

THE CRISIS IN ENGLAND.

LONDON, June 15.—The leaders of the Conservative party, including the members of the late Cabinet, met at noon today at Lord Salisbury's residence. The names of the new Cabinet selected will be submitted to the Queen upon the arrival of Her Majesty at Windsor Castle.

Lord Randolph Churchill's resignation of the Conservative party, the sending of Sir Stafford Northcote to the House of Commons and the other members of the old Cabinet.

THE REINTEGRATION BILL. Mr. Gladstone was in his usual place in the House of Commons this afternoon and was greeted with cheers when he rose to make an announcement.

Mr. Fabouchere (Radical) asked Mr. Gladstone if there was any truth in the report that Lord Salisbury had only consented to form a Conservative ministry when assured of assistance by the present Liberal Government.

Mr. Gladstone assured him that he was ignorant of the existence of any arrangement whereby the present Government was formed by any promise to assist the Conservative Government.

Sir Henry Drummond Wolff (Conservative) moved the adjournment of the House.

Sir Charles Dilke (Radical) explained that it was the desire of the Marquis of Salisbury that the amendments should be made.

The amendments made by the House of Lords were then concurred in and the House completed the remaining stages of the bill.

FAREWELL TO KENMARE.

Oh, bright are the peaks of my own native mountains, And soft is the verdure on valley and hill, And doubly dear is the laugh of its fountains.

Beyond is the church, by the oaks softly shaded, Its portals seem thronged by the friends of the past, They sit to and fro with the old book unfaded.

THE FARM.

The grass which grows on rich, dry soil, with first slight warming, is in much more nutritious than that grown on land filled with stagnant water.

A heap of stones after lying two or three years will leave the soil beneath much richer than before.

One or two quarts of meal night and morning will do cows a world of good as long as they will eat it.

It is quite common, when a farmer keeps three, four or more cows, that the best milk brings more profit than all the others, and often what is made from her goes to defray losses on the others.

A very good feed either for green forage or grain is made by sowing oats and peas together.

A serious loss occurs when the drill will not distribute fertilizers evenly.

We cannot burn stubble where land is seeded with clover or grasses without injuring these.

There was some excuse when the country was new and the first land cleared was planted with fruit trees, for training tree tops high, so as to be out of the way of the horses in plowing or to grow crops under them.

In many parts of France turkeys are very largely used for the hatching and rearing of chickens, the advantage of these birds being their docility, their capability for covering a large number of eggs and caring for a large number of chickens.
