

THE SENATE

adjourn during pleasure, to re-assemble at the call of the bell at approximately 3.30.

The Senate adjourned during pleasure.

Friday, December 28, 1951

At 3.30 p.m., the sitting was resumed.

The Senate met at 11 a.m., the Speaker in the Chair.

Prayers and routine proceedings.

Hon. Mr. Robertson: Honourable senators, while any speculation on our future business involves a certain amount of crystal gazing, I have come to the conclusion that the prospects of getting through tomorrow are fairly good, and I would move that when this house adjourns today it stand adjourned until 11 o'clock tomorrow morning.

BUSINESS OF THE SENATE

Hon. Mr. Robertson: Honourable senators are probably aware as I am that no particular progress has been made in the other place towards the conclusion of the session's legislation. I therefore move that this house

The motion was agreed to.

The Senate adjourned until tomorrow at 11 a.m.