The vestry of St. Clement's Church decided to extend the church at a cost of about $6000. In view of this the rector has issued an appeal for a special offering on May 19. By this means the rector expects to raise at least $3000. Large audiences were present at each of the services Sunday at the Eglinton Methodis: Church the correspondent. ton Methodist Church, the occasion being the Sunday school anniversary Rev. J. H. Hazelwood, D.D., of Toron Junction, preached at 11 o'clock, and Rev. Isaac Couch of the Woodgreen Tabernacle, Toronto, in the evening. Ambrose Kent of Toronto, who was the Sunday school superintendent for twelve years, addressed the school at 3 o'clock. Special music was rendered at each of the services. To-night the anniversary entertainment will be held. The new steel water tower, 100 feet high, 20 feet in diameter, with a 192,000 gallon capacity, is completed, and will be formally taken over by the council, subject, however, to the agreement. The

In the death of William Thomson, which occurred at his residence, 27 Rathnally-avenue, on Saturday night, there has been removed one who, some years ago, prior to his retirement from active business, was a most prominent figure in commercial life in Toronto. Mr. Thomson was one of the oldest residents of this city, he having lived in Toronto for 60 years. He had been suffering for some nonths with bronchial trouble

Born in Dundee, Scotland, in 1831. he came to Canada as a lad of sixteen and made his home in Toronto. Sub sequently, he entered into business as wholesale hardware merchant, under the firm name of Thomson and Burns, later changed to Thomson & Co. In 1871 he was elected to the city council, and occupied a seat in the wars. In 1873 he was chosen for the presidency of the board of trade. His business interests were varied and important, he holding office as president of the Northern Railway of Canada, vice-president of the Consolidat ed Bank of Canada, and director of

CHANGING SITUATION.

Singularly Altered Mood of Financial London,

New York, April 6 .- The Evening Post Future of Money Rates.

Almost every financial critic takes the ground that the international monetary outlook is completely changed. One hears, in fact, prophecies of an early reduction in fact, prophecies of an early reduction in the Bank of England rate.

Until however, there are some definite indications of slackening trade in Europe and America, I cannot discern sufficient foundation for this view. Reaction from the recent stringency was inevitable after the heavy stock exchange liquidation, and money must be abundant for another fort. money must be abundant for another fort night; but what I dislike is the seeming indication of a revival of old conditions in one or two directions.

Will Old Conditions Return? I mean by this that banks and finance houses are now actively "talking down" money and "talking up". American securities, which certainly looks as the some people wanted your bankers to get financial accommodation here easily. This at least suggests history repeating itself. As regards American shares in them-selves, I must admit that many wealthy people here have been purchasing your stocks—among them Atchisons, Baltimore & Ohio and New York Central—for investment. It is also true that old influential groups, which were bullish during recent groups, which were builts during recent years until last nutumn, and very bearish between last November and the 13th of March, are now taking a bullish position again. If your public is going to invest on a substantial scale, this is all right. If not, it seems difficult to interpret the advance in American securities as favorable to the general financial outlook.

Questions of "Trade Reaction" Unless trade activity slackens decidedly "bumper" crops in America, and renewal of your own trade boom, would impose on our money market a serious financial strain.

As for the continent, conditions at Berlin are better, but the June quarter is not looked forward to without fear. Rumors which now come to us of further borrowing by Russia are not to be disregarded.

Nat Wills, well remembered by local theatregoers for his clever work in the musical farce, "The Duke of Duluth," returns to the Grand this week with a production and company that is said to be the best that this popular comedian has ever appeared with. The new vehicle is called "A Lucky Dog," and affords Mr. Wills plenty of opportuniaffords Mr. Wills plenty of opportunities to produce laughs at his witty interpretation of the part of a member of the great fraternity of non-workers—a tramp. The production has been sumptuously staged, and a competent cast of principals are supported by a score of pretty singing and dancing girls, costumed in the latest creation of the best New York and Paris deof the best New York and Paris designers. The songs and ensembles are set to catchy airs, while the march numbers are inspiring and beautiful. There is a plot, simple, but of interest, and, as a laugh producer, "A Lucky Dog" stands at the head of the season's successes. Mr. Wills brings with him a budget of new comic songs and parodies, which have never been heard before. In the cast of principals are a number of well-known artists, including Delia Stacey, Emma Lou Griffin, Anita Zorn, Lee Hobbs Martin, Charles Udell, Fred Rennold, Joseph Eggenton, James Vincent and Maurice Lavigne.

The engagement of "The Prince of Pilsen" at the Princess Theatre the first half of the week will provide one of the brightest and liveliest musical comedy entertainments shown in recent years. The familiar and tuneful music contributed by Gustav Luders, and the genuinely humorous story to which Frank Pixley gave pen, have served to send this merry play along the road of popular success at a high rate of speed during the past five years. Manager Henry W. Savage sends a company which promises excellest results. Jess Dandy has the principal comedy role, that of the Circular Circular Comedy role, that of the Circular Cir principal comedy role—that of the Cin-cinnati alderman—in which he has already been seen here. The part of the widow will be sung by Pauline Guzman, who had a prominent role in the production of "Parsifal."

The casts for the four performances of "Madam Butterfly" at the Prin-cess Theatre for the last half of this week have been definitely announced. According to a new announcement, Miss Florence Easton, the Toronto prima donna, will be heard at the op-ening Thursday night, and again at he Saturday matinee. The four leading principals will appear in the following order: On Thursday night Miss Easton will sing the role of Madam Butterfly, Mr. Francis Maclennan will sing the tenor role of Pinkerton, Miss Harriett Behnee will sing the contraito role of Susuki, and Mr. Thomas D. On Saturday night the third soprano orima donna of the Savage Company will be introduced in Miss Rena Vivienne who will sing the role of Ma-dam Butterfly. Mr. Sheehan, Miss Houston and Mr. Brownlow will sing, Mr. Feith conducting.

"The Millionaire Detective," a pow-rful comedy melodrama by Charles E. Blaney and Howard Hall, with Mr. Hall in the leading role, will be the attraction at the Majestic Theatre all this week, with a matinee every day. The scenes are laid in New York, and the action is woven around a plot of absorbing interest. There is a delightful love story running thru the play, in which Robert Rose, the broker, and Alice, the banker's daughter, are the principals. The story is charmingly Belleville, April 6.—Dr. H. E. Burdell, formerly of this city and lately of St. Paul, Minn., died in the latter city. He was in early life one of the best known die, Robert Rose's stenographer, and comedy features.

One of the special offerings at the Star this week is the moving picture if the Thaw-White case, dealing with the affair from the very start, when the girl first posed as an artist's model. Another special feature is a huge wrestling tournament, open to all. The tournament is for heavy, New York, April 6.—The Evening Post has the following special London cable:
The sharp movement of sterling exchange against New York, which has been a noteworthy incident of this week, is partly explainable by the reawakening of the appetite of your investing public for bonds, and consequent purchases from here bonds, and consequent purchases from here winning the greater number of bouts to be considered, however, that the rise bonds, and consequent parchases from here. It is considered, however, that the rise was too rapid. It must not be forgotten that, later on, Europe has to pay your market further instalments on the short-term railway notes sold here.
