ST. PATRICK'S HALL

In a late number we mentioned that the ground was broken on the 24th ult, for Saint Patrick's Hall, and that the "first sod" was turned up in the presence of Mr. Devlin and Beveral other gentlemen. Since then the work has progressed rapidly, the excavation is far advanced, and several masons are employed on the building. The contractors, we understand, are pushing forward the work with energy, and will have the foundation well in, and secured this

The work will be resumed early in the spring, and the corner stone laid with due ceremony on St. Patrick's Day next. The inauguration will take place on St. Patrick's Day twelve months, by which time the building is to be completed.

We have much pleasure in laying before our readers the following discription of the Hall, which we have crefully prepared for them :-

In the basement of the building, there are, besides the keeper's apartments and the fuel and boiler room for heating the Hall by steam, eight cellars that can be rented separately from the shops above, if found advantageous to do so .-A convenient entrance leads to the whole from the lane in the rear.

On the ground flat, there are eight first class shops, varying from 40 to 94 feet in depth; six shops are on Victoria Square, and two on Craig Street-(two of these shops can be subdivided to advantage). The shops are to be furnished with show windows, and every modern conveni- | Montreal.

On the second flat, there are four spacious Show Rooms, and a large Billiard Room, all fronting on Victoria Square. In the rear of the building a large Library and Reading Room has been provided-(which is a valuable feature in the plan); and also a Hall 56 by 40 feet for the use of the various Irish Societies; -connected Rooms, and also two closets for the banners and other regalia of the Societies renting the Hall.

On the third flat, however, the crowning feature of the building is placed-namely, the GRAND HALL OF ST. PATRICK, which is 134 feet long. by 94 feet wide, within the walls, and 46 feet high; the stage is 52 feet wide by 25 feet deep: at the opposite end of the Hall a gallery is placed tor the Orchestra. Dressing and waiting rooms are provided at each side of the stage, and two cloaking rooms at the other end of the Hall .-Some idea may be formed of this magnificent room from the fact that it contains about 3,000 square feet more than the City Concert Hall-(which our readers are aware is too long and too low for its width). 'The "Grand Hall" will accommodate, comfortably sitting, two thousand persons, and when used for public meetings, &c., can be made to hold 3,000 to 4,000. In this noble Hall, (which is one of the very largest in America,) our Irish fellow citizens will have ample room for their Charitable Bazaars, their Grand Soirees, their Promenade Concerts. Monster Meetings, and their Anniversary Cele-The Societies' Hall, on the second flat, is connected with the Grand Hall overhead by a private entrance and stairway; this is a very valuable arrangement, as on occasions such as the above, the Societies' Hall can be thrown open as a supper or refreshment room to the Grand Hall.

These advantages must commend its Grand Concert Hall to our fellow-citizens of other nationalities on occasion of their Promenade Concerts, and other gatherings: and we feel sure that they will avail themselves of the many great advantages which it offers. The unfitness of the City Concert Hall and the Crystal Palace for speaking or singing is too well known and felt to require any extended remarks from us.

The Hall is to be built in the most solid and substantial manner of our Montreal limestone, by Messrs Howley & Sheridan, contractors of this city, who have undertaken the entire work.

The style of architecture of the Hall is purely Irish, copied from Cormack's Chapel on the Rock of Cashel-this Chapel was erected one thousand years ago, viz. A.D. 880, by the illustrious Cormack Mac Cuilinan, King of Munster, and Archbishop of Cashel.

History informs us that this style of architec. ture was in use in Ireland long before it was known to the Normans; that it was brought to great perfection in Ireland in the S, 9, and 10th centuries, as the many remains of her beautiful churches and other ecclesiastical buildings so well attest. History informs us also that labors not only to Canada and the French, but this "Irish style" was introduced into Normandy and other parts of Europe by the many holy and one of the great men of this Continent, and his learned men who went out from Ireland, as mis- name will be held in admiration by all who sionaries, in the " Middle Ages," and who carried with them into Europe a knowledge of Irish architecture as well as the Gospel, and in their zeal for religion planned and built many of the September, 1866. from that truly national structure-all of which the first named has given rise. The article itself, has been admirably treated and adapted to the though of course betraying gross ignorance of the requirements of the Hall by the architect, J. W. real merits of the question at issue, is written in a the three outlets, viz. Victoria Square, Craig Street and Fortification Lane, the doors of which

The exterior of the building will be magnificent and imposing, at once a monument to the zeal and a credit to the taste of our Irish tellowcitizens, and a source of congratulation to those who took the initiative in getting it up; it will also be an ornament to the City.

