The Manufacturers of Massachusetts.

Jordan, Marsh & Co., the great dry goods men of Boston, say in their circular: "As is well known, Boston is the headquarters for the immense manufacturing and trade in cotton, woolen, shoes, and leather, and the thousand other manufactures of New England. The manufactures of Massachusetts alone, in 1875, produced 592,000,000 worth of goods, from 22,228 establishments, on an invested capital of $283,000,000. Our textile manufactures amounted that year to 136,000,000; boots and shoes, 90,000,000; metal and metallic products, $38,000,000; clothing, $20,000,000; leather, 25,000,000. Besides, our capitalists are largely interested in the manufactures of Maine, New Hampshire, Rhode Island, and Connecticut. Their products are to be found here, and here are a large portion of the supplies purchased to keep in operation their mills, &c. The recent successful auction sale of $3,600,000 worth of rubber goods, in Boston, established beyond a doubt our supremacy in that trade, as well as in other longer established. The great demand here for the raw materials, cotton, wool, hides, iron, &c., the food and luxuries to sustain the millions of operatives of New England, and the population of a million within a few miles of our City Hall, together with the great export trade now developing, make Boston the best market for the products of the Western and Southern or Western States and the raw materials and novelties of foreign countries."

The Prince of Wales, during his visit at Trouville, was at the house of a noble lady, who, in honor of H. R. H., had given a card party, whereat gaming for high stakes was going on, when suddenly the awful spectre of a police officer, dressed in his robes of office, was beheld at the door, and the words of doom were pronounced: "Let no one leave the room!" Instant emotion of the women and alarm of the men; the Prince hid his face and the Baroness de Polly fainted, and there was a lively time for a moment or two, till the official removed his false beard and announced that it was discovered that the whole affair was a joke which the Prince with the assistance of the Princess de Segan, had "put up" on the company.

The late Senator Morton is said to have been a very humorous speaker when he first came out, and delivered at least one irresistibly funny speech at Terra Haute, which was so successful that he was invited to repeat it in all parts of the State. He, however, recognized the danger of becoming a humorist and passing all his life for a "light-weight" politician, and resolutely refused ever afterwards to assume the role of a buffoon. Careless living, late studying night after night, followed by hearty suppers, may be said to have caused his death.

The Rev. R. W. Dale, of Birmingham, Eng., who is the lecturer in the Lyman Beecher lecture course at Yale College, delivered an address on British politics in New Haven, in the course of which he said that if there should be any attempt by Lord Beaconsfield to maintain the integrity of the Turkish Empire, or spend British blood or gold in that interest, the conservative party in England would soon receive its death blow.

On Wednesday last at Columbus, Ill., Henry Gebe and his wife were murdered and their house pillaged. Chas. Strah has been arrested at St. Louis, as the murderer.

A singular case of mania is to be tried in England, the defendant being a woman, who bit a publican on the leg when he attempted to turn her out of his house. He died soon after of delirium tremens which was attributed to the effect of the bite.

REMOVAL.

The STANDARD office has been removed to the building immediately opposite the late office, in the building recently occupied by Mr. Bradley. The printing and publication are on the second flat.

The entrance to the STANDARD office is from the side door on Whitlock's lane, next Mr. Lechay's store, which will be more direct than through the store formerly occupied by Mr. Bradley.

Again we are without assistance, which necessitates the issue of a half sheet, but we trust ere another week elapses, to publish a full sheet. Were those indebted for subscriptions for years even to pay a part of what is due, we could not be without assistance. Workmen must be paid, and it has always been a first consideration with us to pay them promptly, believing that the laborer is worthy of his hire. Were many of our subscribers governed by a like principle, it would be better for all of us. Having done one part, it is to be hoped that those indebted will do theirs. A winter's supply of papers is required, and we trust those who have received bills will forward the amounts without further intimation.

ANNUAL DINNER.—The Charlotte County Agricultural Society's annual dinner on Thursday, 23rd November, will be held at the Megantic Hotel.

The performance given by the "Quinciplex Club" on Thursday evening last, in Stevenson Hall, was really good; the characters were well sustained, and the comic singing capital—indeed the native talent was deserving of a larger audience; the public notice by posters was too late. We hope the troupe will be induced to repeat the performance, and that they will give timely notice, and have a full house. Performances given by foreign artists, were not as much provoking, as that given by the "Quinciplex Troupe."

THE TEMPERANCE WAVE appears to be sweeping over the length and breadth of the land. Many of our exchanges give accounts of large Temperance meetings being held, the enthusiasm in the cause, and the great numbers who signed the pledge. In this Province the work is carried on quietly and persistently by the various organizations—Reform Clubs taking the lead.

In Maine, the amendment to the Maine Law unanimously passed January 1877, making the penalty for selling liquor $100 fine and three months imprisonment, is working well. It is said that in Bangor, Portland and other liquor places, no liquor can be openly obtained. In Massachusetts the prohibition party are strong, but the license party elected the Governor, Rice. In most of the other States there are large prohibition parties, and temperance revivals, and the spirit of reform is spreading. In the Southern States they continue the old practice of taking their whiskey in "punches," "meat," and in other ways.

Ballou's Monthly Magazine for December has been received, and is a marvel of beauty and of interest. There is such a variety in this publication, that every one will find something of interest in its pages. There is not a single article that is not readable; while the illustrations are all fresh, especially the one on the first page, alluding Christmas and New-Year's greetings. The poetry and prose is above the average, the stories excellent, and the illustrations well executed. Published by Thomas & Tabor, Boston, at $1.50 per annum.

The weather continues mild, and no appearance of snow.

