Deacon and Calf Skins

Highest Cash Price at the Brockville A. G. McCrady Sons

GRAND TRUNK SYSTEM

EAST OR WEST

ill pay you to patronize "The Old Reliabl nd Trunk Railway" and take advantage o »zoellent Passenger Train Service which es Brock ville as follows:

GOING EAST. (Sunday included). GOING WEST.

G. T. FULFORD,

City Passenger Agent. Office: Fulford Block, next to Post Office

CANADIAN

Montreal Quebec, St. John N.B. Halifax, Portland, Boston and point

Winnipeg, Vancouver and all points on the Pacific Coast, China, Japan and

For tickets, time table, reserve of sleeping and par or car space, etc., write to or call on Geo. E. McGlade, Agent

City ticket and Telegraph Office, corner King street and Court House avenue, Brockville. TRAMBUID TICKETS BY THE PRINCIPAL LINES

Endorsed by Physicians ⁴⁴ I desired to test in my practice various Witch Hazel products. I have done so, and am thoroughly convinced thay your preparation (Pond's Extract) in the convenience of the conv

H. W. MARSH, M.D.,

Pond's Extract is and always has been manu-factured by ourselver factured by ourselves, at our own factory, and is guaranteed unequaled, in quality, purity, uniformity and medicinal virtue. It is FOUR times as strong as Witch Hazel. Never sours. Send for Yellow pamphlet. POND'S EXTRACT CO., 76 Fifth Ave., N.Y.

The Leading Specialists of America 20 YEARS IN DETRO!T. 250,000 CURED.

WECURE EMISSIONS Nothing can be more demoralizing ung or middle-aged men than the pre-ce of these "nightly losses." The

O CURE-NO PAY

250,000 CURED

WE CURE VARICOCELE matter how serious your case may how long you may have had, it, our / METHOD TREAT MENT with the "worm veine" renease the allowance the allowa manly powers return. No temporary manly powers return. No component cure assured. No CURE, NO PAZ. NO OPERATION NECESSARY. NO DETENTION FROM BUSINESS.

URES GUARANTEED NEY diseases. CONSULTATION PREE. BOOKS FREE. CHARGES WODERATE. If unable to call, write or a QUESTION BLANK for HOME BEATMENT.

KENNEDY & KERGAN 148 SHELBY STREET, DETROIT, MICH.

DICKENS KILLED HIMSELF.

DICKENS KILLED HIMSELF.

The Great Novelist Reckiesly Brought About His Own Death.

Mr. Charles Dickens, son of the great novelist, has given us a sad picture of his father, bringing out very clearly how recklessly the great novelist killed himself by giving public readings.

"There was something of almost willful exaggeration," he says, "of a defiance of any fossible overfatigue, either of mind or body, in the feverish sort of energy with which these readings were entered upon and carried out." It would almost seem that he might have been living and writing novels to this day if he had not persisted, in defiance of all warnings, in giving public readings which exhausted his strength and ultimately killed him. He had plenty of symptoms of his approaching collapse.

"Among of his approaching collapse.
"Among other serious symptoms he rediced that he could only read the halv "Among other serious symptoms he noticed that he could only read the halves of the letters over the shop doors on his right. The old elasticity was impaired, the old unflagging vigor often faitered. One night at the St. James' hall, I remember, he found if impossible to say Pickwick and called him Pickswick and Picnic and Peckwicks and all sorts of names except the right, with a comical glance of surprise at the occupants of the front seats, which were always reserved, for his family and friends. In fact, when my father described himself in a letter written to Mr. Dolby on the very eve of the breakdown as being a little out of sorts, he was, in fact, on the brink of an attack of paralysis of the left side and probably of apoplexy."
What finished him was a farewell series of 12 readings at St. James' hill. The state in which he was can be imagined from the instructions given to young

"I nave had some steps put up again the side of the platform, Charley," said Mr. Beard, who was constantly in attendance. "You must be there every night, and if you see your father falter in the least you must run up and catch him and bring him off with me, or he'll die before them all."—Scottish Nights.

A MODEL WIFE.

And the Curious Discovery Made by

"She was my model wife until yester-day—that is," remarked the cynical bach-elor who lives in an apartment house on the east side, "she was my model for wives. She and her husband lived in the flat just over mine, and I used to hea im come home at hours that made ever hardened old sinner like me asha a hardened old sinner like me ashamed for all men's sake. It would be 2 or 8 and sometimes 4 o'clock in the morning when he would 'come thumping up stairs, and I knew—the privacy of an apartment house is not all that it might be—don't you know, that she was waiting for him and that for an hour or two afterward there would be the sound of talking. Not. scolding, but merry conversation and laughter.

"I used to hear the rattle of dishes and often on summer nights would catch savory odors floating down the light shaft—that blessed agent for the transmission of everything but air and si shine. Then after a time there would shine. Then after a time there would be silence. It used to go on—that sort of thing—night after night, and I wondered what sort of a woman she could be to put up with a man of such irregular habits as her husband apparently was.