We had almost forgotten to say that the Grand Hall was specially designed for music and singing, as well as speaking, the Architect having paid particular attention to its adaptation in that respect; we therefore trust that it will attract first class artistes to our City, as it is well known that the want of such a Concert Hall prevented Jenny Lind and other musical celebraties from visiting

In conclusion, we have no hesitation in saying that we look upon St. Patrick's Hall as a great success from every point of view. Its commanding and central position on Victoria Square in the immediate vicinity of the Banks, the Post Office and the best business part of the City, and also within three or four minutes' walk of that populous and fashionable quarter " Beaver Hall," with it and the Library are two Committee must make its splendid shops and show rooms much sought after by business men, thus producing a large revenue, and making it a good paying investment for the Stockholders. We therefore recommend those who have not yet subscribed to it to do so before the "Stock Book" is closed as every Irishman, no matter how humble his circumstances may be, should take a part in this truly national work -- a work that his children may point to with pride, and say that their parents assisted in its erection, and those who neglect to do so will not cease to regret their negligence.

THE BATTLES OF THE WORLD .- By the Rev. J. Douglas Borthwick. With an Appendix and Chronological Table .- This is a well arranged, and interesting work. The great battles of the world in which British subjects are chiefly interested, are narrated in animated style. Of course no two writers ever did give the same account of a battle, and therefore different opinions upon the self same event will always obtain amongst historians. Mr. Borthwick's details may therefore be objected to by some; but we think that on the whole he has taken pains, in all cases, to arrive at the truth. If he has in any instance failed, it is because the truth is upattainable.

PRESENTATION.

On Sunday last, 30th Sept., the Rev. Mr. Murphy preached his farewell sermon at St. Patrick's church, Quebec. He has accepted the kind invitation of the Right Rev. Dr. Bacon, Bishop of Portland, to take charge of the ecclesiastical parish of Eangor, Me., and will leave for that place about the end of this week. During the period the reverend Father Murphy has officiated as a clergyman attached to St. Patrick's he has by his unremitted zeal, his meekness. and natural goodness of disposition gained the warm affections of his superior and the congregation. It is, therefore, not surprising that there should be mutual and heartfelt regrets at parting. Among the members of the Church, famed as they are for their generosity, there was a generally expressed desire to present him with some substantial token of respect at parting, and this intention has, we believe, been carried into effect in one or two instances, though had there been unity of action, the sum placed at his disposal to provide for his necessary wants in taking up his abode in a foreign country, would have been trebled. As it is, he will be the recipient of a very handsome donation We give below the copy of an address presented to him on Thursday last, by the residents of Chemplein ward, at the Diamond Harbour School house, together with a purse containing the handsome sum of $175 The deputation consisted of John O'Malley, Esq., John Giblin, Esq., J.P., 1613, accompanied by a photo-graphic fac-simile Messrs. Danl. O'Connell, Charles Gilbride, John Power, Francis McLaughlin, John Kane, W M Carberry, and a number of others :--

> ADDRESS To the Revd. James Murphy, Cure of St. Patrick's Church Quebec:

REVD SIR,—The intelligence of your intended departure from Quebec has filled the Catholic resident⁸ of Champlain Ward with deep regret. For years they have known you, and knowing you have loved you as the Soggarth has ever been loved by the children of St. Patrick.

The devotion, zeal, and spirit of self sacrifice that have attended your ministrations amongst them, and the cheerfulness with which the ardnous labor of Treasurer to the Committee appointed to collect funds for the relief of the sufferers by the great tire of June, 1865, was discharged by you, will always be green in their memory. The consciousness of what you have desired to do, for their temporal as well as spiritual welfare, is, they feel, all the reward you care for at this side of Butter, fresh, per lb. the grave; neverthless, they desire to assure you that if their best wishes and prayers avail reward must overtake you even in this life.

Before saying ' Adieu, ' the undersigned, in their own name and on behalf of the Catholic residents of Champlain Ward respectfully request your acceptance of the accompanying purse.

God be with you, Father Murphy. REPLY.

