"BAKER" Wind Engines

The "BAKER" Wind Engine is built for heavy duty. Neat and compact in design. Do perfect work because they are built on principles that are absolutely correct, and the easiest-running mill made.

The wheel is built on a hub revolved on a long stationary steel spindle. As a result there is less friction.

It has a large number of small sails without rivets. The small sails develop the full power of the wind.

The engine is so constructed that the gears cannot wear out of mesh.

Has ball-bearing turntable, and self-regulating device.

All working parts are covered with a cast shield, thus protecting same from ice and sleet.

We make a full line of steel towers, galvanized steel tanks, pumps, etc.

All goods fully guaranteed. Write for catalogue No. 58.

THE HELLER-ALLER CO. Windsor, Ontario.

Strong and Rigid

We make Peerless Gates to last a lifetime—and to look well and work right as long as they last. The frames of

Desk Weary? Get a Gun

From breakfast to the office and from the office back to supper, day after day—a monotonous grind. Get back to nature—back where the air is 100 per cent. pure and fairly reeks with health. Get away out where you can watch the sun rise over the marsh—where you can spend glorious, healthful hours punting slowly through the reeds in a bit of a flat boat for some shots at a bunch of fat mallards.

To reach Nature's wild things you must get where civilization isn't—and when you lose yourself in such a place with mind and eye constantly on the alert, and every muscle in play, you'll forget that you were ever in an office—you'll be nearer to the original man animal—nearer physical betterment and mental rest. This, a gun will do for you; and the best for solid satisfaction you can get is the

NO LEAK-NO RUST

STEEL TANKS V. WOODEN

The steel tank for water storage is as much superior to wooden tanks as modern steel farming implements are to the crossed sticks of our ancestors in early ages. Wooden tanks are unsanitary and liable to leak. Our steel tanks are all steel of the finest quality—self supporting—surrounded by an iron angle framework with braces added according to size of tank. The angle iron framework ensures absolute rigidity, and the braces added give the tank a strength four times in excess of any strain that may be applied.

Guaranteed for ten years but will last a lifetime. STEEL TANK CO., TWEED, ONT. AGENTS WANTED EVERYWHERE
