Real Liberals and Machine

Liberals of the party machine are much fonder of quoting Conservatives who are dead and buried than the eminent men of their own party who are still alive, and, in every figurative sense, kicking.

Sir George Ross, a Globe director, a Liberal of the Liberals, a keen debater, and as shrewd a man as the Liberal party contains, has gone on record in the present year of grace as to the danger of a reciprocity policy. In 1903 he was strongly averse from that policy, so that it is no unfigured, new-catched view that he has placed before the Liberal party in opposition to the policy which under Sir Wilfrid Laurier's insistence is clearly going to bring the government to defeat.

The Liberals of the machine avoid as far as possible dealing with the principles animating the appeals of Sir George Ross, of Hon. Clifford Sifton, of the eighteen leading Liberals of Toronto, not of the machine, but of the Liberal party. Instead, The Globe and other organs of the Liberal machine, stray after side issues, enlarge upon personal questions, rake up ancient sepulchres, and do anything to divert attention from the real issue. That issue, when stripped clear, is whether Canada will make an agreement with the Republican party of the United States to dish the Democrats, or, to put it another way, will Canada ratify the agreement Sir Wilfrid Laurier and his friends have made with President Taft to keep that gentleman in office? The Democrats are in a majority in the popular house, and when the constitutional wheels of the United States have created around a few more turns, the Democrats will be in power, and will give Canada for nothing all that President Taft and Sir Wilfrid Laurier now asks us to pay for by the sacrifice of our fiscal independence. To this the Liberals of the machine have only the reply: "Let us make sure of it." The folly of this view is apparent. If the United States is so anxious for reciprocity that they are willing to give it to us for nothing, the advantage must be with them. Why, then, should we pay for it? Merely to keep Mr. Taft and his party in power. Sir Wilfrid seems to have thought that if Mr. Taft could be kept in power by reciprocity, perhaps Canadians would give him another term on the same account. But Sir Wilfrid had not counted the cost. He is now willing to substitute certificates of birth and baptism for the notes-of-hand that are being presented for payment. But the future of the country, the stability of its trade and commerce, the development of its nationality are not to be sacrificed to cover a political error. And Sir Wilfrid should have been aware of all this, for Sir George Ross warned him in 1903.

Eight years ago Sir George Ross, speaking to the Canadian Club, declared: "I also favor Mr. Chamberlain's policy, because I believe it will prevent entangling alliances with the American republic. Our experience so far with the Americans has not been very satisfactory. Since Mr. Chamberlain has declared himself in favor of a preference to the colonies, the Americans have begun to show considerable anxiety for renewing reciprocal trade relations with us. I have not quite forgotten the reasons why the reciprocity treaty negotiated by Lord Elgin in 1854 was so summarily repealed in 1866. Neither is my judgment closed to the hostile character of the Dingley bill, by which the American market was practically closed against the Canadian manufacturers and farmers. In my judgment, the commerce of Canada should never be placed at the mercy of the United States Congress, or of any other competing nation. We have adapted our transportation now to British trade. To enter into a reciprocity treaty with the United States would be dependent upon the humor of our American neighbors, and would be to discount all this expenditure. Commercially, I cannot bring myself to look with favor upon a reciprocity treaty under existing circumstances with a people who have specifically framed a tariff for our injury. Had our products been declared contraband they could scarcely have been shut out more fully."

Reciprocity Means Kill the National Policy

Sir Wilfrid Laurier took up reciprocity to please the grain growers of the west.

How long do you think the grain growers of the west will be satisfied with reciprocity when they get it? Won't they demand the removal of protection from the manufacturing industry? Is not free trade their ambition?

Sir Wilfrid Laurier, at Sherbrooke, Que.; Hon. Mackenzie King at Berlin, and others have been insistent that reciprocity does not involve further tariff reductions. But are they frank and sincere?

Sir Wilfrid Laurier told the farmers of Saskatchewan on Aug. 5, 1910:

"Protection is a great wrong, and makes millions dishonest one with another. It makes the individual selfish and dishonest, and inculcates the vicious principle of expecting value where none is given."

How is that for a slam at Protection?

Again Sir Wilfrid Laurier, speaking in Winnipeg, July 27, 1910, said:

"We stand for freedom. I denounce the policy of protection and bondage—yea, bondage. I refer to bondage in the same manner as American slavery was bondage. Not in the same degree, perhaps, but in the same manner. In the same manner the people of Canada, the inhabitants of Winnipeg especially, are toiling for a master who takes away, not every cent of profit, but a very large percentage, a very large portion, of your earnings, for which you sweat and toil."

Where is Mr. McGregor of Walkerville, Mr. Bush of Port Hope and Mr. Snider of Berlin on this question? Do they consider the National Policy slavery?

Kill Reciprocity if you would preserve the National Policy.

NO RECIPROcity FOR HIM.

John E. Barber, of Georgetown, former Liberal member in the legislature for Halton county, and a substantial manufacturer, is one more added to the long list of Liberals who refuse to swallow reciprocity. Mr. Barber, who is widely influential in the riding, is supporting David Henderson, the Conservative candidate.