"One day I met her in the corridor—a little woman with a face that beamed over with smiles and a whole world of love in her eyes, and I cursed that man in every picturesque phrase I could think of as a brute who didn't deserve such luck. Yesterday I made a discovery. He is a morning newspaper man, she is a is a morning newspaper man, she is bride, and with theories of her own bride, and with theories of her own to work out she has upset every law of domestic management to conform to the hours of his work, turning night into day and having the evening dinner at 4 o'clock in the morning instead of 6 o'clock at night.

"She is still my model for a newspaper man's wife, but I've ceased to think of her as the modern Griselda. She may be patient, but she's got a heap of wisdom tucked away under that shining brown head of hers."—Miliwaukee Sentinel.

atient, but sne's got a benjacked away under that shining bend of hers."—Milwaukee Sentinel. therita Arlina Hamm, the well traveler and author, called when a upon the wife, or, rather, the pon the wife, or, rather, the great mandarin. Her visit wives, or a great manuarin. The vasi-partook of the nature of a festival, so novel was the experience to the Chinese women, whose lives are passed almost entirely within the walls of their yamen.

interpreter, "You can walk and run just hs well as a man?"
"Why certainly."
"Can you ride a pony as well as a man?"
"Ott course."

men."
"Yes, I think I am."
"You wouldn't let a m

The Chinese woman paused, laughed and then said, "Now I understand why foreigners never take more than one wife. They are afraid to."-Saturday

What Yom Kippur Means.

According to the behests of Judaism actual guilt cannot be converted into right by any act of forgiveness or atonement, human or divine. The definition of the Hebrew word kofar, which is the root of kippurim, conveys quite a different meaning. It denotes "covering up," to "overlay." It means that by carrying out resolutions of repentance into practice man will be able to "cover up" a multitude of sins. This is the rational idea of Judaism regarding the expiation of sins. This is the cornerstone of salvation as attained through man's own efforts.—Jewish Spectator.

forts -- Jewish Spectator. The Young Crocodile. The Young Crocodile.

The moment that a young crocodile, breaks its shell it is to all intents and purposes as active as it is at any time during its life. It will make straight for the water, even if it be out of sight and a good distance off, and it will pursue its prey with eagerness and agility during the first hour of its free existence.

You may say that a man is truly great when he has a pie named for him, as, for instance, the Washington pie and the Marlborough pie.—Boston Commercial Bulletin.

Courtesy on the Street.

"I beg your pardon," exclaimed the man in the automobile.

"Well, that's an improvement, any-how," said the man who had been run over, picking himself up and looking around for his hat. "When a fellow with ivery wagon runs over me, he never his horse to beg my pardon."—Chi-Tribune.

The Rainy Day. De rainy day, he rain so long, He fotch de sigh en drown de song; He rain so much on low en high He wash de sun fum out de sky.

Oh, rainy day, please go yo' way
En lef' de dry lan' whar we stay!

—Atlanta Cons Diplomacy.

Short-You were at the races yester day? Long-No. Short-Then you are the very man I'm booking for.
Long-Why so?
Short-I want to borrow $5.-Chicago

Twinkle, Twinklet Twinkle, twinkle, little star,
Looking down from heaven's bar;
Twink' a trifle extra, dear;
Don't you know that Dewey's here?
—Cleveland Plain Dealer,

A Long Felt Want.

Hoax—I have just patented an invenon that will be of incaculable benefit to tion that was the human race. Ioax—What is it?

Joax—What is it?

Hoax—A phonographic collar button that will make its own protanity when it rolls under the bureau.—Chicago News.

PORK PRODUCTION.

all the experiments which have been conducted in the feeding and fattening of swine at the Central Experimental of swine at the Central Experimental Farm for the past eight years have been tabulated and summarized so as to present in a condensed form the whole of the information which has been gained by the investigations made regarding pork production during that time. Information is also given in this bulletin in reference to the care of the breeding stock and the management and feeding of young pigs.

The experiments conducted and reported upon seem to indicate that:

orted upon seem to indicate that:

I twill not pay to cook feed for swine where economy of pork produc-tion is the sole consideration.

2. There is a gradual increase in the

2. There is a gradual increase in the quantity of feed consumed for every pound of gain in live weight after the average live weight exceeds 100 lbs.

The most economical time to slaughter swine is when they weigh from 175 to 200 pounds.

The greatest and most economical gains are made when the swine are able to eat the most feed in proportion to their weight.

to their weight. Frozen wheat may be used as a profitable feed for swine.

Skim milk adds most materially to the value of a grain ration, and 100 lbs mixed grains equal about 700 skim-milk. The relative value of skim-milk. The relative value of skim-milk in any ration varies with the amount fed, the poorest returns per pound fed being obtained when the proportion of skim milk to the total food is the greatest.

