REPEL ATTACK OF "PHANTOM" CORPS

C. and D. Companies of 33rd Successfully Carry Out Outpost Duty.

DUG THEMSELVES IN

Under Capt. Ashplant, Went Through the Scheme Well.

The outpost scheme of the 33rd Battalion last night passed off without a hitch, and only words of praise are forthcoming today from the officers who had charge of the men and the staff officers who reviewed the work done by those who engaged in the manoeuvres on Merwin Heights. A phantom brigade of infantry marched south from Brynston and halted for the night a mile and a half north of Merwin Heights. The 33rd Overseas Battalion, C. E. F., was detailed for outpost duty, and occupied a frontage extending from the Asylum side road on the left to Adelaide street on the right. The O.C., after looking over the ground, allotted to C and D companies a section of the outpost position extending from the eastern boundary, Merwin Heights training area on the left to Ljwood street on the right. The O.C. placed his troops in position, and forwarded to the General Staff Officer a sketch showing their position.

Capt. Ashplant in Command. The two companies detailed for the important duties of last night acquitted themselves well. They moved out and dug themselves in to cover their front against the expected attack. The entrenchments were well constructed, and the concealment and choice of location good. The men entered into the spirit of the work, and did the same work they would have been doing in like circumstances if they had been in the front. It was practically impossible for anyone to get across the heights without being held up in the night. Capt. Ashplant was in charge of the two companies and handled his men well.

Great Work of Soup Kitchen. The soup kitchen presented yesterday by the ladies of Huron County did its first field service last night. Soup and hot roast potatoes were given out until midnight, and they were thoroughly enjoyed. The divisional staff officers who visited the bivouac enjoyed the work with soup and the men. Captain Peacock, chaplain of the 33rd, stayed with the soup kitchen until daylight and saw to it that all the men received a good supply of nutriment.

REVENTLOW REAPPEARS WITH CONDEMNATION OF PRESIDENT WILSON

Tages Zeitung's Suspension Lifted and Paper is at It Again.

[Canadian Press.] Berlin, June 24, via London.—The Tages Zeitung, the publication of which was suspended last Monday by the German authorities, reappeared today. The suspension order against this paper was issued, according to the general understanding, because of an article on the American note to Germany unfriendly in its tone to the United States.

The first issue of the Tages Zeitung to appear since its suspension contains another article by Count Von Reventlow, whose previous statements on German-American relations are supposed to have incurred the displeasure of the German authorities.

Count Von Reventlow makes a covert attack upon President Wilson in connection with reports that a peace conference is to be held in Switzerland.

Down On Wilson. After mentioning these reports, the count says: "Meanwhile President Wilson has closed the Panama Canal to shipping trade, in order that the transportation of ammunition and other war materials from eastern harbors of the U. S. to Vladivostok, for the increasing Russian fighting strength, shall not suffer interruption. And over the Atlantic at the same time are voyaging from the United States floating arsenals and ammunition depots, in order that the crisis for help from Great Britain and France shall be silenced as soon as possible. And again, at the same time, President Wilson demands that a sure and unimpeded journey be guaranteed these floating arsenals."

HOFFMAN-LAIRD. ESSEX, June 23.—The marriage of Miss Geraldine S., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James S. Laird, and R. C. Hoffman of Pakenham, took place at the home of the bride's parents on Wednesday evening at 6:30. Rev. John Crawford performed the ceremony. Just before the ceremony Miss Mary A. C. Auld sang "Love's Coronation." The bride entered the drawing-room, leaning on the arm of her father. Miss Mildred Richardson played the wedding march. The couple were unattended, except for Miss Agnes Bowke, ringbearer. The bride's gown was white satin, with net overdress trimmed with seed pearls and lace, the bridal veil being caught with orange blossoms. During the signing of the register, Mr. (Dr.) Young of Walkerville sang "Because." The bride's travelling gown was of pongee silk, with Leghorn hat. Mr. and Mrs. Hoffman left for Detroit by auto, thence to Ottawa and other points east. The out-of-town guests were Miss A. Johnston, Mrs. A. T. Wagner, Mrs. A. Hobson, Dr. and Mrs. A. E. Naylor, of Detroit; G. S. Hanes and wife of Vancouver; Miss Ruth Bradt of Bucyrus, Ohio; H. Hoffman of Canfield, Dr. and Mrs. Young of Walkerville, Dr. and Mrs. Hubble of Detroit.

In the assault at arms put on last year members of the battalion, who were then in Guelph, received something of the neighborhood of $550. 34TH WINS FIRST DRILL CONTEST

Picked Team Defeats That of 33rd in Shield Competition.

LOSERS CHEER WINNERS

Good Spirit Prevails and the Defeated Regiment Declares It Will Win Next One.

The first of the inter-battalion competitions took place yesterday afternoon at the camp, and the 34th men were defeated by the men of the 33rd. Fifty picked men from one company in each battalion met and contested with a like number from the other battalion, and the judges took into consideration dress, discipline and drill in arriving at their decision. The men of the 34th, under Capt. Spratt, were the winners. The 33rd men proved themselves good sports and cheered the victors well.

There will be five competitions, and the battalion winning the majority of these will receive a shield which has been put up by the officers of the 33rd and 34th. Each battalion must have an entirely new squad each week. The competition consists of rifle exercises, bayonet exercises, physical drill, preliminary skirmishing and squad drill.

The men display the greatest interest in the competitions, and the 33rd boys state that next week they will give the men of the 34th a good run for their money.

MEN PRETEND DEAD

But When Germans Come To See Are Met With Bayonet—Strategy Brings Prease.

An old Hun officer and a particular personal friend of Lieut.-Col. Wilson, commander of the 33rd, has been making a name for himself at the front. The officer is Lieut. Hodgson, and in a recent letter to Lieut.-Col. Wilson, tells of a joke, though a rather grim one, played on the enemy in France. Lieut. Hodgson is in command of the 1st Platoon of the 1st Battalion, and has been through some pretty hot engagements recently. One day he was engaged in a battle with the enemy when he found the enemy was a terrible bombardment, he gave the command for all the men to lie on their bellies. They did this, and the firing ceased almost immediately. Even the Germans, they thought the platoon had been wiped out, but when the Germans came into the midst of the "dead" Canadians, they found them very much alive. They jumped to their feet, bayoneted many Huns, and captured more. For the strategy Lieut. Hodgson came in for high honors of praise from his brother officers.

THE DIARY OF MARS

The fall of Lemberg is being followed, according to Berlin advices, by a general Russian retreat over a wide front. In the Lemberg district the victorious Austro-German armies are said to be driving the Russians eastward, while to the west the armies of Emperor Nicholas are falling back from the northwest of Przemysl, near the Russian border, and as far north as the district of Kiclov, in Russian Poland, about 100 miles south of Warsaw.

The Berlin dispatch says the Russians near Lemberg kept up their resistance to the last, their line being cut in the north and finally in the centre, before the city.

Hostilities are continuing with varying degrees of intensity along the whole Italian front. An official communication from Rome states that Austrian attacks at several points were repulsed. The report mentions no further advances by the Italians, except for one small gain, were saved.