80,000 CHILDREN MADE FAIR GROUND

Attendance Was 25,000 Greater Than Last Year, and the Little Ones Had Royal Entertainment—Hon. Dr. Pyne Speaks Hopefully of Building for Ontario Exhibits.

Piling Up Records

Attendance at 1911 Exhibition on first Tuesday	60,000
Attendance at 1910 Exhibition on first Tuesday	32,000
Increase	28,000
Attendance at 1911 Exhibition Children's Day	50,000
Attendance at 1910 Exhibition Children's Day	25,000
Increase	25,000
Total Increase for two days, 1911	53,000

It was children's festival at the exhibition yesterday and a day of days for the kiddies and for the management as well. The attendance surpassed anything recorded for children's day, being 80,000, just 25,000 ahead of last year's record. The great crowd began coming early in the day and as soon as it was recognized that such a big attendance was in sight the management issued an order prohibiting the admission of all pleasure vehicles to the grounds, a wise precaution and one that doubtless prevented many an accident on the crowded grounds. And not an accident occurred to mar the pleasures of the day, despite the fact that all the attractions of the exhibition were in full swing and received all the patronage they could handle.

In the afternoon a wireless was received from the Goldenshoe Band, now on the Virginian en route to the exhibition, stating that the ship would be in Quebec by Friday noon. If the Virginian arrives as timed the band will be in Toronto on Saturday. The management of the exhibition will likely have a special train rush them here from the boat. It took the Toronto Railway Company a couple of hours to get the big crowd away when they made a break from the grounds. Every car that could be found was placed on the Dufferin-street line, but the thronging, scrambling masses almost beyond capacity were transported homebound. It was another and very complete vindication of the cause for a second car line to the grounds. The present service is utterly inadequate to the evening needs of the fair. With unwavering unanimity of purpose, Young Toronto beset the exhibition grounds yesterday. The management had set down the entrance price to five cents, so from opening till well on into the afternoon the youngsters came in their thousands. They swarmed thru the toll gates, flooded the grounds and swamped the buildings, and occasionally the fringe of the great crowd, becoming detached and lost, wandered to the sheltering precincts of the police station. It was a restless, hurrying host. Eager to take in every sight and secure every available souvenir, they hurried from booth to booth, and from building to building. The side-shows, many of them, were doing a land-office business, the folk behind the counters at the ice cream and lunch booths were much patronized. Whenever the event of evening, its accompaniment, ample for ordinary occasions, barely sufficed for the eager thousands who crowded thru the entrance gates in the afternoon. The huge steel terrace lost its bare unattractiveness and became the setting for a scene of rare and attractive beauty.

ALARMISTS AT WORK.

Reports are being made in West Toronto and in other parts of the city that registration means that a man will be taxed $2 by the city as soon as his name is on the voters' list. This is absolutely false and evidently done for the purpose of intimidating down the number of registrations, a large majority of which would mean votes for Conservative candidates.

THE BIG FAIR IS ON.

This National Fair doesn't really altogether belong to Toronto. It's Canada's fair and incidentally is the largest annual exhibition held anywhere in the world. There are going to be a million people to look it over this year. But the fair grounds don't contain the good things worth seeing. Maybe you are interested in fur goods. The Dineen Company have prepared the showrooms at the corner of Yonge and Temperance-streets for fall business, and they contain the biggest showing of fur over attempted in Canada. Then there is the department for furs for men's, men's hats and waterproofs; ladies' mittens and waterproofs, and some splendid lines in furs and hats for children. It's worth a visit anywhere at any time. Call to-day, 140 Yonge-street.

JACK CANUCK: I'm a free man and I'll enter no such bondage as that.

Faces the Issue

Current literature for September, in its editorial notes on the electoral campaign in Canada, refers to the argument used against Sir Wilfrid Laurier, to the effect that reciprocity in natural products will to that extent impair the home market and will render it increasingly difficult to sustain the industries that have been called into being, and until race questions. As the campaign proceeded, the personal element seems more and more to obscure itself, however, especially in the comment of the French-Canadian organs.

EX-SHAH REPULSED

TEHRAN, Persia, Aug. 20.—Heavy fighting has occurred at Firuzkuh, Demavend and Savadkuh, towns to the northeast of Teheran and not far distant from the capital. The forces of the ex-shah, Mohammed Ali Mirza, stormed Firuzkuh on Friday. The fighting continued until the following day when the attacking forces were repulsed. They lost 150 men, two guns and 200 rifles. The Bakhtiari tribesmen distinguished themselves. A large additional force at Bakhtiari has been taken from Isfahan to Teheran. A contingent of 1500 Kiadajavens, adherents of the deposed shah, have been defeated by loyal tribesmen near Demavend. Many prisoners have been brought to Teheran.

