An Awful Case.

The attention of Mr. Sanders, of the Children's Aid Society, was called on Wednesday to the most degraded conditions existing in a home in the centre of the city. The home was occupied by a father and two young girls, who were the nightly witnesses of orgies of the most debasing character, and in addition the girls were most brutally treated by their father. The conditions were so bad that the step-mother of the two girls had been compelled to leave the home some time before, taking with her her two children. The character of the man aroused the ire of the neighbors against him. Mr. Sanders visited the place and found the conditions were as described, and as a result he permitted the children to be taken away and cared for by neighbors who had offered to care for them. He also established conditions that it is expected will cause a great improvement.
