STEAM COMMUNICATION BETWEEN GLASCOW AND THE UNITED STATES.—We understand that Messrs. Tod and McGregor, the engineers and iron ship builders, are about McGregor, the engineers and iron ship builders, are about to build a large iron steamer, of sixteen hundred tons, for the trade between Glasgow and New-York. She is to be screw-propelled, with engines of 350 horses' power, and will be fitted up to carry about 50 cabin, about 400 intermediate, and several hundred steerage passengers, in addition to about 1000 tons of dry goods. It is calculated she will effect the voyage in about four days longer than is occupied by the full power paddle-wheel mail steamers; is occupied by the full power paddle-wheel mail steamers; but the greatly diminished cost of working, and the increased accommodation, will enable this steamer to reduce the rates of passage and freight; whilst for all practical purposes, the slightly prolonged duration the voyage will be of a comparatively little consequence to either shippers very much resembling those now lying at the British Museum; and the inscription upon it, so far as we have been enabled to ascertain, is as follows:—Cæsar ..... Dom." The middle part of the inscription cannot at present be deciphered. It was found about six feet below the surface, embedded in a wall of masonry three feet high and it is the betterm thick, and as it had mortar on the top as well as the bottom and sides, it is probable it has been built in the masonry. This is the third Roman pig of lead which has been discovered in the neighbourhood.

MAGNIFICENT FALL OF ROCK .- A correspondent at MAGNIFICENT FALL OF ROCK.—A correspondent at Lochcarron describes a land-slip which he witnessed on the summit of one of the Torridon mountains as peculiarly grand. It occurred on the morning of Friday, the 15th June, at 4 o'clock. There had been heavy rain during the new theorem. the night, by which a stone or rock, which could not be less than a thousand ton weight, was detached, and came ndering down the rocky hill, driving everything before it. SATISTICS OF THOROLD.—In 1827, the site on which old now stands was covered with a dense forest, ling commenced in 1832. The first was Keefer's one flouring mill, two years before the water was let incanal. On 28th November, 1829, the two first ners passed through to Buffalo. Now there are five flouring mills in operation, with fifteen run of stone, nery ready to receive three more. From the of August until the 15th November, 1848, there were ground, and floured, 90,000 bushels of wheat, all the produce of the surrounding country. This no wheat came in until 25th June; since then, the 1st August, 52.000 bushels from the United Stawe been floured, and 2,800 bushels of Canada wheat. re is also a cotton factory containing 700 spindles twenty cast iron looms, not now in operation for want good hands to manage it; also, a large new factory cong a carding machine, turning lathe, both for wood n; a finishing shop, all in operation; also a machine ling lumber on a large scale for exportation, nearly table building for a foundry and furnish a blast from water power which drives his factory, if any person for architectural and other purposes.

ccasion was designated The chamber of death.

We could not refrain from expressing our convictions to a gentleman present that the performers were trilling unseasonably, and that it would not be a matter of astonishment were some of them called really to perform, not act a part in the Chamber of Death by a superior Power. The next day Mr. Brown, who had sustained one of the principal characters in the Chamber of Death was seized with the Cholera and died after a short but severe illness.
We offer no comment. Every reader may draw his own conclusion; and we are much mistaken if a general harmony will not be discovered in the conclusions arrived at, by the great mass of reflecting, pious readers.—Christian Guardian.

THE TIMES AND HINCKS .- The Montreal

Correspondent of the Patriot says :"You will recollect the letter from Mr. Hincks, which appeared in the London Times, as well as the "floorer" in eply to it by Sir Allan McNab,-It now appears that the Hon. Inspector General had concocted a powerful and withering refutation of all the statements and allegations contained in this letter of Sir Allan's-drawn up of (a la Pilot) in the style peculiar to Messrs. Hincks & Co., but it was too gross for even the "Times." The Thun-derer would not bolt it, but bolted at it; and would nt publish it. Mr. Hincks was given politely to understand, that his statements not having been borne out by facts, had led them (The Times) into an error, which they were determined not again to commit. A note from the Colonial Office obtained, it is said, no more favourable answer.

