DR. ATHERTON IS MAKING SWEEP IN YORK

Fredericton, N. B., Sept. 2.—(Special)—Dr. Atherton is putting up a great campaign in York, and converts are being made daily to the reciprocity ranks. The Tories are already badly scared.

Last Monday was nomination for the Municipal Council, and the Tories who have for years maintained a tight grip on the county council, were so badly rattled that they allowed two parishes—Kingsclear and Bright—to go to the enemy by default. One of the candidates in Kingsclear was Labor C. Everett, a former Conservative who, two weeks ago, in a newspaper interview, came out strongly for reciprocity. His pronouncement was really a challenge to his opponents, but they were afraid to take it up.

Bright, the home of Dr. Morehouse, M. P., returns a Liberal unsupported for the first time in its history.

The duck shooting season opened yesterday, and several expeditions are being organized for Labor Day.

SOME OF NEXT WEEK'S LIBERAL MEETINGS

Tuesday, Sept. 5—Golden Grove—W. J. Mahoney, Dr. Lunney, W. E. Foster.

Wednesday, Sept. 6—Queens Rink, City—The candidates and Dr. Alward.

Thursday, Sept. 7—Kingsclear—Messrs. Lowell, Alward and Wallace.

Friday, Sept. 8—Haymarket Square—James Lowell and Dr. Lunney.

Friday, Sept. 8—Kings Hall, Lower Cove—James Lowell, W. J. Mahoney, Fred Knowlton, Wm. Magee.

THIS TORY STORY SETTLED

The story has been persistently circulated in Conservative circles that Conservative interests had acquired or were about to acquire the Halifax Chronicle, an able Liberal newspaper, and use it for campaign purposes. In reply to an enquiry the Times has received the following dispatch from the managing editor of the Chronicle:

Halifax, N. S., Sept. 1.—The story that the Morning Chronicle has been purchased by Conservative interests and will abandon the Liberal party is without a shadow of foundation. It is simply a falsehood, and has already been so denounced by me on behalf of the proprietors in a telegram published in the Toronto Globe and in the Morning Chronicle on August 2nd.

An event of exceptional interest to Shakespearean students and public in general is the engagement, at the St. John Opera House, of Constance Crawley, supported by Arthur Maude and her company of London players throughout the latter part of next week. The success made by this talented English literary woman in Great Britain, South Africa and finally in the west, has proclaimed her worthy of no little distinction in her profession. She is to present here on Wednesday evening next Shakespeare's comedy, "The Taming of the Shrew," which will also be repeated on Friday evening. For the Thursday and Saturday nights will be presented the comedy, "The Romanians," which will be presented. Each of these plays preceded by Oscar Wilde's one-act dramatic episode, "A Florentine Tragedy." At the Saturday matinee Shakespeare's "Romeo and Juliet" will be the offering.

SIR WILFRID LAURIER'S REPLY TO HENRI BOURASSA IN 1900 ON CANADA'S LOYALTY TO BRITAIN

"Shall the sacrifice be all on the one side and none on the other? We were not compelled to do what we did, but if we chose to be generous, to do a little more than we are bound to do, where is a man living who would find fault with us for that action? He (Bourassa) dreads the consequences of this action in sending out a military contingent to South Africa. Let me tell him from the bottom of my heart that my heart is full of the hopes I entertain of the beneficial results which will accrue from that action. When our young volunteers sailed from our shores to join the British army in South Africa, great were our expectations that they would display on those distant battlefields the same courage which had been displayed by their fathers when fighting against one another in the last century. Again, in many breasts there was a fugitive sense of uneasiness at the thought that the first facing of musketry and cannon by raw recruits is always a severe trial. But when the telegraph brought us the news that such was the good impression made by our volunteers that the Commander-in-Chief had placed them in the post of honor, in the first rank, to share the danger with that famous corps, the Gordon Highlanders; when we heard that they had justified fully the confidence placed in them, that they had charged like veterans, that their conduct was heroic and had won for them the encomiums of the Commander-in-Chief and the unstinted admiration of their comrades who had faced death upon a hundred battlefields in all parts of the world, in there a man whose bosom did not swell with pride, that noblest of all pride, that pride of pure patriotism, the pride of the consciousness of our rising strength, the pride of the consciousness that on that day it had been revealed to the world that a new power had arisen in the West? Nor is that all. The work of union and harmony between the chief races of this country is not yet complete. We know by the unfortunate occurrences that took place last week that there is much to do in this way. But there is no bond of union so strong as the bond created by common dangers faced in common. Today there are men in South Africa representing the two branches of the Canadian family fighting side by side for the honor of Canada. Already some of them have fallen, giving to the country the last full measure of devotion. Their remains have been laid in the same grave, there to remain to the end of time in that last fraternal embrace. Can we not hope, I ask my honorable friend himself, that in that grave shall be buried the last vestiges of our former antagonism? If such shall be the result, if we can indulge that hope, if we can believe that in that grave shall be buried contentions, the sending of the contingents would be the greatest service ever rendered Canada since Confederation."

"This speech," wrote J. S. Willison, who is now editor of the Toronto News, "had an extraordinary effect upon Parliament. It was cheered tumultuously by members on both sides of the House, and the crowded galleries set decorum at defiance, and joined with uncontrollable enthusiasm in the demonstration below. It touched the heart of Canada, and in Great Britain was received with unaffected praise and gratitude, praise for its power and beauty and finish, gratitude for its splendid vindication of the British cause, and splendid utterance of the love and devotion of the Canadian people to the unshaken Empire. It stands as the most eloquent and impressive speech which the war has evoked."