. To John O'Malley, Esq., J. Giblin, Esq., &c: My DEAR FRIENDS,-The present occasion is one that fully realizes the fact that there are moments in which language but feebly tells the sentiments of the

Your sincere expressions of regret at my departure awaken in me feelings of deepest emotion and are

I acknowledge myself wholly undeserving of your tribute of praise, as you over value my humble efforts in your regard. I feel it my duty to state that you have left nothing undone to render the exercise of my ministry among you a happy and pleasing tesk; and I rejoice to say, that in doing so, you have proved yourselves to be the good and thithful children of

St. Patrick. I thank you, my dear Friends, and through you I thank the Uatholic residents of Champlain Ward, for the noble and generous manner in which you manifest your appreciation of the services I endeavored to render you. That this act of your genrosity may be returned by the Almighty Remunerator a hundred fold to you and your families, shall be my daily prayer and

J. MURPBY, Priest.

THE REV. FATHER MURPHY. We (Quebec Daily News) published the other day, an Address from the Oatholic residents of Champlain Ward, conched in very appropriate and feeling language, to the Rev. Mr. Murphy, of St. Patrick's, Quebse, on his approaching departure from this dio cese, accompanying the handsome sum of $200. It is now our pleasing duty to add another to the list of testimonials of which the Reverend gentleman has been the recipient.

Last evening another deputation of the Congrega- ten next morning.

tion of St. Patrick's Church met the Rev. Mr. Murphy by appointment, in the Hall of the Catholic Institute and presented him with the following address, executed in a chaste and beautiful style of penmanship, by our friend and fellow citizen, Mr. James Ardouin, and accompanying it with a purse containing the bandsome sum of $250 which is in addition to the sum already mentioned above:— ADDRESS.

Rev. and Dear Sir,-The Congregation of St. Patrick's have learned with unfeigned regret that they are about to be deprived of your valuable services, by your determination, with the acquiescence of His Lordship the Administrator, to exercise the Holy Ministry in another Diocese.

Assigned, immediately after your ordination seven years ago, to take part in the Pestoral duty of St. Patrick's as vicaire to the Revd. Father McGauran our respected and esteemed Pastor, the Congregation we feel happy to be able to say, have always found in you a devout Priest, with untiring energy, seeking nought but their welfare. Your zealous efforts upon all occasi as to promote their interests, your fervent piety, your kind, generous and noble heart have endeared you to us. Rest assured that the mem bers of the Congregation will always cherish a fond recollection of your ministry in their midst, and will not fail to pray to the Almighty to give you health, and to your down upon you the choicest blessings of His Mercy.

Be pleased to accept the accompanying purse as a slight recognition of our gratitude, and a remembrance of the Congregation.

Signed on behalf of the congregation. WILLIAM QUINN, Chairman. H O'CONROR, Treasurer. MATTHEW F. Walsh, Secretary. Quebec, October, 1866.

The Rev. gentleman with much feeling replied as fullows :-

My Dear Friends,-I feel highly honored in being surrounded by such a respectable body, representing as you do, at this moment, the Irish Catholics of Quebec. I wish to be sincere, and express my feelings in an undisguised manner; therefore, I feel it incumbent upon me to declare that I merit not the eulogiums you are so kind as to bestow apon me who have but done my duty to the best of my pour ability during the period of my stay amongst you.

How truly do I apply to myself the words so istely uttered by an illustrious countryman. Cardinal Oullan -'I am but a neeless servant.' Your zeal, ardour and generosity of soul in all that regards or belongs to the Church are the charms that, no donot have served to surround me in your eyes with a halo of praise that I cannot but consider as far beyond me

Is praise is called for, allow me rather to point to your worthy pastor, the Revd. Pather McGauran, under whose apostolic banner I have walked his humble assistant. The interest he bears you, added to the spirit of sacrifice that marks all his actions, are an example to the most laggard, and have been so to myself in particular. I part from you my good friends, happy in the conviction that under his pastoral guidance the congregation of St. Patrick's Church cannot fail of continuing a bright light is in the past, to the rest of the community of this good city.

This, my dear, kind friends, must be my farewell wish until we meet again, if not on earth oh then ! let it be in Heaven, where partings are 20 more. JAMES MURPHY.

On Monday evening next, the Rev. Mr. Murphy takes his departure, by train, for Portland, from whence he will go to Bangor, Me., which is the station to which he is appointed .- Quebec Daily News.
