FORD RUNNING
DOUBLE RACESeeking Double Candidacy
for Nomination to U. S.
Senate

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 27.—With the double race of Henry Ford for the Republican and Democratic senatorial nominations, the outstanding feature, Michigan polls opened this morning for the primary at which are to be chosen candidates for the November state, congressional and senatorial elements.

Indications of fair, cool weather promised a large vote on most sections of the lower and upper peninsula.

Unique in the annals of Michigan political history because one of the most prominent men of the state is seeking a double candidacy, another touch of the unusual is added by the refusal of Ford, and former Governor Charles, Osborne, William G. Simpson, and Truman, Newberry, his Republican opponents to conduct any appreciable active campaign for the nomination. Steadfastly through the days that followed his train annotation, where in Washington that he would be a candidate at the request of President Wilson, Ford has refused to conduct any personal campaign whatever. James W. E. Hains, Ford's sole Democratic rival, has conducted no active campaign.

Aside from the race for senator William Alden Smith's seat, interest in the primary stage, Governor Slocum, Republican, has no opposition for re-nomination. Edward Frensdorff and John W. Bailey are gubernatorial candidates on the Democratic ticket.

Verity's Victorious In
Baseball BurlesqueWalked Away With Farce
Game From Cordage
Last Night.

SCORE WAS 18-7.

Plowmakers Now Tied With Malleables For First Place.

Verity's tied things up with Pratt and Letchworth's last night, when they took a six-inning baseball burlesque from the Cordage by a score more like that of a tight cricket match, 18-7. That the Plowmakers would defeat their opponents was a foregone conclusion since Saturday last; only the severity of the defeat was uncertain, and there was no uncertainty about that after the first inning had been played. The Plowmakers' aggression made a wretched showing against the Malleables last Saturday, but they looked like stellar performers against the tail-enders last night. Kitchen, who was in the box for the Cordage, had everything except speed, curves, control, a cool head and fielding ability, and the Plowmakers did not maul his offerings any more than the Kaiser would be mauled if he found his way into the Allied trenches. Walsh replaced Kitchen in the fourth inning, but Verity's had tasted blood by then; more, they had wallowed in it, and any old twirler looked the same to them. This they proved by knocking Walsh for a total of eleven runs in three innings, just like that. They didn't Hooverize on base hits either, grabbing one for each run scored. Dobby, Lyle umpired behind the plate, and was in hot water continually, while Jack Kelly, the league president, guessed them on the bases and provided to everyone's entire satisfaction that as an umpire he's a damned good one. The fans who occupied the stands had more than a few good laughs throughout the game.

Pratt and Letchworth's play the Motor Trucks Thursday night, and in order to cop the championship must win the game. They are now tied with Verity's, and at the rate the muniton men have been progressing lately, will have to go some to annex the needed victory. It'll be a battle royal, let's tell the world. Sporting
Comment

It is understood that the major league club owners will get together in the near future to consider what will be done with long-term ironclad contracts held by players who are not amenable to the "work or fight" order until the new draft law goes into effect. These contracts call for salary up to and including October 15. The pennant races will end on September 2, after which all but the Cubs and Red Sox will close their parks.

The players who are under and over the present draft axes have notified their employers that they will claim salaries up to October 15, and that if they are not paid, lawsuits will follow. It is said that a bout $100,000 is involved, and that the magnates are in a quandary.

Benny Kauff's entrance into the army and his absence from the ranks of the Giants before he succeeded in obtaining the fortune which he is at present enjoying did not serve to lessen his popularity with fans all over the country. In fact, he is, if anything, more popular to-day than he ever was before.

Baseball playing is to become a regular part of the physical training of the French army, as a result of reports made by French officers on what they had seen of the effects of baseball on the American army. The reports led the ministry of war to issue an order recom-

CLYMER IS SIGNED UP

He Will Replace McGraw if John Takes a Ball Team to France.

No attempt will be made to reopen the American league parks next year. Even if it should be possible to use players exempt in the next draft, President Johnson would be sustained in his determination to keep the gates closed until the war is over. Johnson contends that the government doesn't favor professional baseball in any form, and that an effort to keep the sport alive under limited conditions would not meet with popular favor.

It is pointed out that baseball was attracting the usual patronage until Secretary Baker declared the sport "non-essential" throughout the attendance figures began to decrease until at present many of the ball parks are practically empty. In short, Johnson has arrived at the conclusion that baseball will amount to nothing unless the government's attitude is changed, which is entirely out of the question. The National league, too, will suspend operations until peace is restored.

Although there will be no major league baseball next year, the magnates must keep on paying rent and debts. The former Federal league backers have claims of nearly $60,000 that must be settled in 1919. The owners of the Giants will have to pay $80,000 for the Polo grounds in rent and taxes, together with overhead charges on the plant. The Brooklyn club has some $10,000 to meet, also the interest on several mortgages. The Phillies will be required to pay a year's rent to Charles Webb Murphy.

The owners of the Red Sox, Braves, Browns and Cardinals, also will be compelled to settle heavy obligations. "All of the other clubs will be pursued by cold-blooded landlords. It is estimated that within the next twelve months the big leagues will hand over nearly $700,000 to their creditors, with nothing coming in at the box office.

It is announced that arrangements have been completed to take an all-star baseball team from the United States under the supervision of John J. McGraw to play through a season at the American centers in France against a team selected from former league players now in the army, under the management of "Hank" Gowdy.

Collier has been awarded the cross of the Legion of Honor, a reward rarely given to anyone but a commanding officer.

Collier was in command of a tank manned by fifteen Americans in the recent fighting in the Marne salient. A shell struck the tank and rendered it useless. The men then advanced on foot. Collier discovered the Germans ambushed in a cave. He kept guard at the entrance for an hour and then a German appeared with a white flag. Behind the first one came the rest of the 700, one by one. The Germans threw down their arms before Collier and marched to the rear at his direction.

Gowdy. "Johnny" Evers, who recently arrived in Paris, has come to an agreement on the subject with Collier. The games will be played for the entertainment of American wounded. Like many other men in baseball McGraw has felt the smallness of ball playing during war times and has had a desire to put his hand to something that would be useful to the men abroad. In fact, the New York club already has made provision to fill McGraw's place on the team in the event that baseball would be played next year by signing a tentative agreement with Billy Clymer, the former Louisville manager, who has made a big success of managing minor league teams. If McGraw leaves this fall he will hardly get to France in time to do much playing this year, which means that he intends to spend the winter in Paris and direct baseball affairs in France next summer.