The Annual Examination of the St. Catharines' Grammer School took place on Thursday and Friday, 9th and 10th ult. The classical part of the examination was conducted by the Rev. A. Dixon, B. A., who expressed himself much gratified with the answering, which, as the Reverend gentlemen said, reflected credit alike on Mr. Hubbarb, the Principal of the Institution and on the young gentlemen who were under his instruction understands the business wishes to commence it in place. Also an extensive tannery, built of stone; wise plaster and cement mills. Half a mile from Thothere are quarries of the best stone in the country win the prize, not missing a single question out of 135 which were put to him. George Adams, who was next in order, also passed an excellent examination, and many regretted that there was only one prizr to be won; for had there been a second, he would have well deserved it.

INQUESTS .- On the 12th July last, an inquest was held by J. F. Robinson, Esq., one of Her Majesty's Coroners for the Simcoe District, and a respectable Jury, on the body of one John Downs, labourer, of the township of Tecumseth, an emigrant lately arrived from the lately arrived from super, and shortly before he went away, he was observed to drink freely of cold water, which, it appears proved fatal. He was found lying on the road near the house by two young women, who left a little while after him and were on their way home. He appeared insensible; they tried to lift him but could not. He was incapable of speech. Other help was procured and a medical gentleman sent for, who was on the spot in a few minutes. Dr. J. O. Orr employed the usual methods with the object of restoring animation, but without effect deceased remained uncon scious, and breathed his last whilst being put in a warn bath. He has left a wife and several small children, who were dependent upon his daily labours, to lament their loss. On the post mortem examination it was found that the lungs were engorged with blood. The Jury returned a verdict,—Death by drinking cold water when the system was heated which caused congestion of the lungs.—Patriot.

On the 14th ult. an inquest was held before same Coroner, on the body of an infant child who was reported to have been smothered whilst in bed with its nurs and her husband. The child belonged to A. Gaviller Esq., J. P., of that township, who injudiciously buried is privately in his own woods, without an inquest. The circumstance gave rise to many expressions of surprise and and disapprobation by many in the neighbourhood; and in consequence of repeated informations the Coroner found it necessary to exhume the body. From the evidence ad duced at the inquest, and the remarks of Dr. J. Mahaffy the medical gentleman in attendance, the jury were of opinion that the child's death had been caused by the rup ture of a blood vessel in the head, the consequence of repletion. The Jury returned a verdict,—Died by the visitation of God.—Ibid.

An Inquest was held at Bradford, township of West Gwillimbury, on Thursday 2nd inst., before Mr. Coroner Robinson, on the bodies of three male children who were secretly interred on the evening of Sunday, the 29th ult. The whole affair having a suspicious character and being involved in mystery, a complaint was made to the Coroner, who at once caused the bodies to be exhumed in spite of violent opposition from some concerned. The children warretheiller through the concerned are the children warretheiller through the concerned are the children warretheil stimulations. children were the illegitimate offspring of Grace Ann Agar, a young woman living with Mr. and Mrs. Edmondson in day the 6th of September next. Bradford, and were born on Sunday morning, one of them being dead at the time of birth.

On the neighbours hearing of what had occurred, surprise was expressed that neither a doctor nor neighbour should have been called in. John Edmondson was examined on oath with several others. He said they were three fine looking boys; himself and two young men, who also live in the house and are in his employ, buried them. After a good deal of unnecessary remarks, questioning the propriety of Coroners doing their duty, the Jury returned a verdict of "Death caused by premature birth."-Ibid

On the 2nd inst., an inquest was held in the township of West Gwillimbury, before the same gentleman, on the body of a female child, daughter of one Neil Mathewson, labourer, which was killed by the fall of a tree. The circumstances connected with this event were of a truly painful nature, and are deeply felt by the afflicted parents. The child, although little more than five years old, was one of extraordinary symmetry and beauty, and in all her actions displayed a mind of unusual strength and vivacity. When the mournful occurrence which caused her death happened, she was in company with a little sister, and cousin, hunting the cows in the woods. The three were a short distance apart, when a decayed basswood tree fell upon deceased; but in consequence of its falling across another tree, the one that fell did not crush her body as it otherwise might have done. When her companions were pulling her from under, on hearing them cry, she said, "don't cry, I'm not dead." The mother and aunt hearing the noise from Mathewson's The mother and aunt hearing the noise from Mathewson's dwelling house ran towards the place, but the grief-stricken mother who is near her confinement, beholding the mangled body of her child, could proceed no further." On the aunt coming up, the child said, "Take me to bed, my thigh is broken." Medical aid being procured, it was found that the thigh was broken, and that from severe injury over the kidneys the child could not survive. She lingered in a state of insensibility for a few hours.—The Jury returned a verdict of "Accidental death caused by the fall of a tree."