The average dress-d weight of swine is about 76.44 per cent of the fasted whether the stated was the skim which is about 76.44.

the results are highly satisfactory. Bran, because of its character of composition, is not a wholly desirable feed tor pigs. Middlings may be fed with profit at any time during the hogs life. They are not only rich in protein and ash, but are what may be called a clean, smooth food, being tree from the objectionable crude fibre which so prominently distinguishes bran. Barweight.
Skim milk is a most valuable ad junct to the grain ration when hard flesh is desired. Type of animals fed influences character of meat more than feed, i. e., the fact of an animal being a Yorkshire or a Tamworth will not ensure a good con carcase, but they must also be a rangy type and fed in a certain way. Feeding mixed meal (barley, pease and oats) with milk, usually insures

The greatest gains from a given amount of grain appear to be made when it is ground and soaked for 24 hours. Part of grain fed whole is frequently voided before being di-

Mixed grains are more economica than grains fed pure.
Pigs whose rations are limited make on the whole, more economical gains than pigs that are rushed.

Maturity or ripeness of the animal affects the quality of the flesh. A Trying Experience.

A NOVA SCOTIA FARMER SUFFERED FOR FIFTEEN YEARS.

Onsulted Four Doctors, But the Only Reliei
They Gave Him Was Through Injections of Morphine—Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Restored Him to Health and Activity.
From the News, Truro, N. S.
Mr. Robert Wright, of Alon, Co.

chester Co., N.S., is now one of the hardiest and hardest working farmers in this section. But Mr. Wright wa not always blessed with perfect health as a matter of fact for some fifteen years he was a martyr to what appeared to be an incurable trouble. In conversation lately with a News re-porter, Mr. Wright said :—"I am in-deed gratful that the trouble which bothered me for so many years is gone, and I am quite willing to give you the particulars for publication. It is a particulars for publication. It is a good many years since my trouble first began, slight at first, but later intensely severe pains in the back.
Usually the p ins attacked m when could not move without help. My wife required to stay with me constantly, and became nearly exhausted.

During the time I was suffering thu I was attended by four different doc-I was attended by four different doc-tors. Some of them pronounced my trouble lumbago, others sciatica, but they did not cure me, nor did they give me any relief, save by the injec-give me any relief, save by the injectrouble lumbago, others sciatics, but they did not cure me, nor did they were last year behind the prison bars give me any relief, save by the injection of morphine. For years I suffered thus, sometimes confined to bed, at other times able to go about and work, but always suffering from the work with the work of the pain, until about three years ago when I received a new lease of life, and a freedom from the pains that had so long tortured me. It was at this time that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for time that Dr. Williams Fink Fink for Pale People were brought to my atten-tion and I got two boxes. The effect seemed marvelous and I got six boxes more and before they were all used I was again a healthy man and free from pain. It is about three years since I was cured, and during that time I have never had an attack of the old trouble, and I can therefore strongly testify to the sterling quality of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Since they did such good work for me I have recommended them to several people for various ail-ments, and the pills have always been successful. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills care by going to the root of the disease. They renew and build up the blood, and strengthen the nerves, thus driving disease from the system, Avoid imita tions by insisting that every box you purchase is enclosed in a wrapper bearing the full trade mark, Dr. Wil-liams' Pink Pills for Pale People,

The Learnington Post says that the obacco crop of Kent and Essex will amount to about four million pounds. A tobacco factory commenced work on Saturday week with a staff of twenty hands, which will be increased shortly. Two hundred pounds of finished product was the result of the first day's regusia exiliérea un

Growing girls and boys do not alway's appreciate that it is while they are growing that they are forming their figures for after life. Droping the shoulders a little more every day, drooping the head as one walks, standing unevenly, so that one hip sinks more than the other—all these defects as hard in five years, and twenty five times as hard in five years, and twenty five times as hard in five years, and twenty five times as hard in ten years. A grapeful, easy carriage and creet straight figure, are a pleasure to beholder and possessor, and are worth striving well is to start out right. Just before you leave the house walk up to the wall and see that your toes, chest and nose touch it at once; then in that attitude walk away. Keep your bead up and your chest out, and your shoulders and head will take care of themselves. A Southern scipol teacher used to instruct her pupils to walk always as if trying to look over the top of an imaginary carriage just in front of them. It is good advice, for it kept the h-ad raised. Don't think that these things are of no value. They add to your health and your attractiveness, two things to which everybody should pay heed—N. Y. Times.

Feeding Pigs For Pork.

What is a complete food for the pig, and will it pay to feed some wheat even when wheat is pretty high in price i If wheat is fed with cornment, the results are highly satisfactory.

Feeding Pigs For Pork.

What is a complete food for the pig, and will it pay to feed some wheat even when wheat is pretty high in price i If wheat is fed with cornment, the results are highly satisfactory.

Feeding Pigs For Pork.

