FARM FOR SALE.

THE Subscriber intending to quit the Province in a short time, offers for sale his FARM, STOCK, FURNITURE, &c.

as it now stands, situated on the West River of Pictou, seven miles from town, on the road leading to Halifax, and intersected by the roads leading from Rogers Hill, Loch Broom, Albion Mines, Green Hill, &c. all of which meet on the property; the new bridge on the river crosses at the door,—forming one of the most desirable situations for business to be found in the county, with every prospect of its soon becoming a thriving village. Three sides of the property front the roads, which will cause it to be highly valuable hereafter, should the possessor wish to dispose of any part of it in Lots. The land is of first quality, well watered, and lying dry; it abounds in freestone of good quality for building, and a sufficiency of wood for fencing, &c.

For further particulars apply to Mr N. Beck, in Pictou, or to ALEXANDER FORSYTH, West River, December 20th, 1836. tf

GREAT BRITAIN.

[From Papers received by the August Packet.]

LONDON, July 22.

On Thursday the Queen had to undergo the fatigue of her first Drawing-room. Here the ladies figured in all their finery. There was not elbow-room for half the company; and many were the shrieks and cries for air, space and mercy, from squeezing dowagers and damsels of rank and fashion. Nine columns of the Post are occupied with the account of the presentations, the Ladies' dresses, &c. At the Levee and at the drawing-room, every body was charmed with the Queen, her elegant dress, her pleasing countenance, her affable yet dignified demeanour, attracted universal admiration.—Spectator.

DESTITUTION IN THE HIGHLANDS.—We are authorized to state that, after consultation between the several committees for relieving the existing destitution in the Highlands and Islands of Scotland, and after due deliberation upon the amount of the funds at their disposal—upon the extent of the destitution, and the period which may elapse before the crops become available—having respect also to the aid which may now, it is understood, be derived in some districts from fish—the cheering prospect which there presently exists of an abundant harvest—and the great distress in many of the manufacturing districts—these committees feel that, under all these circumstances, they would not be justified in longer pressing the claims of the destitute Highlanders and Islanders on the public attention—hoping that the fund collected will, under Providence, be sufficient for affording the requisite relief. The committees in Scotland, in making public this resolution, desire to record the deep sense they entertain of the noble and generous liberality with which the English public have come forward in this cause, no less than of the aid received from the sister island of Ireland, and especially how much they owe to the general committee in London, for the unwearied zeal and energy with which they have laboured in the cause—a zeal, indeed, which they are gratified to have found to be alike characteristic of similar committees every where else. As soon as the distribution is completed, a full statement of the funds received, and of their application, will be made public.

DESCENT OF HER PRESENT MAJESTY.—Edward, Duke of Kent, the illustrious parent of Her Majesty, who died on the 23d of January, 1820, was in his person tall and athletic; his appearance dignified, his deportment affable, and his bravery chivalrous. He served during the years 1790 and 1791 as Colonel, under General O'Hara at Gibraltar. On quitting Gibraltar he was sent out as commander of the forces in Canada. In 1794 he received orders to join the expedition under Sir Charles Grey, against the French West India Islands; and during the campaign that ensued, his impetuous bravery procured him the general admiration of his companions in arms. He headed the flank division at the storming of several strong and important forts in Martinique and Guadaloupe, and so brilliant were its exploits, that the "Flank Corps" became a standing toast, as well at the Admiral's table, as that of the Commander-in-Chief. The course he pursued in politics, was invariably tolerant, liberal, and conciliatory. Towards the latter part of his life, he had become exceedingly popular, and his death was deeply regretted by the nation.

Her present Majesty, on her mother's side is descended from John Frederick, surnamed the magnanimous, elector of Saxony. Having taken arms against the Emperor Charles V. and fallen after the disastrous battle of
