PROUD OF THE NORTHWEST

J. J. Adams of Winnipeg Very Enthusiastic Over Mineral and Agricultural Prospects.

MANY AMERICANS COMING IN

Finest Beef Cattle Offered in Any Market Are Raised in the Territories.

J. J. Adams of Winnipeg is a Queen's Hotel guest. Mr. Adams is the owner of a number of heavy copper prospects around Calgary, Alberta, N.W.T., and has just returned from Manchester, where he floated bonds of the Alberta Mining and Development Co. Mr. Adams will spend several days in Toronto, and then return to Winnipeg, going immediately to the property of the company. He is very enthusiastic over the mineral and agricultural prospects of that section of the Canadian Northwest, and being a native of Toronto, has a number of business men of this city interested with him.

Means Much to Toronto.

Discussing the relations of the Territories to the Ontario province, Mr. Adams said to a World reporter last night: "I believe this part of the Canadian people are just beginning to appreciate that the development of the Territories means much to Toronto, and this section in general. At any rate in the past twelve months more money has been invested from this part of the country in lands and stock around Calgary than at any time since that part of the Northwest was opened. That is in Western Alberta nearly to the east line of British Columbia. I don't think it is too much to say that we expect the prospects in the mountains to the west of Calgary to rival in the next few years the glories of the Klondike.

Americans Coming in.

"We have other things to depend upon besides mining industries, for the country is self supporting. Wheat, corn and barley is raised in that section in enormous quantities, but of course we merely desire to supply the home market for the present. In time, however, the wheat fields alone of Alberta will supply all of Ontario, and have plenty to feed another section equally as big. The people from the States are coming in there in great numbers, and recently we had enquiries from a large colony of Boer farmers. There is gold and silver and copper in the mountains to the west of us, and with little more liberal mining laws the industry will flourish.

All Kinds of Employment.

"This is a question, however, that will demand the attention of Canadian lawmakers in the next few years. Just at present the Canadian Northwest is reaping the benefit of the liberal land laws of the country. Settlers from the States, many of them Canadians, are coming into the Territories and taking up farming, because they can get the land so cheap. One dollar will buy land that will raise forty bushels of wheat to the acre, and in a few years, these farms will be worth forty dollars an acre. The farmers from the States are hurrying in there, but no faster than are the young men from eastern Canadian provinces. Now, if the mining laws were just as liberal we would have the western mining speculators and developers putting their money into the mines of the Territories. That's what we want, too, for it takes that sort of thing to develop a new country. As it is, however, there is ample employment for all persons who seek that part of the world. There are few idle men in Alberta.

Cattle Industry Promising.

"The cattle industry is most promising. The cattle ranged in that part of the country and fed in severe weather produce the finest beef cattle afforded by any market. We send to market lots of twelve and fourteen hundred pounds steers. These of course bring fancy prices, and I know of a number of cars of these prime cattle being shipped right thru to England and selling well by the side of the fancy stock from the States. There is a great deal of money in cattle in that part of the country.

Echo of the War.

"During the war, horse raising became quite profitable, and there were a great many brood mares sent into the country. A rancher with fifty to one hundred mares will get rich in a few years with horse flesh as high as the war has forced it. If the automobile does not drive the horse out of business that part of the Canadian Northwest will supply all of eastern Canada with fine horses in the next few years, for the business has been given a splendid impetus by the high prices ruling in the war. Many of the horses recently sold by the government here came from that section.

Government Losing Money.

"This stock now bringing forty dollars a head cost more than that on the ranches of Alberta, over two thousand miles from here, so it is easy to figure just how much the government is sacrificing by this sale. These horses are good, strong young animals, and can endure twice as much hard work as the eastern horses. They are as a rule very hardy and range out even in winter. Take one of the western horses and he will not starve even when ice covers the range as a result of a sudden freeze. The law of self preservation makes them hustle. These horses will hunt out a promising spot on the range, and paw the ice and snow away until they get down to the dead grass, and easily subsist where the States horses and the eastern animals would starve. For this reason the percentage of loss is very light to the herd in the northwest. The same is true of the cattle herds. They manage to live thru weather that a human being would perish in. Sheep, however, of which there is a large number in that part of the country, will not do so well.

Have to Study Luck.

"As long as a sheep rancher don't have any bad luck he can get rich in three or four years, but one storm may ruin him. The sheep perish in great droves when caught out unprotected in severe weather, and I knew of a wealthy fellow last fall to be bankrupt by a sudden freeze catching most of his herds out in the open and nearly every head perished. I have seen this thing apply to cattle in that country, but it takes mighty hard weather to kill stock.

Want the Tariff Changed.

"We are anxious to see the tariff from the Canadian side made to conform to the regulations of the American tariff. When we send horses across the line we have to pay in proportion of a hundred per cent. more for them, but the reverse rule favors the American horse fancier, and he can send his horses across for less. The laws are so favorable, however, in Canada and the range so crowded in the States, that many horses and cattle ranchmen are now coming into the Canadian Northwest and raising their herds."