What is a complete food for the pig, and will it pay to feed some wheat even when wheat is pretty high in price i If wheat is fed with cornment, the results are highly satisfactory.

Feeding Pigs For Pork.

What is a complete food for the pig, and will it pay to feed some wheat even when wheat is pretty high in price i If wheat is fed with cornment, the results are highly satisfactory.

and will it pay to feed some wheat even when wheat is pretty high in price? If wheat is fed with cornnest, the results are highly satisfactory.

All right, coss, responded the anssourian. "If that lunatic monkeys around here he'll wish he hadn't."
This was in the early morning, and soon the Missourian was slathering whitewash over that beautifun! red barn in a manner most ghastly to behold.
About 10 o'clock Mose Waters, who slept in the back end of his saloon, was awaksned by his bartender, who pointed out to him the work of devastation proceeding in the back yard.

In his stockings and trousers and with but one suspender over his shoulder Mose bounded into the yard, shouting:
"Here, you blankety, blank ——! What are you doing to that barn?"
"Go away, lunatic," calmly responded the Missourian as he stood on his ladder and slapped great gobs of whitewash on the Missourian as he stood on his ladder and slapped great gobs of whitewash on the beautiful red cornice. "This is Mr. Bob Wright's barn, and he told me to Bob Wright's barn, and he told me te chase yer off ef yer came pesterin about yere. Don't git gay, er yer mought git hurt."

"Bob Wright's barn, is it, you blankety, blank idiot! Well, I'll just kill you first and then settle with Mr. Bob afterward," shouted Mose as he seized the bottom of the ladder and commenced to twist it away from the building. About the second twist the big Missourian seized his bucket of whitewash and poured the whole contents over Mose's head and shoulders and then sild down the ladder to the ground, where the two mixed in one of the prettiest fights the town had ever seen. But the Missourian was too much for Mose, and pretty soon he had the redheaded Irishman on, the ground ever seen. But the Missourian was too much for Mose, and pretty soon he had the redheaded Irishman on, the ground with two black eyes and a bleeding nose. Then the crowd which had gathered compelled him to let Mose up, and with a how! of rage that much abused man started for his room and his six shooters. It is needless to recount the subsequent proceedings. Ten minutes later Bob Wright was mounted on a swift horse ear route for Fort Dodge, some five miles away, where he was proprietor of the sutler store. From this point of vantage he opened negotiations with Mose. In the course of a week, as the anger of Mose subsided and his eyes began to lore lose their dark rims, the humor of the situation began to dawn upon him, and at last he consented to an armistice which enabled Bob to return to town.—Kansas City Journal.

The Name of Mary.

uments, though seldom, if ever, used

ROBBING THE ABORIGINES.

tender grass. There was a young man in the choir, Whose voice rose up hoir and hoir, Till so high did it soar, ntly distinguishes bran. Bar-prominently distinguishes oran. Date ley is an excellent food and will enable such sections as North Dakota and Montana to produce some of the best pork in the world. In these and other ections like them barley and peas will sections like them barley and peas will make pork production profitable if given the opportunity. "Peas, as all understand, are a highly nitrogenous food, and when dry should always be fed with some other grain. There are some who do not appreciate the value of clover hay for swine. It is to be regretted that such appreciation is not universal. It is not only valuable because of its high merit as a feed, but because of the bulk that it furnishes.

No growing animal should be fed ex clusively upo the grains. Swine will eat-dry clover hay with a relish, but the better way to feed it is to cut it up. Steam it or pour hot water on it and mix with meal. Pasture, if it is the right kind of pasture, is nearly an essential in profitable swine raising. It should be cover pasture, but it it is not it should be composed of short and

And 'twas found next day on the spoir PINEAPPLE ESSENCE

Mary is one of the oldest names in use today. Women of all classes christen their children with the Virgin's name, In the Shape of Dr. Von Stan's Pineapple Tablets and its universal use will never detract from its dignity. Marie is the French version of the name, and those bearing it look forward to Aug. 15, the festival is Curing Stomach Ailments of Every Kind The pineapple has a valuable constituent known as vegetable pepsin, a wonderful digester of food. Test this by mixing equal parts of pineapple and beef and ag taking at a temperature of 103 deg Fahrenheit, when, in due of 103 deg. Fanrennett, when, in due time, the meat will be entirely digested. This rare juice is the principal incred-ient in Dr. Von Stan's Pineapple Tablets, and anyone, at any time, can Usually the p ins attacked me when working or ifting, but often when not at work at al. With every attack the pains seemed to grow worse, until finally I was confined to the house, and there for five long months was indicated and much of this time. Tablets, and anyone, at any time, can do by their use. You eat them like candy. They are very palatable; harmless as pure milk. They afford instant relief in all cases of indigestion and distant relief in all cases of indigestion. and dyspepsia. Their right use will cure all stomach troubles and establish sound health. Box of 60 Tablets, 35 cents. Sold by J. P. Lamb & Son.