THANKSGIVING.—Notice was given in the churches on Sunday last, that Thursday, 22nd inst., having been proclaimed throughout the Dominion, a day of Thanks giving to Almighty God, for the blessing of an abundant harvest, Divine Services would be held at the usual hour. It is to be hoped the day will be observed by all classes and creeds, as they have much cause for acknowledgment, for numerous blessings vouchsafed to them.

THE WAR will soon be ended, should the European despatches received this week, prove correct. Russia has too many men for Turkey to cope with, although up to the present, the Turks have won the most battles, still the ranks of the Russians are filled up with fresh men to take the places of their dead and wounded, and in time the Turks would be annihilated. The intelligence of the 18th, states that the Russians have succeeded in taking Kars by storm, at a fearful loss of men, the battle preceding the capture lasted twelve hours. It is reported that the Russians made an assault on Plevna, and had been repulsed with heavy loss.

It is also rumored that the Sultan is of opinion that both armies have established their valor, and that the truce is approaching when the war can be ended by mediation.

THE FRENCH MINISTRY have resigned. MacMahon is hemmed in by public opinion as expressed at the late elections, that his overbearing military spirit is in a measure subdued. Like some military men he may answer to direct armies, but is unfit for governing a country.

A Springfield, Mass., school boy who was walking on Armory street, saw a bull-dog holding his head low and frothing at the mouth, apparently mad, and making straight for a five-year-old who was playing in the street. He at once stepped up to the child, and when the dog reached him, kicked it over, throttled it with one hand, and killed it with a stick he was carrying, receiving during the scuffle a bite in the wrist, that left three tooth-marks, which he proceeded coolly to burn out with some matches. The child was uninjured.

A Newton clergyman, Rev. Mr. Wyman, who kindly fed and sheltered a tramp one night last week, had his charity repaid, by being drugged and robbed by the scamp. Mr. Wyman was unconscious for nearly nine hours. The fellow deserves the rap of a—dead elephant.

An attempt is now being made in Montreal to renew the "Canada first" movement, altho' under a different name and in a somewhat different way. The foundation of a Canadian National Society is projected, and a preliminary meeting has been held, the special object being to unite together citizens of every origin and of all shades of opinion with the one purpose of harmoniously striving to cultivate and foster a truly national and patriotic feeling.

In another column, is recorded a pleasant event for a young man, a native of this town, residing in England, and only son of the late George W. King, favorably known here, while one of the contractors for the construction of the N. B. & C. Railway. We congratulate our young friend on the auspicious addition.

Mobile, Alabama, appears to have recovered from the war. The Register, in an editorial, says that the city has three times the population it had at the outbreak of the war, and the falling off in the cotton receipts will not spoil its future prosperity.

There were fourteen voluntary bankrupts in Chicago last month, mainly with the object of carrying off some old loans and "real estate," apparently has to be charged with most of the shertage.

The Dominion Telegraph Company have opened an office at Petitediac.

Our contemporary, the "Borderer," attained its majority on the 15th inst., and we congratulate our young friend its present editor and proprietor, Mr. Reynolds, on its improved appearance, and the success he is meeting with since he purchased the office. We can assure him that he need not expect to please everyone, but by pursuing a straightforward course he will gain the respect of right thinking men of all parties.

The Toronto Globe reports, on apparently good authority, a shower of fish recently in Harwich township. A schoolmaster declares that he picked up a pair of fine fresh fish, of the pickerel species, and several others did the same. This extraordinary fall of fish extended about three quarters of a mile.

Nova Scotia factories are being closed up, (according to the Halifax Herald's statement) by St. John enterprise. It is admitted that enterprise and energy will build up any place, that has a population.

Provincial exchanges state that large numbers of men have gone to the woods. The prospects for remunerative prices for lumber are encouraging.

LOCAL MATTER.

SKATING.—We noticed in the Ontario papers, the youth have been enjoying skating on the ponds and small lakes, while we "down by the sea" have not had sufficient frost to prevent ploughing or to skim over the ponds.

JUST THE THING.

Gaskell's Compendium, a system of self-instruction in Penmanship by Professor Gaskell, Principal of Bryant & Stratton's Commercial College, the best thing of the kind ever published, as thousands of testimonials vouch for. I am agent for this work, and will send a copy of it postage pre-paid to any address, on receipt of published price $1.00.

C. H. SMITH, St. Croix Bookstore, St. Stephen, N. B.

The London Daily News speaks rather despondingly of the outlook in Britain, it says:—

"The winter approaches with strikes and rumors of strikes on all hands. There is scarcely an important seat of industry which is not the scene of some dispute. There is scarcely an important trade in which may ripen into actual conflict between masters and men; and as many of the strikes show no sign of coming to an end, the outlook for the winter is gloomy."

It is now considered settled, in Washington, that the President will veto the silver bill, even if it should pass the Senate.

Hon Isaac Barpee has arrived in St. John.

Ottawa, Nov. 19: An Irish Catholic Unionist was buried in Montreal to-day with great parade and society honors, the Shamrock Band being in the procession.

The question of Volunteers pay for services at Hackett's funeral will come again before Montreal City Council to-night.

The steamer Newfield began landing to-day for Paris.

Veran Kaleh, Nov. 10. On Sunday morning, the fortress and city of Kars, with 3000 cannon, stored ammunition, cash, etc, fell into Russian hands. Turks lost 5,000 killed and wounded, and 10,050 prisoners and many flags. The Russian loss is 2,700.

Russian soldiers made but trifling booty and spared peaceful citizens, women and children. General Lovas Melikoff directed the battle during the day; Grand Duke Michel was present also. The former entered the city at eleven o'clock Sunday morning.
