

The conduct of the boys during the year was good.

The Headmaster has every reason to believe that much sound work was accomplished by the boys, and that the work generally has improved in quantity and quality, more especially in Mathematics and Science.

The thanks of the Headmaster are due to the Rev. Canon Adams, the very Rev. the Dean of Quebec, Mr. R. F. Morris, and to the Rev. Prof. Parrock, for valuable assistance in the Midsummer Examinations.

The Headmaster concludes this report by recording his sincere thanks to the members of the Staff, who, without exception, worked together in harmony and with zeal for the success of the School.

The whole respectfully submitted.

H. J. H. PETRY, M.A.,
Headmaster.