The above should offer a caution to all persons in the country who, not having pasturage, allow their cows to run at large, and who send their children in all sorts of weather to hunt them up, expecting them home as punctually as though in pasture. - Ibid.

Messrs. Ferres, Mack, &c .- You will have observed from the Montreal papers that the trials of Messrs. Ferres, Montgomerie & Co., have not come off at Herchmer, Kingston; and also to the following Gentlethe time appointed in consequence of there not being a suf-cient number of Grand-Jurymen present to sit upon the Bills of Indictment. You will also have seen that the Solicitor General in the zealous discharge of his duty made a very praiseworthy attempt to have the absentees fined—but they were not fined, and the city was not in an unhealthy state (the reason assigned for their absence) so far from it indeed, that there were more deaths on an average in the last three years during the same period than in this, not withstanding the cholera. The fact is—so at least it is generally believed to be—there is no wish on the part of the anthorities to bring these men to trial, simply because they know that they cannot substantiate a single charge against any one of them, and they naturally wish to put off as long as possible the chagrin and discomfiture which they must inevitably be obliged to submit too when this ill-advised and unfortunate measure of arresting these men shall have been judically and finally disposed ofwhich, bye the bye, or Iam no prophet, it never will be.-Patriot's Montreal Correspondent.

Sherwood's Galvanic Embrocation.

Hear the opinion of a professor of the University of pensyl-ania, which was published in the Medical Journal, in 1847. In various local diseases I have tested the efficacy of Dr. Sherwood's Embrocation to my satisfaction. In Erysipelas, no matter where present, or of what description, he found the Embrocation, painted over the parts with a hair pencil brush, preferable to leeches, lotions, incissions, scarification or caustic. When pain and throbbing only existed, one or two applications of the Galvanic Embrocation, cut short the disease, and where superation had commenced, its repeated use, not only checked the progress of the disease, but caused the deposited matter to be absorbed. Not a single case of failure occurred when the Embrocation was applied before superation took place; and even then the pus was much less in quantity, than where poulices were used.

FOR THE TOILET FOR THE TOILE?

The thousands who daily use Bogle's Hyperion Fluid acknowledge it to be the best and only article ever known, for caring scurf, and preventing baldness and grey hair. Among the ladies, it is the theme of universal praise, and they rejoice "they have at last an article for the hair, not only innocuous but salutary—a fluid purely veretable, which cools the fevered head, imparts a gloss to the hair, and prevents its loss," After such praise as this, it would be useless to repeat its virtues here, but the subscriber would reinful partles going to bathing quaters, that the sait water leaves the hair harsh an 1 c arse, is also apt to rot it and make it fall off. The Hyperion, by its chemical qualities, resists the action of the sait water, and makes the hair soft, silky, and glossy.

ONE OF THE MOST REMARKABLE CURES EVER RECORDED.

Among the many blessings attendant upon improvements in the social condition, and the advances of our race in intelligence, is the prolongation of human life. With the increase of intelligence has grown up a knowledge for the elements of health, and a regard for them, and commensurately with the strides of science have we acquired the means of arresting disease, and averting its rawages. Notwithstanding the progress we have made, statistics show that ever now, one sixth of the whole population die annually of consumptionnow, one sixth of the whole population die annually of consumption.

One of the most important discoveries of the age, in ameliorating the condition of this large class of suffering humanity, is

What time establishes and consecrates, what experience adopts and confirms, what all men in all places unite in saying is good and valuable, is so no doubt. A popularity of this sort fixes in society its roots so deep and strong, that time cannot destroy it. The success which has attended this medicine for several years past, has overcome the prejudices of all respectable men, and the article has taken a standamong the class of discoveries and blessings of the age; and when resorted to in season, etadicates the disease for which it is recommended.

DR. WISTAR'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY. THE MISSES FITZGERALD in announcing to their Friends and the Public, their determination to undertake the important duties so efficiently and satisfactorily discharged by Mrs. Coates, take occasion to express their obligations for the very flattering opinion with respect to their abilities and qualifications entertained by Mrs. Coates, and put forward by her in terms so kind and complimentary.

The dômestic arrangements of the establishment will be under the guidance of Mrs. Fitzgerald, thus securing to parents the comfort of maternal care for their children, and enabling the Misses Fitzgerald, with the assistance of the best Masters, to bestow their time and undivided attention to the literary and religious instruction of their pupils.
