Moraid's Lair Grounds.

CHICAGO, Aug. 24.—Joseph J. Magrady, a member of the Board of Education, was driving near the World's Fair grounds when he was stopped by a highwayman, who, with a levelled revolver, demanded his money. Magrady whipped up his horse to escape. The robber aimed at the flying horse and shot and killed the animal. Magrady jumped out of his trap and ran, but the robber sent one bullet whistling past the fugitive's ear and he quickly stopped. He then raised his hands and the thief took $150 and a gold watch. Relieved to Have Been 125 Years Old, Believed to Have Been 125 Years Old, THOMASVILLE, Ga., Aug. 23.—The oldest woman in Georgia died at the poorhouse on Sunday morning. It will sound like fiction to state Aunt Peggy Slater's age, but all her acquaintances and her old master say that her age was 125. Aunt Peggy did not date events from the civil war, as many do, but from the revolution. Aunt Peggy had outlived all her children except one, and there were quite a number of them. The one living is in her 97th year.

The freedom of which workingmen in any country may boast is a shadow. They are slaves too frequently when they know it not. Few men fully realize their subordistors and their subordists.
