

Miss Marion Stodart Weds Mr. Edward Roland White

Pretty Nuptials Are Solemnized in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church This Morning.

An interesting wedding took place this morning at 11:30 at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, when Marion Nelson Stodart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Stodart of Honolulu, was married to Edward Roland White, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. White, Rev. D. C. MacGregor performing the ceremony.

As Lohengrin's bridal chorus was played by Mr. C. E. Wheeler, the bride entered the church with Mrs. Harold White, wearing a graceful gown of French blue georgette, heavily beaded, with a smart black tulle velvet hat, and carrying an arm bouquet of roses and lily of the valley.

Mr. and Mrs. White left later by motor on a honeymoon which will be spent in New York. The bride traveled in a smart, brown suit, with a small, brown hat to match. Upon their return they will reside in the Pocock Apartments, Princess avenue.

ALD. WATT CHANGES STAND ON CITY HALL

He Also Believes Whole Matter Should Go Back to Vote of Citizens.

"Et Tu Brute."

Ald. Peter J. Watt, sometime acting mayor at frequent intervals during the current term, announced quite definitely at noon today that "Mayor Wenige could not 'bulldoze' the city council."

Mr. Watt was referring to the city hall question and the activities of Mayor Wenige and his colleagues during the recent session of the committee, when it was recommended that the people be asked to vote to sanction another $200,000 debt issue for that purpose.

The new city hall will cost in the neighborhood of $1,000,000, and not $600,000, Ald. Watt opined today, pointing out that no provision has yet been made for the necessary calculations for the necessary fittings and interior decorations, etc.

It is his contention that the people should be asked for more than $400,000 this year, double the amount proposed by Mayor Wenige. It will be necessary to have this money on hand, he asserts, but that it can be paid back after certain Federal Square sites have been sold, when it is definitely established that a new city hall is actually about to be commenced.

Ald. Watt reminded today that he had been very loyal to Mayor Wenige since the first of the year in his consistent support of the city hall project, but insisted that the mayor was "bulldozing" the council in his operative measures. "He can't 'bulldoze' the council," he stated, decisively.

ONE LONE SPEEDER. Business was poor in police court today as far as the motor vehicle act was concerned, one lone speeder being fined $5 and costs.

ENGAGEMENTS. A charge of 75 cents for one insertion, or $1 for two insertions is made for notices under this heading.

Orders for insertion of engagement notices must bear the name and address of sender and will not be taken over the telephone.

Mr. and Mrs. George Weston of St. Marys, Ont., announce the engagement of their daughter Vera Maude to John Grenville McBain, only son of Mr. and Mrs. D. McBain, Mount Brydges, Ont., the marriage to take place the latter part of October.

'PADDY' TRIUMPHS IN VERBAL FRAY WITH MAGISTRATE

League of Nations Represented in "Drunks" Line-Up at Police Court.

IRISHMAN'S ALIBI

Ireland, Scotland, Canada and Greece were all represented by drunks in police court today. Magistrate Graydon treated all members of the "league of nations" alike, each man being fined $10 and costs. Canada and Greece will likely spend the next ten days in jail, while the canny Scot and "Paddy" from the emerald isle had enough of the long green to save themselves from a stretch at the county jail, where Sid Murrell and "Slim" Williams are the star boarders.

The Canadian and Greek end of the "foursome" were speedily disposed of by the court, but Scotland and Ireland came in for a "panning" as they were both old customers at Chief Birrell's Carling street bar.

The gentleman who hails from the land where the "best" is manufactured, admitted he was an Irishman, but had been working on the highway, but came to London for a little entertainment. He got it all right, in company with his Irish friend, who was parked next him in the prisoners' box.

"I'm sorry to see you back again," said Magistrate Graydon.

The prisoner subscribed to these sentiments by stating he was sorry too.

"If you come back again, you will go to jail for three months," promised the court. "You'd better stay on the job, and not loaf around town. Ten dollars and costs this time."

Casey at Bat.

After the gentleman with the "burr" in his voice had slid back into his seat, Ireland arose ready to do verbal battle with the magistrate.

"Here you are again, charged with being intoxicated," declared the court, firing the first gun of the skirmish.

"It's been over a month since I've been here," explained Mr. Irish.

"I was at the Watford races, and I just came into town and had a few drinks. I can pay my fine. I've been working, yer honor. I'll give you a check on the bank an' everything. The winter's comin' on, and I've got a good job. I wouldn't be here but well, give me one more chance."

"How many chances have I given you now?" demanded the court, who was slow recovering from the verbal barrage. "About 100, I think."

Paddy left this observation pass, and proceeded to throw a convulsion into the court by stating, "If I hadn't come to town I wouldn't be here."

"Stop talking for a minute, please," requested Mr. Graydon, after fully digesting Paddy's last remark. "I'm afraid I'll have to send you down for two months."

Ireland Triumphs.