YORK COUNTY AND SUBURBS

Rain and Hail Caused Considerable Damage to Crops in the Scarboro District.

SAME STORY FROM THE JUNCTION

Robert J. Flynn of Weston Died After an Illness of a Couple of Days.

Toronto Junction, July 15.—The storm which passed over this district yesterday did considerable damage to growing crops, fruit trees and fences. At Islington a large number of the windows in the Methodist Church were broken by hail. Mr. Muson had two windows broken and Asher's hot-house had several panes broken. The fruit trees were stripped, and many limbs were torn off them. At Mount Dennis the windows in Mr. Marshall's, Mr. Baylis' and Mr. Brown's residences were broken and some fields of grain were ruined. Mr. Flanagan's shed was blown down and a cutter and other contents were demolished. Mr. Fowler's green-houses were laid low, and most of the residents report broken glass. The hailstones were as large as a pigeon's egg. Dilworth's conservatories on the Scarlett-road were also damaged by hail. At Toronto Junction a railing was blown off the Weston-road bridge and narrowly escaped doing injury to persons in the railway station below. Trees on Vine-avenue were also blown down.

Dan Syme, master of ceremonies in the Orange procession on Sunday, appeared in the police court this morning on a charge of assaulting a conductor of the Toronto Railway. The Street Railway Company wanted to enter a charge of attempted murder, but the County Crown Attorney would not take this charge. The Orange procession was returning from church, headed by a drum and fife band. The band had reached the front of the lodge room in Campbell block, when the street car came on to the Y, at the corner of Keele-street. The procession was crossing the Y, and the street car proceeded to back up on to the procession. The master of ceremonies held up his sword, pointing it at the conductor on the trailer. The trailer backed the conductor onto the sword, which he took in his hand in order to protect his body. His hand was cut a little. Syme thought the procession had the right of way over the road, but the Street Car Company has apparently the right of way. There being no intention to do harm, Syme was let off on suspended sentence.

The Toronto Junction Woodmen will hold their first annual excursion to Jackson's Point on Civic Holiday, Aug. 4.

Weston.

Robert J. Flynn, a native of Ireland, and a well-known resident of Weston, died yesterday afternoon after an illness of two or three days. He was Worshipful Master of L.O.L. No. 216, Weston, at the time of his death, and had been prominent in Orange circles all his lifetime. He was identified with the Conservative party, and was a staunch worker in the political campaigns of West York. Deceased was about 70 years of age, and had lived in Weston nearly all his life. He took sick on July 12, and was unable to follow his brethren to Oakville. He leaves a wife, who is critically ill as a result of a broken leg, which happened by falling from a chair whilst house-cleaning, one son and one daughter. The funeral will be conducted by the Orange Order to Riverside Cemetery. The time has not yet been fixed, but it will most probably be Friday afternoon. All Orangemen in the district are requested to attend.

Richmond Hill.

The local government has billed the village for the payment of a booth at the recent election, and Reeve Savage is decidedly against paying any such grafts. The Village Council has a booth of its own and would have been only too glad to allow of its use.

The teachers of the Methodist Sunday school have decided to hold the annual picnic of the school at Munro Park tomorrow week.

The awning at the store of H. Hopper was demoralized by the wind storm on Monday evening.

Commissioner Brownlee has returned to his duties after a two weeks fishing tour.

J. Wales and wife, late of Jamaica, are visitors at the home of Reeve Savage.

The local lacrosse and baseball teams will visit Aurora Saturday for a double match.

Danforth.

One of the worst rain and hail storms that have ever passed over Scarboro was that of Monday afternoon. The storm was of brief duration, lasting only about an hour, but during that time immense damage was done to the grain crop. W. W. Thompson of Scarboro informed The World that by careful measurement so me of the hail stones measured one-half inch thick by three and one-half inches in circumference, many of them in shape resembling the edge of a circular saw. Barley is ruined and all kinds of grain have suffered severely. Mr. Thompson forwarded to this office a number of heads of barley practically ruined, and showing the terrible effects of the tempest. The storm was more severe in the lower portion of Scarboro and west of the city, and was accompanied by vivid lightning, but appears to have spent itself after passing thru the township. It is impossible to estimate the loss to the growing crops, but it will undoubtedly be large.

East Toronto.

The summer home and grounds of A. E. Ames have been greatly improved during the spring. The two stores on the Kingston-road have been removed, and the ground which they occupied has been added to the estate. A large new picket fence is being erected for a long distance on the Kingston-road, and, when finished, will greatly improve the looks of the place. The residence has been considerably enlarged and painted and presents a very handsome appearance. "Glen Stewart" is one of the finest summer homes near the city.

The Beaches.

The residents of Balmy Beach who are interested in the private park at the foot of Beech-avenue are going to apply to the proper authorities to have the street opened thru to the lake. They propose to have the boat houses on each side of the street.

The Balmy Beach Bowling Club has elected a committee, composed of the president, Albert Oakley; the secretary, Harry Trimble, and the treasurer, Mr. Smith, to arrange a schedule for this season. Games are promised at an early date with St. Matthew's and Lorne Park.

