

Did-you sign the deed of-the dead ? I-read the Bible. The debtor has-paid me. Deduct ten dollars from-that sum. You-must desist from annoying him. I-have decided to-leave to-night. That woman is-very modest. He-should not despair. They doubted of-his honesty. You-must-not disdain him because he-is poor. He lived in absolute destitntion. I-make no distinction between the two. The eastern distriet of-the city is-a-large one. I-am indebted to-the extent of one thousand dollars. Do-you desire to-read this book. Give me your address. I-will eall on-you. Are-you coming to-church with-me ? Please change seats. The judge gave his decision this morning. His memory is-very defective. I-have known that-man since a-good many years.

VI

What-do-you mean to-do ? Have-you manifested a-desire to-see him ? Wait a-moment. Are-you going to-receive communion ? He-is-a communist. I-spoke to-the Prime Minister. What a-beautiful monument. I-d-o-not fear his menaces. The examples are numerous. The reasons he evoked are manifold.

What-is-your name ? We-have known them for so-long. Your nomination is fixed for to-morrow. This-is-a-fine numismatic collection. Do-you know who-sent that anonymous letter ? Indeed, I know it-is her. I-have twenty bank bills of different denominations. A-denunciation was made against the thief.

We-made a house to honse canvas. I-am doing that work day by day. Are they your sister and brother. The horse and the mare were sold this morning. We-have looked into every nook and corner. Where-you present* when he-gave him the cheque ? Yes, I was present* when he gave him the cheque. Would-you-know him ? No, I would-not know him.