A PREACHER'S NERVE

How the Indian Women Go Shopping
In the Territories.

If you watch Indian women shopping you will see feminine eagerness, caprice and love for fine and pretty things. They cannot shop as other women do, poor things, for, instead of flitting gayly to any shop that pleases, they are in most cases obliged to patronize one, and that is rareity the best. The reason for this goes deep, into governmental appointments and Indian agents, and the question is too delicate and reformatory to discuss. Women of the Sarah Barton class cannot speak of t with patience. dian agents, and the question is too delicate and reformatory to discuss. Women of the Sarah Barton class cannot speak of it with patience.

When the woman of the reservation goes shopping, she does so only at such times as the government gives its wards their allowance. The Indian trades on credit, the agent pays the store and not the Indian, and the storekeeper sees that the bill of goods bought shall equal the amount of pension money due his customer, even though he is reduced to selling half a yard of velveteen for $2 and common gilt tape at $1 a yard.

And yet the women find shopping infinitely amusing. In some of the larger towns shops reach a cheap imitation of the department store, and the Indian women take varied and feminine delight in sauntering from one counter to another, feeling of dress goods and gazing at unattainable ribbons and passementeries. The shop's interpreter goes with them, like a courier, and lightly directs their somewhat doubtful fancy to unsalable goods. They are timid and gay as children and most unlovely to look upon, for there is an unhappy incongruity about tenement house garb and Minnehaha physiognomy.

They are very shy and show none of the dignified indifference of the men, which is like that of a lion in captivity. In the shop they cling to the interpreter with a faith that would appeal to any ordinary conscience, but the Indian and his money are considered fair game in the territories. After the shop is left the women follow closely on the heels of their lords until bundled into the big box wagon to drive home. I have never seen one alone on the streets of a town, so great is their timidity in the face of that civilization toward which they are inevitably advancing.

Brought Him Citents.

Many lawyers are accustomed to re-

Will Break Under the Strain of Indigestion— Here's the Testimony of the Preacher and His Wife-Backsilders From Good Health Reclaimed by the Power of the Great South American Nervine. Rev. W. S. Barker, of Peterboro' ays: "I was greatly afflicted with indigestion and nervous prostration, and my wife was all run down and and my wife was all run down and suffering much from general debility, and we heartily join hands in giving testimony to the great relief and curative powers of South American Nervine. Splendid results followed the taking of the first bottle, and a rew bottles have cured us both and the chartilly recommended it to our we cheerfully recommended it to our fellow-suffers." Sold by J. P. Lamb & Sen.

A Kingston man tells this story: He has a nephew, who was determined to go with the Canadian regiment to South Africa. But, though a big, strapping fellow, he is only 18 years old, and the age limit was 22. When he presented himselt for examination and was asked how old he was, he replied promptly, "I've just passed 22." He was accepted. Here is how the lad squared it with his conscience; just before going in for examination he wrote the figure 22 on the ground and walked passed it. They had better not make that fellow paymaster of the regiment. A Kingston man tells this story ment.

SOONER DIE THAN SUFFER."

Is the Pain-Racked Rheumatic's Wall—South American Rheumatic Care Nimbles the Swollen Stiff Joints—Gives New Life—New Hope—Cureo Permanently.

J. H. Garrett, of Liverpool, N. S. "I was a great sufferer for years from acute rheumatism." Was unable to walk or put my feet under me. I tried everything recommended and was treated by best physicians, but relief was in vain. I was recommended to try South American Rheumatic Cure. I procured a bottle; when half of it was taken I had great relief. A few bottles cured me. I claim to-day it is the only medicine—that will—cure rheumatism." Sold by J. P. Lamb & Son.

BOB HEART—DIZEY HEAD.

BAD HEART—DIZEY HEAD.

Life was a Living Death, but Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart disease without growing dizzy. Going up strairs, or being suddenly startled, brought ou violent paipitation and a phin stiff or the sum of the pain about the heart. Tried many remedies and physicians without relief. I took two bottery South American Rheumatic Cure. I procured a bottle; when half of it was taken I had great relief. A few bottles cured me. I claim to-day it is the only medicine—that will—cure rheumatism." Sold by J. P. Lamb & Son.

BOD HEART—DIZEY HEAD.

Life was a Living Death, but Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart disease that I could not stand on a chair without growing dizzy. Going up strairs, or being suddenly startled, brought and gentle sort and not at all uprourlous, and they were often at his own expense. A Philadelphia paper relates that immediately after his admission to the bar and while still very young Mr. Peters "hung out his shingle" in the shape of a sign in which these words were inscribed to try south. Had pains about the sign was taken I had great relief. A few bottles cured me. I claim to-day it is trouble. I think it the greatest of the process of their profession with the said on a chair without growing dizzy. Going up strairs, or being suddenly startled, brought gently for the heart immediately after his admission to the life t on pinions woven of a sigh, Into the night I seem to dis. But, bush! The night will soon pass by, Before the lark, when morning breaks, The east wind wakes.