Ireland's colors were swept in the dust for a moment, but the flag soon went back to full mast as the emerald representative lunched his last and most successful sortie against the court ramparts.

"I wouldn't have been there if I could run," declared the prisoner. "My friend here sez 'Here they come; beat it.' How could I beat it with my feet like this?"

The logic of this seemed to be unanswerable to the court, and he produced a beam of sunshiny joy on the Irish face by declaring, "I'll make it $10 this time."

"Thank you, yer honor," smiled Ireland, and he was still grinning when the court clerk called out that he was escorted to the cells below.

Mothers and Their Children

One mother says:

I believe it makes children selfish to feel that mother is always at their beck and call; that her time is theirs, and that she is in my room. I have therefore trained my child to have afternoons from my many household duties for myself, to read books that rest my mind, or to challenge ideas, or to read books on the "business of being a mother."

Just as any business man reads his journals, the children understand that I am to be disturbed only for something extremely important, and they actually take in "standing guard" when I am in my room. It increases their respect for me as an individual, and keeps me from falling into a rut on my "job."

ST. THOMAS BOYS APPEAR IN COURT FOR AUTO THEFTS

Lads With Mania For Stealing Cars Remanded by the Magistrate.

GOOD REPUTATIONS

John W. Lewis and Floyd Lee, the two St. Thomas youths, who pleaded guilty a week ago in London police court to attempting to steal an automobile parked on Dufferin avenue, near Picton street, on Oct. 7, pleaded guilty this morning to stealing the car of Wm. Heaman from in front of Dundas Centre Methodist Church on Sept. 20. They are also charged with stealing a car in St. Thomas three weeks ago owned by W. F. Thomas of that city.

The lads were represented today by Andrew Grant and A. A. Ingram of St. Thomas, who made strenuous efforts to have the boys let go on suspended sentence, stating that they still had the St. Thomas case to answer to and would likely be sentenced there. After listening to all arguments by counsel, Magistrate Graydon adjourned the case another week to give St. Thomas lawyers a chance to petition the attorney-general and the crown attorney in the meantime.

"Lee is a student at St. Thomas Collegiate," said Mr. Grant. "His teachers give him a good reputation. His father and mother are respectable people, and I can't think why the boy should do such things. The Heaman car was found near St. Thomas, and it was not damaged. There is another charge hanging over the boys in St. Thomas, and I ask your worship for suspended sentence on the charges here."

"There can't be suspended sentence in this type of case," interjected Magistrate Graydon. "There has not been a case of this type here that the sentence has been less than a year. It is very distressing, but the act explicitly was the property. Personally, I would be relieved if the matter was transferred to St. Thomas."

"The boys are not really thieves. They seem to have gotten in wrong," said Mr. Grant.

"Now we find that there are two other charges against them," replied Mr. Graydon. "The St. Thomas man's car was damaged to the extent of $200, I believe. It looks as if it were a habit with these boys. The minimum penalty is one year, and the maximum two years. I can't deviate from that course."

Mr. Ingram suggested that the whole case be put before the attorney-general and a ruling asked for.

The magistrate agreed to this, stating that some suggestion must be forthcoming from the attorney-general.

"That is quite fair," declared Mr. Ingram.

"The father of Lee is quite a worthy man," said the court. "I was greatly impressed with what he had to say last week."

"Supposing I get into touch with Mr. Graydon," suggested Mr. Grant.

"Perfectly all right," replied Mr. Graydon. "But I don't think any further suggestion is needed. I have discussed this section at some length."

HOPES TO GET SEWER IN INDUSTRIAL AREA

Mayor Wenige Certain That This Question Will Again Come Before Council.

The proposal to construct a sewer for London's industrial area, is by no means dead, according to Mayor Wenige, who assures that the question will again come before the council.

His worship says that he is going to make another attempt to have this issue reopened for another consideration, with two-thirds vote of the council. This may now be possible, owing to the fact that Ald. Collett, who was out of the city at the last session of council, has now returned.

The mayor may open the attack tonight again although he claims that such action would be legal at any time before the end of the year. It is understood also that two of the aldermen who have opposed the sewer, would withdraw their objection if the bylaw would be amended to "provide for construction whenever needed, not before."

HORSES AND CALF DIE AS BARN IS BURNED

Special to The Advertiser.

Chatham, Oct. 14.—Four horses, a calf, the season's crop and a number of implements were consumed in a blaze which destroyed the barns and buildings on the farm of John Jenkins, concession 14, the Prince Albert road, Chatham Township, early Saturday morning. The cause of the fire is a mystery. The flames had made considerable headway before the alarm was given, and it was impossible to rescue the stock.

CANADA'S TRAIN IN FRANCE BRINGING TRADE INQUIRIES

Special to The Advertiser.

Brantford, Oct. 14.—No less than fifty-four trade inquiries from all parts of France were made here yesterday at the Chamber of Commerce, as a result of the "Made-In-Canada" train now touring France.

