

PAYMENT OF BILLS.

Bills will be rendered Oct. 10th, Feb. 10th and May 1st, and prompt payment is expected.

The necessity for prompt payment is readily seen by every one. Large purchases have to be made from time to time; salaries have to be met, and interest on the debt on the buildings has to be paid, and prompt remittances are necessary to enable the Managing Committee to meet their engagements.

No deduction in tuition or rent bills will be made for absence during the first two or last two weeks of a Term.

Students who have paid in advance, but who may be called away from the Institution by sickness or other necessary cause, will have the money refunded to them pro rata for time of absence.

BUILDINGS.

The dormitory for young men was built about five years ago. The rooms are comfortable, and the corridors are warmed by hot air furnace. The rooms are furnished with bedstead, mattress, table, chairs, book-case, wash-stand and stove. Students are expected to provide their own bedding, towels, etc., and whatever they may deem necessary to complete the furnishing of the rooms.

In its Dining Hall, board is provided for students of both the College and the Academy.

This building is supplied with water on each flat conducted through iron pipes from a thoroughly built and well protected reservoir about half a mile distant.

The building known as the "Old Boarding House" contains rooms for about twenty students, besides affording accommodation for the Janitor and for an Office.

The recitation rooms for the male Academy and for some classes in Acadia Seminary are in the New College building. These rooms are modern in their construction and well adapted to the purpose for which they were designed.

The boarding departments of both Horton Academy and Acadia Seminary are managed by the Executive Committee of the Governors of Acadia College. No personal or private interests are subserved. The design is to keep prices as low as possible. If by prudent management anything is saved, it is a gain to the Institution. The being the case, it is clearly the duty of every Baptist parent sending sons or daughters to the Institution to board them in it, and to assist an enterprise in the financial prosperity of which they will participate.