—Carrie L. Ward in Danaid.

FIRST AMERICAN PATENT.

Granted at Boston In 1648 and Call gion controlled by Massachusetts, and the one issue apparently included all the invention of the inventor connect-ed with engines that depended upon water for their motive power. limit of the monopoly was 14 years, and the court not only retained power to forbid exportation, but to prevent exorbitant charges upon the public for their use.

The patent was issued in this form:
"JENKES MONOPOLYE.

his petition (yet no Othr per sen shall powr of this co'te to restrain ye ex-portation of such manufactures & ye prizes of them to moderation if occaion so require." This inventor, Joseph Jenkes, or where he built several mills.—Boston Transcript. An Absentminded Eridegroom Robert Dewar, brother of Lo. Wil-

By his side was a new suit of clothes.

"It's a nice man you are," ironically said the spokesman.
"What's the matter new?" returned Robert irritably.
"Your, bride and the preacher are waiting for you this two hours. Don't you know this is your wedding day, "I declare," said the groom, "I'd for gotten all about it! Wait till I dress, and I'll go along with you."—Saturday Evening Post.

it look forward to Aug. 15, the resulval of the assumption, the fete day when all Maries receive the floral offerings in honor of their patron saint. There is no name more favored throughout France than the name of Marie. It is borne by the peasants and by the young women of the house of Orleans. Notable among Maries is the Princess Waldemar of Denmark. A young and newly married coup Maries is the Princess Waidemar of Den-mark.

In some provinces of France almost every woman is christened Marie, with an after name—for example, Marie An-toinette. Many of the ancient houses of both France and England value the in-heritance of Marie with their heirlooms and lands. The Noailles, Bolsgelins, d'Andignes, Larochejaguleleins all in-clude one or more Maries in each genera-tion. Eyen men in France bear the pre-nom of Marie, which is used in legal doc-uments, though seldom, if ever, used in entertaining their friends, and parable was put up with for some bearable, was put up with for some time, until at supper he held up on his fork a piece of meat which had been served to him, and in a vein of intend-ed humor he looked round and re-marked:

This immediately drew forth the remark from a quiet looking individual sitting at the other end of the table: "Which end of the fork do you refe to?"-Spare Moments.

MADHOUSE COOKS.

of a lunatic asylum near Glasgow.
"One night in making his cust

of a lunatic asylum near Glasgow.

"One night in making his customary rounds he had occasion to visit the patients in the kitchen, who were preparing the dinner. There were seven of them, all big, sturdy fellows, who were believed to be harmless. The keeper only looked in upon them now and again, feeling that his constant presence was unnecessary.

"The doctor unlocked the iron barred door of the kitchen and went in among the lunatics.

"There were five large boilers containing scalding water ready for making the day's dinner for the patients.

"One of the lunatics pointed at the boilers full of hot water and, laying his hand upon the doctor's shoulder, said, 'Doctor, you'll make a fine plot of broth,' and the words had no sooner been uttered than the other six madmen shouted in a voice of delight, 'Just the thing,' and, seizing the doctor, were in the very act of putting him into one of the large boilers of scalding water, when the doctor had the presence of mind to say, but not a second too soon:

"Canital broth, but it would taste bet-presence of mind to say, but not a second too soon:

"Capital broth, but it would taste better if I took my clothes off."

"The madmen, with a yell of delight, said 'yes,' and the doctor asked them to wait a moment while he went and took his clothes off, but as soon as he got out of the kitchen he turned the key in the door and ordered the keeper to see to the lunatics being put under restraint. "The doctor's presence of mind saved him, it is true, from a terrible death, but he died shortly after raving mad. The experience had destroyed his reason."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Children's Logic.

We have come across the following specimens of children's logic, in each case the child proving easily the victor: Examination question—What do you do first when you parse a word? Answer—I rule a margin.

Again, a teacher has explained an abstract noun as the name of somehting you can neither see, nor hear, nor touch, and asks for an example. Answer, after much mental hunting—A little hen in an egg.

On another occasion the teacher af-On another occasion the teacher af-firms that a transitive verb must have an object—"thus, if you break, you must break something"—and cheerfully invites the class to put "break" into a sentence without an object. A small girl ventures this, in perfect good faith: "I tried to break the glass, but couldn't," adding anxiously, "You see I didn't break the glass."

