Hero worship ran riot to such an extent that traffic in the Strand was completely blocked. Horses were unharnessed, and perspiring French admirers dragged their hero's carriages to an hotel, followed by an immense crowd that cheered most of the way. Carpentier was compelled to show himself on the balcony of the hôtel where he received another vociferous ovation.

Hands in Good Shape.

When seen later, Carpentier said:
"It is a wonderful, magnificent reception. I shall never forget it. I believe that it will be a hard fight. I have heard and been warned of Gunboat Smith's terrible punch, but I can take punishment. My hands are in better condition than when I met Wells; so I can hit harder, and I am doing all I know how to win."

so I can hit harder, and I am doing all I know how to win."

It is expected that 20,000 persons will witness the fight, which arouses just as much attention here as though an Englishman were engaged. Extravagant prices are being offered for seats. Smith has been splendldly trained and looks to be in perfect condition, and as hard as nails. He ridicules the idea that the Frenchman has a punch heavy enough to bring the fight to a summary conclusion.

No Record In History of Ring Can Equal That of Carpentier

Carpentier owns the distinction of being the youngest fighter ever matched for a bona-fide world's championship bout, being 20 years old last January. Sullivan was 24 when he beat Paddy Hyan; Corbett was 26 when he wore down that bloated hulk, John L.; Fitzsimmons was 34 at the time he landed the famous solar plexus blow on Corbett, at Carson City; Jeffries was 24 when he crashed through Fitzsimmons' middleweight guard for a knockout in the eleventh round at Coney Island: Marvin Hart was 26 when the retiring Jeff-for a $1,000 bonus-crowned him with the championship laurels for beating Jack Root: Tommy Burns was 25 when he trapped the Ill-conditioned Hart Into a battle at Los Angeles, and won in 20 rounds: and Jack Johnson was 25 years of age when, after a chase all around the world, he finally cornered the title-holder and stopped him in 14 rounds.

Even if Carpentier is beaten by Smith, or later by Johnson, he will own a record that is without parallel in the history of the ring -and he's a Frenchman, too!
