Grave anxiety is felt throughout the ountry as to the safety of the fence boundary. There seems reason to believe that it did not survive the terrible storm of a few days ago and uneasiness seems to pervade the whole city. No messages have yet been recived, but all, and our aforementioned contemporary in particular, will await early news with grave anxiety.

A report is current that eight vessels were lost at Catalina, and it is anticipated that when complete returns come in from North that numerous marine disasters and damage to shore property will be made known. Mr. R. G. Rendell received a mes sage this morning stating that the schooner Mabel B. was a total loss at Deer Island, and that the schooner Mary Joan had been wrecked at Keels, B.B. It is thought that both vessels had their supplies landed. Salvage is reported as swept, and one man, named Dyke, had all his stores and fishing premises carried away. A message to the Deputy Ministe of Customs from Catalina reports the loss of the schooner Earl Grey outside Norman's Cove. and also the schooner "Standard Cull", owned by the Union Trading Co. This latter vessel was fully insured and is a total loss. It is not known if she had cargo on board, but she had just returned from North with a freight of fish. The chase by Capt. IN LOVING MEMORY We parted with you here;

VERSES Composed by Chratina Gardner, in Memory of Michaa Kearsey, Drown-ed off Englee Harar, Oct. 24, 1920: As in the moon-lit field I roam

With beauty all around; with fish cargo. My heart, in sorrow, mourns a friend So swiftly stricken down: A life so strong and vigorous, A friend whom I loved well Down on the ocean's muddy bed.
Is lying, cold and still.

So full of laughter gay; voice that still rings in my ears With its cheerful repartee; form so tall and manly, A step of careless grace Soth step and form and voice Are now from earth effaced. -CHRISTINA GARDNER
