Friday.

Mr. Haliburton was the only candidate and h was accordingly declared to be duly elected.

Mr. Haliburton, in his speech of acknowledge ment, thanked the electors not only in his own name, but on behalf of 4 000 000 of British sub jects on the other side of the water, who at the present time had had one individual the House of Commons through whom they might be heard. Although he came there as Conservative, he did not wish to be considered a party man, but as the representative of all parties. He then referred to the impending uropean war, which he looked upon with th greatest anxiety, because he was afraid the efects of it would be felt across the Atlantic. H believed the Americans would not be adverse to taking advantage of war, and then Canada would be dragged into it without any means of defence. He would be an advocate for peace at

The indictment which should fully set forth each crime of the Austrian government in its sion of the dangers of the present time, and of dealings with the Italian people would exceed the collective rolls of the Alexandrian library in length. The thousands obliged to abandon home, friends, house and lands, and to save their lives by self banishment; the thousands who have died by the rope or bullet, without trial and without hearing, for offenses of which, elsewhere, law takes no cognizance; the multitude who starve yearly under the extortion of the Austrian tax-gathers, demanding the bulk of their difficult earnings; the households, without number, whose young men have been torn away to serve in the tar-off Carpathian region; all these are distressed witnesses to the enormity of the evil, which the Holy Alliance and the after advances of the Austrians, have fastened upon an helpless peo-

The number who, after the events of 1848, became bopeless fugitives from Italy is reckoned moderately at 50,000. At least 15,000 have perished miserably, upon the scaffold or kneeling before the muzzles of Austrian muskets, since the victory of Novara rendered the pretence of fear and insecurity an audacious false-hood. Delicate women have been dragged into the public squares, in sight of friends and strangers, bared to the waist, and lashed, until the subsequent application of ice could alone save the mangled flesh from mortification. The Papal Supremacy Examined. The Rev. gentleman evinces the strongest feelings of compassion for the dupes of the system of Popery, whilst uncompromising in his hostility to itself. He has a clear apprehennecessary to employ. He repudiates everything savouring of proscription, and would rely alone upon those weapons which are spiritual: " No seace with Rome. But we love to contemplate the war, and the resources to prosecute it which as Christians we enjoy. We want no other bond of alliance than the 'unity of the spirit and the bond of peace among ourselves.' We want no other instrument than the 'sword of the Spirit which is the word of God.' We want no other energy than that of which the prophet spoke: Not by might, nor by power, but by my Spirit, saith the Lord of hosts.' And we want no other nedium to bring it down, than that which the patriarch employed at Bethel, when he wrestled with the angel of the covenant and prevailed." The main subject of Mr. Wilson's lecture is the Papal Supremacy. He states the view which Popish writers give, exposes the fallacy of their
