TUXIS BOYS AND TRAIL RANGERS BY FIRELIGHT

An amusing thing happened in Toronto a few weeks ago. Five boys were brought before the magistrate for throwing snow balls at a street car full of people. This, of course, was not a terrible offence, although it was a rather thoughtless way to spend spare time. The magistrate began to question the boys to see how much they knew about the world in which they lived. He asked, "Where is St. Petersburg?" "In the United States," "Where is Cairo?" "In Brazil," "Who was King Edward's father?" "King Alexander," "What was Sir Wilfrid Laurier?" "King's Adviser in London." The magistrate before letting the boys go on suspended sentence said, "A very serious crime has been committed against you boys by society! Read! Read! What shall I read? Read the list of books below and it will give you some suggestions as to good reading for boys."

"Read! Read! What shall I read?" The list of books that might be named is so long that I have finally decided to mention those that deal with camping and other features of outdoor life. During the summer months every real boy is spending all the time he can outdoors and, even when he has to stay in, he likes to read about the woods and the fields. Here is a list, make your choices and buy them through any local bookseller or borrow them from a library:

"American Boy's Book on Bugs, Butterflies and Beetles," by Beard.

"Flower Guide" and "Bird Guide," by Beard.

"Field and Forest Handy Book," by Beard.

"At Home in the Water," by Cusman.

"Camping and Outing Activities," by Chelley and Baker.

"Shelters, Shacks and Shanties," by Beard.

"The Boy Craftsman" and "Handicraft for Handy Boys," by Collins.

"Harper's Wireless Book" and "Harper's Aircraft Book," by Verrill.

"The Camera Man," by Collins.

"Captains Courageous," by Kipling.

"Treasure Island" and "Kidnapped" by Stevenson.

"Tom Sawyer" and "Huckleberry Finn" by Mark Twain.

"The Biography of a Grizzly," by Selton.

"The Ransom of Red Chief," "O. Henry."

"Boy Scouts' Book of Stories," "Twenty Thousand Leagues" and "Mysterious Island," by Verne.

"Around the Fire Stories," by Doyle.

"The Penman," by Tomlinson.

"Story of David Livingstone," by Golding.

"Down to the Sea," by Grenfell.

"Boy's Life of Roosevelt," by Hagedorn.

I have tried to keep this list from being so long as to frighten you, but at the same time to have it include a few books on about every subject in which you are interested. Are you and the boys of your city or town going camping for a week or a month? Here's an idea! See if your local librarian will loan you a box of books for camp. Most of them will do so with the understanding of course, that you will replace those not returned in good condition.

Yours for some good summer reading.

FIRELIGHTER.

Mrs. Rebecca Williams.

Friends of Mrs. Rebecca Williams, widow of James Williams, will be gathered to learn of her death, which took place early yesterday morning at the home of her granddaughter, Mrs. Frederic Baker, 287 Gifford street, West St. John. She formerly resided at Centerton, Kings County, N. B. Mrs. Williams was eighty-six years of age and leaves to mourn her daughter, Ella, one granddaughter, Mrs. Frederic Baker, and one grandson, Charles Cathline, of St. John. Interment will be at Long Reach on Monday on the arrival of the steamer D. J. Purdy.

Mrs. George E. Fairweather.

Edgar H. Fairweather received the sad news from Boston yesterday morning that his mother, Mrs. Geo. E. Fairweather, had died from pneumonia, after an illness which commenced on Saturday last. Mrs. Fairweather had for several years, with her daughters, Misses Carrie and Grace, spent the winter seasons in Boston, and she had been in her ordinary health until the last week-end. The remains will be brought to St. John for interment, reaching here on Saturday night. Mrs. Fairweather was a St. John lady, Miss Emma Titus, a member of Trinity church congregation, and will be favorably remembered by the older residents. Her husband died six years ago. The son and two daughters mentioned are the surviving members of the family.

ONE Great Essential

To A Woman's Health

Is Her Nerves.

Nature intended women to be strong, healthy and happy as the day is long, instead of being thin and wretched. But how can any woman be healthy and happy when the whole nervous system is unstrung. The trouble is they pay more attention to their social and household duties than they do to their health. It is any wonder then that they become irritable and nervous, have hot flushes, faint and dizzy spells, smothering and sinking spells, become weak and nervous, and everything in life becomes dark and gloomy.

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are the very remedy that nervous, tired, out-vary women need to restore them to the blessings of good health.

Mrs. P. H. Ryan, Sand Point, N. S., writes: "I have been a great sufferer from nerve troubles. I was so weak and nervous I could not sleep at night and my appetite was very poor. I could not walk across the floor without trembling. I had hot flushes and fainting spells. When I was on my second box of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills I began to feel better and kept on until I had used six boxes when I felt like a different person. I am never without them in the house and recommend them to all who suffer with their nerves."

Police Court

Cases Yesterday

Considerable Time Taken in Case Preferred Against Dr. Kelly for Issuing Two Prescriptions — Other Cases Dealt With.

The case of Dr. C. M. Kelly charged with violating the Prohibition Act in the issuing of prescriptions was resumed in the Police Court yesterday afternoon. W. M. Ryan, in closing the case for the prosecution stated that the doctor had violated the section 131 of the Act, dealing with the issue of prescriptions. The two prescriptions offered in evidence showed that one had been filled on the 16th of March, the second had not been dated but had been filled on the following day. He stated that while the liquor authorities did not believe the defendant was engaged in the illegal traffic it was their desire to suppress on the profession the necessity of fulfilling the provisions of the Act.

Dr. Kelly on being sworn stated that the two prescriptions had been given by him to Alexander MacLeod, a lumberman with camps at Musquash and Nauyasewauk. The doctor thought his patient, an elderly man of over seventy-five years of age, a thoroughly reliable man, and as he stated that he had two large crews in the woods, and it was very hard to get a doctor when needed, the doctor gave him two prescriptions. The patient called in the evening and the doctor told him to have one prescription filled that night, the second the next day. The reason he explained, that the second prescription had been blank was so that his patient would not be obliged to return to the office the next day. MacLeod carried out the instructions as had been shown in the evidence.

Two subscriptions, issued in February of which but one had been dated were also submitted by the prosecution, those the doctor said he had explained to the Chief Inspector at the time and had been told that his explanation was entirely satisfactory. The magistrate—"The Chief Inspector's opinion doesn't amount to a row of shoes, as far as the legal part of the Act is concerned."

Following Dr. Kelly's evidence, Mr. Ryan contended that the onus rested on the doctor, and his explanation had not met it, it was evident that a technical violation had been made. The judge announced that he would deliver judgment on Monday at two o'clock.

In the morning court, Hugh Patrick, an agent of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company was charged with the misappropriation of funds, and was remanded until Saturday. H. E. McLean appeared for the prosecution, and W. M. Ryan for the accused.

Daniel Hoop, a Chinese, charged with protectionism, was remanded, and his case will be investigated.

Further evidence was given by Harold Peacock in the case of Thomas, and Albert Connell, and Charles Ritchie charged with cutting the wires of the N. B. Telephone Co. and the accused were remanded to jail until Tuesday morning when additional witnesses will be called.

WERE ENTERTAINED.

The young people, some forty in number, who took part in the May Pole Dance at the Recreation Centre recently, were entertained last evening at a delightful party at the Y. W. C. on King street East. A very jolly evening was spent, refreshments being served. The chaperones were Mrs. J. D. Hunter, Mrs. T. H. Gommerville and Mrs. Coleman.