The Chamber of Commerce has acted as a clearing house for such inquiries, passing them on to interested firms, but yesterday's requests set a record. These requests include everything from stockings to cement mixers.

DOCTORS AT BELLE RIVER BATTLE WITH DIPHTHERIA

Special to The Advertiser.

Windsor, Oct. 14.—With the discovery of eighty cases of diphtheria among school children in the Belle River district, local health authorities have commenced a fight to keep the infection away from the schools. Dr. C. Trotter, medical officer of health for Belle River, has sent an order to the provincial health department for 1,000,000 units of anti-toxin, the largest order ever placed, it is believed. In one large Windsor school a number of cases of disease have already developed.

STATES CATHOLIC CHURCH INFALLIBLE IN FAITH, MORALS

Rev. Father Francis Powell, C.S.B., Addresses the St. Mary's Congregation.

EXPLAINS DOCTRINE

"No doctrine of the Catholic Church is so misunderstood, so assailed, or so easy to understand, as that of infallibility," Rev. Father Francis Powell, C. S. B., told the congregation at St. Mary's Church Sunday morning.

"The Church is infallible when it teaches faith and morals," Father Powell declared. "But its infallibility is restricted to these two. The Church is not infallible on every subject conceived by human brain."

"The son of God came to earth to save the kingdom of His father," he continued. "The power He received from His father He bestowed in the Church to carry out the mission of the apostles: 'Teach ye all nations whatsoever I have commanded, and behold I am with you all days, even to the consummation of the world.'"

"If the instructions being given by the Church are leading men into error and from the path of truth, it stands to reason that this promise of Jesus Christ would not be fulfilled. If fulfilled, in such a case it would not only mean that our blessed Lord would deliberately lead us astray. But its fulfillment shows that the Church is infallible in its teachings of faith and morals."

"When the bishops of the world and the pope, or his representative, at a conference, conference, or certain doctrine, and legislating that that doctrine must be believed by the faithful, they decide that conduct must be conformable to the principles, the Church is then infallible."

"The pope alone, without calling in the bishops of the world, is infallible in his teaching through the promise of our Lord made to Peter. 'Thou art Peter, or a rock, and upon this rock I will build my Church, and I will give to thee the keys of the kingdom of heaven. Feed my lambs. Feed my sheep.'"

Neither the pope nor the bishops are infallible in matters foreign to faith and morals. The Church does not intend to legislate in chemistry, physics or mathematics. But if chemists, physicists or mathematicians overstep the bounds of their respective subjects to the point of infringing upon the faith and morals of the Church, then the Church can legislate and is infallible in detecting the error."

Father Powell pointed out that the misconception of what infallibility really means is also very prevalent. It is very often connected with impracticability, he stated.

"The Church does not claim that the pope or the bishops are incapable of sin," Father Powell asserted.

PLANS APPROVED AS SCHOOL HALF BUILT

Provincial Officials Not in a Hurry to "O. K." Technical School Addition.

Although the six-room addition to the Technical School has been under way for some time and the work of pouring the third floor is now being completed, word was just received this morning from the department of education that the plans had been approved.

The letter, which was received by Secretary W. A. Tanner, stated that the department experts had checked over the drawings and found everything as it should be. A request was made that the estimated cost, together with a list of occasional fees, etc., be sent to the department.

Principal H. B. Beal of the Technical School expressed himself as being very well satisfied with the way the work was progressing and hopes that it will be completed by the beginning of the year.

While the addition at present being erected will relieve, to a great extent, the crowding in the classrooms, the big need will still be a gymnasium and auditorium. The students at this school have absolutely no playing space and no rooms where concerts or meetings of the "Lit" can be held.

Mr. Beal expects that the matter will be taken up by the 1924 board, and that something will be done next year, if no provision is made in this year's estimates, which are at present being compiled. The matter may be discussed at the meeting of No. 3 committee this afternoon, or at the next meeting of the board, or at the advisory committee, prior to the next meeting of the board.

M'GLONE'S RECOVERY DELAYED BY BULLET

Surgeons Report He Will Be Unable To Leave Hospital For Several Weeks.

Hiram McGlone, 314 Thames street, who has been in Victoria Hospital for two weeks suffering from gunshot wounds about the head, has been unable to leave the hospital since he was shot by Alfred Morden on the Wellington road, Westminster Township, on October 2. He will be in no condition to leave the hospital this week, his physicians report today.

McGlone was shot by Morden when, along with three other young men, he was hunting mushrooms on Morden's property. Morden was arrested shortly after the shooting, but was allowed to go on $5,000 bail. The case was supposed to be in court this week, providing McGlone was fit to leave hospital.

Hospital authorities reported this morning that he was not recovering as rapidly as had been expected and that a slight infection to one of his wounds would keep him in bed for several weeks. Although he underwent an operation immediately upon his arrival at the hospital, only one small piece of shot was removed from the wounds. His physician told The Advertiser another bullet remains and it was impossible to tell whether this can be taken out or not.