Return of Premier Ross.

Premier Ross expects to sail for home early in August. Hon. Richard Harcourt received a letter from him dated July 3, in which he refers to the work of the conference of the colonial Premiers, and expresses the opinion that one direct outcome of the conference would be a fast freight service between Great Britain and Canada.

Traveling Library Blocked.

The librarian of Victoria College had made arrangements for a traveling library for Methodist ministers, but the new postal scale has to a certain extent knocked this idea on the head for very few ministers are expected to subscribe when they will have to pay from 20c to 25c postage for the privilege of reading a single volume.

MET WITH ACCIDENTS.

Four Unfortunates Who Were Victims of Mishaps Yesterday.

A scaffold in the Toronto Railway shops at the corner of Front and Frederick-streets collapsed yesterday morning, and Thomas Warren and Samuel Hooper were precipitated to the ground, a distance of about 15 feet. Hooper had his back strained, and Warren's side was injured. After being attended to at the Emergency Hospital both men were able to go to their homes. Warren lives at 393 West King-street, and Hooper at 96 Western-avenue, Toronto Junction.

Robert Tremaine of 48 West Adelaide-street was admitted to the Emergency Hospital last night suffering from burns to his hand. He had accidentally caught hold of a live wire.

Why Bob Emslie Was Late.

Philadelphia Press.

Umpire Emslie was a few minutes late in getting on the field at Philadelphia Park last Friday—and thereby hangs a conundrum. When "Bob" got to the Phillies' bench he was covered with perspiration, and thinking thinks that would have caused his suspension had the virtuous John T. Brush had the X-rays on his brain. This is what caused the delay and Mr. Emslie's bad temper.

When the umpire entered the park he was accosted by a man who read him this question:

"In a game of ball, in the ninth inning, with the side in the field, two runs to the good, the team at bat two men out, with one man on third base. The batsman hit the ball over the left fielder's head and it rolled into a pig pen. The man on third scored, tying the score. The batsman stopped at second base and the left fielder and his team mates refused to go into the pen after the ball. The batsman couldn't be induced to move off second, as he thought they were playing a trick on him. As there was only one ball on hand the game was broken up. Now, which side wins? The team in the field claimed the game because the batsman hadn't run around the bases, altho the ball wasn't fielded, and the team at bat claimed it was entitled to the victory, since there was no way of putting its man out and no ball with which to continue the game." Mr. Emslie pondered over the question long and deeply, and while pondering forgot that he had a game to umpire, therefore being late to reach the field. The question is still unanswered. The next man, tho, who asks him a conundrum on baseball had better not have a pigpen figuring in it.

Nearly all infants are more or less subject to diarrhoea and such complaints while teething, and as this period of their lives is the most critical mothers should not be without a bottle of Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Dysentery Cordial. This medicine is a specific for such complaints and is highly spoken of by those who have used it. The proprietors claim it will cure any case of cholera or summer complaint.

CHOKED BY A PEANUT.

Windsor, July 15.—John, the 13-months-old child of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Ritchie, 37 Fourth-street, Walkerville, was choked to death by a piece of peanut husk Sunday afternoon. The shell got stuck in the little fellow's throat in the morning, and he coughed incessantly. The little fellow died on the dock while his mother was taking him to the Harper Hospital.

The Reticence of Learning.

From The London Spectator.

It is not often in modern times that any complaint can be levelled at any man for paucity of literary production. The reticence of learning is so rare in these days that to complain of a notable instance may seem an uncalled-for criticism. Yee we do deeply regret any instance of such reticence. The feverish volubility of ignorance, the amazing output of illiterature—to coin a much needed word—that distinguishes the present epoch renders all the more necessary the measured productions of the scholar and the sage. The absence of production when production is both possible and desirable (since any production must bear the burning stamp of originality and learning) is infinitely sad, and the sense of loss that follows the apparently complete extinction of great learning is among the bitter tears of things. There arises the real note of tragedy when the earth closes over some mute inglorious Milton, or over a man whose capacious intellect refused to unroll, let us say, the European history of the late Middle Ages. We seem to remember a story of an Oxford scholar of great learning. He published little or nothing, and one day when he felt death was not far off he deliberately destroyed notes and annotations of priceless value.

McLaughlin's Ginger Ale

Put up in sanitary bottles, in a sanitary plant. Everything of McLaughlin's is clean and pure.

Cucumbers and melons are "forbidden fruit" to many persons so constituted that the least indulgence is followed by attacks of cholera, dysentery, griping, etc. These persons are not aware that they can indulge to their heart's content if they have on hand a bottle of Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Dysentery Cordial, a medicine that will give immediate relief, and is a sure cure for all summer complaints.

No one need fear cholera or any summer complaint if they have a bottle of Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Dysentery Cordial ready for use. It corrects all looseness of the bowels promptly and causes a healthy and natural action. This is a medicine adapted for the young and old, rich and poor, and is rapidly becoming the most popular medicine for cholera, dysentery, etc., in the market.
