the student body has an increased awareness of the dangers of drug involvement, and the majority of students are relieved to be free of the negative influence in their school. DEMAND REDUCTION TEAM PHILOSOPHY

The Royal Canadian Mounted Police understands that substance abuse is a serious social issue that is very complex and multi-faceted affecting every area of our community. In order for a successful solution to be found, the resources of many individuals and agencies will have to be combined to provide the many innovative strategies and ideas that will need to be implemented. This active participation by everyone in the community is essential and that is why we have identified this unique relationship of people working with people as the "Demand Reduction Team". The RCMP Drug Awareness Program recognizes the special efforts of individuals and agencies by honouring these persons and making them Honorary Members to this special order.
