Sir Wilfrid Afraid of Voice of Ontario? It Is Too Soon to Consider By-Elections

When Interrogated by Member for S. York Premier Evades Issue of Popular Approval by an Appeal to Sentiment.

Ottawa, May 8 .- (Special.) -Sir Wilfrid Laurier took his usual refuge in ant when the member for South York to-day brought up the cabinet vacancy caused by the death of Hon. James Sutherland. He would take refuge in the same way two weeks hence, if no one went after him on the question. What Mr. Maclean said was, in effect, this : Fill the vacancy in the cabinet by making Mr. Hyman minister of public works, and then hold elections in both North Oxford and London at the earliest possible date, so London at the earliest possible date, so as to give the people of Ontario an op-portunity of passing on the school clauses of the autonomy bills. Mr. Maclean hinted that the government might expect to make but little progress with the autonomy bills if these elec-tions were not heid. He also incident-ally stated that no constitutional amendment should be attempted before the people had declared on it in a gen-eral election before the law was, in-troduced. Here is what was said in the house this afternoon on the subject: Troduced. Here is what was said in the troduced. Here is what was said in the house this afternoon on the subject: W. F. Maclean (South York): "Be-fore the orders of the day are called, I intend to draw the attention of the government, and of the house, to a matter of very great importance, and in order to put myself within the rules of the house I intend to conclude with a motion. The prime minister is no ooubt aware of a vacancy in his cabi-net; he is also no doubt aware that there is a vacancy in North Oxford, and if he is loyal and true to an old and trusted colleague there may already be for aught I know, a vacancy in the city of London. At the same time the right hon, gentleman is endeavor-ing to put thru this house a constitu-tional bill, a bill which, if once pass-ed, cannot be revoked. Babmit to the People First.

A PLEA FOR TIME

W. F. Maclean: Surely we are to have in this country government by the people and for the people; surely we are to have consultations with the people, and here is an opportunity for one. If the hon. gentlemen get the endorsation of the Province of Ontario they may have considerable reason for going on with this bill; but, in the meantime, after all that has taken place, after what the postmaster-general has said, and the minister of customs has said, and the confidence they have expressed in their policy, surely there ought to be no hesitation in filling these vacancies (London and North Oxford), or at least, filling one vacancy, and in making an-other vacancy in the house, and of having this question brought before the people.

before the people. Sir Wilfrid Laurier: It was only on Wednesday that our friend and colleague died, and it was only last Saturday that we attended his funeral. The government will have to choose a successor, and we will have, at an early date, to make an announcement to the house, but when the hon. gentleman expects that we should be pre-pared to give an answer to his question to-day, I think it betrays a want of consideration on his part, and that he asks a® question to which he does not expect me to respond. I shall give him his answer in due time

Time to Make Good.

"The Globe says it is constitutio ally wrong, that it is wrong as a mat-ter of policy, whereas the hon, gentle-men say their policy is right and that they are prejared to justify it in the Province of Ontario. Then they must justify it under these circumstances in these constituencies of Ontario, and they must justify it now. If they hold back these elections the inference will be that they are afraid to discuss their be that they are arraid to discuss their policy in that province. Surely there is no lack of men. I imagine that the acting minister of public works is ready to fight the cause in the City of Lon-don; I am even told that the chief whip (Mr. Calvert) of the party for Ontario is ready to fight for the cause in his constituency in Outario: and we in his constituency in Ontario; and w all know that the right hon. gentlema has a minister on tap in the City of has a minister on tap in the City o Toronto, in the person of A. We cannot, however, see any occasion for alarm, having regard to the strong oppo-sition which the bill has aroused, especially on the part of the minister of justice, which makes it very doubtful whether the mea-sure will ever become law. But, even sup-posing that it takes its place on the statute books, so far as the prosperous railways of Canada are concerned, the bondholders will other hand, the effect is in one way calcu-lated to benefit bondholders in weaker cor-porations, inasmuch as a sale of defaulting property would be made easier than under the present legislation. The people really injured would be the Canadian public, as new legislation would certainly tend to create a sentiment of dis-trust in the minds of British and foreign investors. General sessions, 10.