Granted at Boston in less and University of the general court of Massachusetts belongs the honor of granting the first American patent. This was in 1648 and was then designated as a monopoly. It was confined to the re-

"At a generall Courte at Boston the 6th of the 8th Mo 1648. The cor't consid'inge ye necessity of raising such manifactures of engins of mils to go by water for speedy dispatch of much worke with few hands, and being suffi-ciently informed of ye ability of ye pe-tition to peforme such workes grant et up or use any such new invention, r trade for 14 yeares wthout ye li-ense of him the said Joseph Jenkes) so farr as concernes any such new invention; & so it shall be alwayes in ye

This inventor, Joseph Jenkes, or Jenks, as it would now be spelled, came from Hammersmith. England, settled in Lynn in 1643 and died in 1682-83, aged 81. He was a blacksmith and machinist, made the dies for the colning of the "Pine Tree" money and built the first fire ergine in this country, altogether a man of great inventive genius and the ancestor of a large number of descendants. One of his sons removed to Rhode Island, where he built several mills.—Boston liam Dewar, the British scientist who was the first experimenter to liquefy air, is a remarkably absentminded man. It is said that on one occasion he left his home early one morning and repaired to the house of a friend, in which there was a fine library to which he had access. That afternoon his relatives and friends, searched the neighborhood in vain for him. At ength he was run down in this library.

were entertaining their friends, and among the guests was one whose con-tinued rudeness made him extremely objectionable to the rest of the con-

"Is this pig?"
This immediately drew forth the re-

They Were About to Make Broth of Their Attendant.

A celebrated Scotch physician tells a story of a madhouse doctor whose presence of mind alone saved his life:

"A great friend of mine was for a considerable time the medical superintendent

There are no expressive eyes. The expression of the eye is really in the lid. The eye itself, independent of its surroundings, has no more expression than has a glass marble. A prominent English oculist makes this daring statement, and he defends his position with emphasis. "The eyes have no expression whatever," he says. "How do you explain the fact that the eyes of one person are more expressive than those of another? I am asked. They are not. The difference consists in certain nervous contractions of the lids peculiar to the individual.

contractions or the los peculiar to the individual.

"Observe for yourself and you will see that I am right. We will say that I am greatly interested in something, and my attention is suddenly called from it by an unexpected interruption. My upper eyelid raises itself just a little, but the eye proper does not change an iota in appearance. If the interruption is but momentary, the elevation of the lid will be but momentary. If the surprise caused by the interruption is continued, the lid may be raised even a little more, and, in fact, the whole of the forehead, including the eyebrows, is raised and wrinin fact, the whole of the forehead, including the eyebrows, is raised and wrinkled. But the eye remains the same.

"When a person is excited, nuch the same emotions are gone through," continued the doctor. "His eyes are open wide, in cases of intense excitement, to their greatest extent, but the forehead is not wrinkled, and the ball of the eye is as expressive as a bit of glass. No more.

more.

"Observe the face of one who laughs. You will see that the lower eyelid has no muscle of its own, and it is only by the contraction of the adjacent muscles in smilling or laughing that it is made to move. That is the reason that there are many wrinkles about the eyes of merry persons.

many wrinkles about the eyes of merry persons.

"The expression of deep thoughtfulness is produced by the drooping of the upper lid. The lids of some persons fall so low that the pupil of the eye itself is the same. If the meditation is over a subject that worries the thinker, the expression is again quite different. The eyelids contract, and the eyebrows are lowered and drawn together. This is true of a reflective mood.

"As to emotional moods, there is the expression of anger, for instance. The

"As to emotional moods, there is the expression of anger, for instance. The eyes, instead of closing, are open wider than they are normally, but the brows are closely knit.

"In expressing sadness, the entire upper eyelid comes about half way down, and the folds of the skin collect there, giving the lid a thick, heavy appearance." —Pittsburg Dispatch.

A GAMBLING EXPERIENCE. The Wide Awake Captain Won by

The Wide Awake Captain Wom by Coppering the Colonel's Game.

"It isn't many men who have beaten a brace fare game," said an old steamboat captain, 'but I enjoyed that experience in Memphis one night, at the time gambling was wide open everywhere along the river. I was steered into the place by a pleasant spoken chap, who had scraped acquaintance at the hotel, and I saw immediately that I was against a lot of robbers. I realized, however, that I would probably get sandbagged if I raised a row, so I concluded to sit down at the fare table, lose a few dollars and then make some excuse to go out.

"I bought a stack of chips, and had just started to play when two new men came in, one of them evidently a 'capper' for the house and the other a drunken planter. From the significant glances of all hands it was plain that a rich prise had been landed, and as they made room for the poor dup's at the table, the dealer asked me very courteous; to cash in my chips and quit. You see, they was room for the poor dup's at the table, the dealer asked me very courteous; to cash in my chips and quit. You see, they was to derote their enhance, attention to plucking the planter, and the dealer gave as a reason that 'Colonei — was an old friend and liked to have the game to himself."

"That gave me my cue, and I told him pretty shortly that I intended to remain where I was. 'Oh, let him stay,' grunted the planter, good naturedly, and the chap behind the table, soowling like mad, resumed the deal. The drunken man slapped down $50 at a time, and I followed him with $5 a shot, playing opposite. In other words, when his bet was open mine was 'coppered,' and vice verse. It was impossible for them to win from him without losing to me, and I could hear the whole crowd gritting their teeth every time I gathered in the chips. They wanted my gore, sure, but didn't dare molest me for fear of alarming the planter.

