pedals are turned in and the panel closed one would not notice that it is a player piano.
Yours truly,
BEN MOIR,
Halifax.
