

CONTENTS OF VOLUME II.

| CHAP. | PAGE | CHAP. | PAGE |
|--|------|---|------|
| I. Inauguration of Mr. Van Buren | 7 | XXII. Mr. Clay's Resolution in Favor of Resum- ing Banks, and Mr. Benton's Remarks upon it | 91 |
| II. Financial and Monetary Crisis—General Sus- pension of Specie Payments by the Banks | 9 | XXIII. Resumption by the Pennsylvania United States Bank; and others which followed her lead | 94 |
| III. Preparation for the Distress and Suspen- sion | 11 | XXIV. Proposed Annexation of Texas—Mr. Pres- ton's Motion and Speech—Extracts | 94 |
| IV. Progress of the Distress, and Preliminaries of the Suspension | 16 | XXV. Debate between Mr. Clay and Mr. Cal- houn, Personal and Political, and lead- ing to Expositions and Vindications of Public Conduct which belong to His- tory | 97 |
| General Suspension of the Banks—Propaga- tion of the Alarm | 20 | XXVI. Debate between Mr. Clay and Mr. Cal- houn—Mr. Clay's Speech—Extracts | 101 |
| Resumption of the Bank of the United States from a Federal to a State Institu- tion | 28 | XXVII. Debate between Mr. Clay and Mr. Calhoun —Mr. Calhoun's Speech—Extracts | 106 |
| Effects of the Suspension—General Derange- ment of Business—Suppression and Ridi- cule of the Specie Currency—Submission of the People—Call of Congress | 32 | XXVIII. Debate between Mr. Clay and Mr. Calhoun —Rejoinders by each | 112 |
| VII. Extra Session—Message, and Recommenda- tions | 38 | XXIX. Independent Treasury, or, Divorce of Bank and State—Passed in the Senate —Lost in the House of Representa- tives | 124 |
| IX. Attacks on the Message—Treasury Notes | 39 | XXX. Public Lands—Graduation of Price—Pre- emption System—Taxation when Sold | 126 |
| X. Retention of the Fourth Deposit Instalment | 36 | XXXI. Specie Basis for Banks—One-third of the Amount of Liabilities the Lowest Safe Proportion—Speech of Mr. Benton on the Recharter of the District Banks | 126 |
| XI. Independent Treasury and Hard Money Pay- ments | 39 | XXXII. The North and the South—Comparative Prosperity—Southern Discontent—Its True Cause | 130 |
| XII. Attempted Resumption of Specie Payments | 42 | XXXIII. Progress of the Slavery Agitation—Mr. Cal- houn's Approval of the Missouri Compro- mise | 134 |
| XIII. Bankrupt Act against Banks | 43 | XXXIV. Death of Commodore Rodgers, and Notice of his Life and Character | 144 |
| XIV. Bankrupt Act for Banks—Mr. Benton's Speech | 45 | XXXV. Anti-duelling Act | 148 |
| XV. Divorce of Bank and State—Mr. Benton's Speech | 56 | XXXVI. Slavery Agitation in the House of Repre- sentatives, and Retiring of Southern Members from the Hall | 150 |
| XVI. First Regular Session under Mr. Van Bu- ren's Administration—His Message | 65 | | |
| XVII. Pennsylvania Bank of the United States— Its Use of the Defunct Notes of the ex- pired Institution | 67 | | |
| XVIII. Florida Indian War—Its Origin and Con- duct | 70 | | |
| XIX. Florida Indian War—Historical Speech of Mr. Benton | 72 | | |
| XX. Resumption of Specie Payments by the New York Banks | 68 | | |
| XXI. Resumption of Specie Payments—Historical Notices—Mr. Benton's Speech—Extracts | 65 | | |