PAN-GERMAN UNION

DEMAND EQUAL RIGHTS WITH FRANCE IN WEST MOROCCO. BERLIN, Aug. 20.—Members of the Pan-German Union held a packed mass meeting to-night and adopted a resolution demanding either France's complete recognition of the Algeiras Act or Germany's acquisition of similar rights in West Morocco, as France claims in the other district. The resolution strongly condemned intervention in the dispute by a third power. An inspired article in The Lokal Anzeiger also protests vigorously against what it terms the unjustifiable threatening attitude taken by Great Britain. It declares, moreover, that Germany was never desirous of obtaining a footing in Morocco, and hints that the details of an agreement would occupy a long period, even should the French proposals about to be presented by M. Cambon be generally acceptable to Germany.

CITY HALL LIBRARY.

A library containing municipal papers, books and works of general interest has been opened on the third floor of the city hall, just west of the assessment department. It will be for the use of the public as well as city hall officials.

TWO WHEELMEN MAY DIE BOTH STRUCK BY CARS

Albert Charters of Meaford and Harry Slingsby, 770 Crawford-street, College Street.

By a tragic coincidence two bicyclists were struck by street cars on College-street yesterday afternoon and in each case a fatal result is feared.

Harry Slingsby, 770 Crawford-street, is in a very low condition at the Western Hospital as a result of being struck by a street car at the corner of Shaw and College-streets while riding his bicycle.

Slingsby was going north on Shaw-street and as he neared the corner of College-street noticed a College car approaching. He slackened the speed of his bicycle and by so doing gave the motorman the opinion that he was intending to wait until the car had gone over the crossing. As it was, he started ahead again and at the same instant the motorman turned on more power and the car struck Slingsby as he was in the middle of the track and dragged him fully twenty-five yards along College-street under the fender before it could be brought to a standstill.

The car was in charge of Charles Burnet, 234 Dundas-street. In talking with The World last evening he said that he saw the cyclist approach the corner, but that he fully believed he was waiting for the car to pass on and that he therefore turned the power on as quickly as possible, both because he was in a hurry and also to make way for the rider of the bicycle.

Slingsby was hurried to the Western Hospital, where he is lying in a very critical condition and may die at any moment. He is a married man of forty-eight years of age.

Exhibition Visitor Victim. An exhibition visitor from Meaford, Albert Charters, was riding his bicycle across College-street at Margaret-street about 5 p.m. yesterday when a westbound car struck him as he emerged from behind an eastbound College car. His skull was fractured and his face was badly cut up. He was rushed to the Western Hospital, where, at an early hour this morning it was thought that he might possibly recover.

Dr. Dick was summoned and ordered the man to be removed to the hospital will all speed.

Charters is but 19 years of age, and had been stopping with an uncle, Robert Hudson, 16 Hickson-street, and was going to a store on Margaret-street, at the time of the accident.

FIFTY THOUSAND HARVESTERS.

WINNIPEG, Aug. 30.—Forty thousand men have been brought in by the C. P. R. and C. N. R. to harvest the western crops. Of this number 24,000 have come from Eastern Canada and the remainder from the south. Temperatures have risen all thru the west. There was no frost last night at all, and the average temperature was well above 50, and harvesting operations are proceeding very favorably. Threshing will be in full swing next week.

Important to Those Registering

Yesterday a man went into a South Toronto registration booth to register. He was told that his name was on the second part of the voting list. Fortunately he was met by a canvasser who sent him back to insist upon having his name properly registered. The second part of the voters' list is for non-residents and females. Do not let the party workers do you out of your vote.

In another case a voter who had lived in North Toronto had lived in West Toronto for now over a year. He went to register and was told he should vote in North Toronto. As soon as he attempted to do so he would be sworn, and as a non-resident would be refused a vote. He has a right to register in West Toronto and should insist upon it.

Similar cases in other divisions are reported. Electors should take care not to allow party workers to cancel their votes.

EARL GREY TAKES LEAVE

His Excellency Will Spend Coming Week at Murray Bay.

His last day in Toronto was a busy one for Earl Grey. His excellency left here last night for Murray Bay, Que., where he has spent most of the summer, and he will remain there for a week or so, returning to Ottawa about the middle of September, and staying there until his departure from Canada on Oct. 6. It is hardly likely that he will find time to return to Toronto before sailing.

In the morning at 11 o'clock yesterday he laid the foundation stone of the new Model Home for Girls on St. Patrick-street, near Bathurst. At 2 o'clock with W. K. George, he visited the exhibition. His trip about the grounds was very quiet and devoid of all formalities, he spending most of his time looking at the exhibits, and with the same interest as displayed by the usual visitor. At 5 o'clock he attended the garden party of the York Club, where a large assembly was present. In the evening, he attended a dinner in his honor at the Government House, at which many of the prominent people of the city were present.

A guard of honor formed of 100 of the Queen's Own Rifles, accompanied Earl Grey to the Union Station, his departure being made at 10.30 o'clock. The regimental band of the Q.O.R. was also present at the leave-taking.

"J. J." TRULY A BUSY MAN.

Controller Ward is so busy canvassing the South Toronto electors that he is sadly neglecting the duties he is being paid $2500 a year to perform at the city hall. He didn't appear at all at the meeting of the Board of control called by the mayor yesterday, and as Controllers Church, Hocken and Spence are out of town, there was no quorum.