"I kept it up until I had won about $100, and then I cashed in and sauntered planter.

"I kept it up until I had won about $100, and then I cashed in and sauntered out, leaving the victim at his game. I yearned to give him a tip, but that would have meant certain death. His presence and lack of suspicion were the only things that saved me. I never heard how much he lost."—New Orleans Timeszemocrat.

I love color and do enjoy all the delicate beauty of summer goods on that account; but when the purse is narrow the big book says very positively avoid trively actively. narrow the big book says very positively avoid strong colors in your gowns or jackets. Let the lovely touch of blue, or crimson, or rose, come in the knot at your throat, we the bit of silk in your vest, and so let people forget that you wore that same gown last year or maybe the year before. In this way they will only notice how becoming your special color is, and you will be as well off, both in the effect of your gown and in the opinion of your friends, as if you had been arrayed in something new from throat to hem.

Preparing Stuffed Eggs for the Table.

Put six eggs into lukewarm water, bring to boiling point and simmer gently for twenty minutes; remove the shells and cut the eggs into halves lengthwise; rub the yokes to a powder, adding gradually two tablespoonfuls of melted butter, half a teaspoonful of salt, a dash of pepper, and, if you like, a few drops of onion juice. Form into balls and put back into the whites. The seasoning may be changed by adding two or three mashed sardines to the yokes, or one or two anchovies, or you may add a tablespoonful of chopped tongue or ham.—Ladies' Home Journal. Preparing Stuffed Eggs for the Table

Judgment of the Court.

A wildly turbulent peasant was once a witness in a trial before Chief Baron O'Grady. The counsel, after pestering him for some time, put a question to him which reflected on the character of the witness.

"If ye ax me that again I'll give ye a kick on the jaw!" was the answer. The counsel appealed to the court, stating that an answer was necessary to his client's case, ending up with the query: "What would your Lordship advise me to do?"

"If you are resolved to repeat the question," replied the court, "I'd advise you to move a little from the witness."

Little Pete is a good boy as well as a boy of a great deal of originality in his "notions," but he has the serious fault of being extremely forgetful.

One day, after having gone on an errand and forgotten what he was sent for, he exclaimed bitterly, to his sister:

"You wish you were a snake?" said his sister, horrified.
"Yes, and a great long one—as much as six feet long."
"Why, what for, Pete?"
"So I could tie knots in myself to make me remember things!"

Coffee for the Inebriate A traveller has made the observa-tion that coffee-drinking people are very seldom given to drunkenness. In Brazil, for instance, where coffee break something"—and cheerfully invites the class to put "break" into a sentence without an object. A small girl ventures this, in perfect good faith: "I tried to break the glass, but couldn't," adding anxiously, "You see I didn't break the glass,"

To use Milton's expression, grammar is clearly "not a bow for every man to shoot in that counts himself a teacher."— Educational Times.

Every cough makes your throat mor your inroat more raw and irritable. Every cough congests the lining membrane of your lungs. Ceaset earing your throat and lungs in this way. Put the parts at rest and cive them a chance to give them a chance to heal. You will need some help to do this, and you will find it in

From the first dose the quiet and rest begin: the ickling in the throa ceases; the spasm weakens; the cough disappears. Do not wait for sumption but cut short your cold without delay. Dr. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral Plaster should be over the lungs of every person troubled with a cough

Write to the Doctor. s what your experience rith our Cherry Pectoral. seeive a prompt reply, wit

THE CENSOR.

Address, DR. J. C. AYER, Lowell, Ma

Hereafter people who

Paul Globe.

The people who saw Dreyfus' trunks being whisked about in all parts of the civilized world a few days ago seem to have joined the army of silent ones who used to see airships.—Chicago Times-Herald.

Herald.

The junction point of the two states,
Utah and Colorado, and the two territories of Arizona and New Mexico is almost the center of the wonderful archaeological treasures of this country.—
Salt Lake Tribune.

A good railway engine will trave whistle within the city limits on Sur as they disturb the worshipers at ch The number of persons employed by the railways of the United States is 874.558. This is an increase in a year

That Cough Hangs On

You have used allsorts of cough remedies but it does not yield; it is too deep seated. It may wear itself out in time, but it is more liable to produce la grippe, pneumonia or a serious throat affection. You need something that will give you strength and build up the body.

SCOTT'S EMULSION

will do this when everything else fails. There is no doubt about it. It nourishes, strengthens, builds up and makes the body strong and healthy, not only to throw off this hard cough, but to fortify the system against further attacks. If you are run down or emaciated you should certainly take this nourishing food medicine.

SCOTT & BOWNE, Chemists, Tor