LOCAL AND PROVINCIAL

News of the Day Selected from Monday's Evening Times.

Cought the Runaway.
A horse driven by Mrs. Fee became frightened on Quadra street this afternoon and ran away. That lady lost the reins and the horse dashed down Yates street. Pat Deasy was near by and gave the animal a long chase, at last catching it. No injuries were sustained by Mrs. Fee.

St. Andrew's Presbyterian.
Rev. J. C. Smith, of Galt, Ont., occupied the pulpit of St. Andrew's church yesterday, and will continue to do so for a month. There were large congregations at both services and Mr. Smith fully sustained his reputation of being one of Canada's ablest preachers. The choir has also improved wonderfully of late.

Good Sport.
Two of the legal fraternity left the city on Saturday morning for the lake in Otter district, some 28 miles from Victoria, and returned last evening. In a few hours they caught 163 fine trout, shot several ducks and grouse. Grouse appeared very scarce. One of the gentlemen said it was a long journey, but the reward was great. Thousands of salmon are running and jumping up Sooke river.

$25 000,000.00
Is the amount that must be raised within a certain period of time. We have bought an immense stock of goods on time which we shall settle for with slow notes one-half payable at our death and the other half when we return. It will easily be seen by anyone unacquainted with business that profits out no figure with us and we shall slash the profits off everything excepting our ladies' four-button kid gloves in which there is no profit to slash off. Russell & McDonald, 134 Douglas street.

Four Sailing Schooners.
Four sailing schooners, the Arietas, Capt. Douglas, Annie E. Paint, Capt. Bisset, Otto, Capt. Keeffe, and Mary Ellen, Capt. Hughes, arrived home between Saturday afternoon and Sunday noon. The Arietas has 1,200 skins, the Paint 1,200, the Otto 1,000 and the Mary Ellen 2,000. None of them have any news of special importance to give out. They have all been about 20 days running down from the Copper Islands, most of them meeting head winds. There are still three vessels out. They are the P. H. Hall, Walter L. Rich and Annie C. Moore.

Was Figger Show.
The Y. P. S. C. E. intend to show their friends to-morrow evening that they can give a concert entirely out of the ordinary style at the school room of the First Presbyterian church. The character of the programme is quite a change from the regular arrangement. The latter part will be quite a comical piece and bring out much laughter. Mrs. Jarley's "Figger Show" has been obtained at a great cost and trouble. Some of the figures are well known, "Babes in the Woods," "The Actor," "The Vocalist," "My Pretty Maid," etc. The first part is a pleasing one, in which will be given solos, recitations, dialogue, instrumental selections and an exhibition of club swinging by one of Mr. J. St. Clair's pupils.

A STORMY PASSAGE.

The Bark Formosa Delayed and Damaged by Southern Gales.

The bark Formosa, Captain William Kain, has arrived from Liverpool, 197 days from anchorage to anchorage. She has a general cargo for Victoria, and is signed to R. P. Rithet & Co., and will begin discharging immediately. She had a terribly stormy passage, the best of seamanship alone saving the ship from foundering at sea. It will be fortunate, too, if a portion of the cargo is not badly damaged and the ship in need of repairs. A Times man saw Captain Kain at the office of R. P. Rithet & Co. this morning. "You can say that we are very fortunate to be here at all," said he, "for we had a very rough passage. We got the most of our stormy weather in southern latitudes, and I firmly believe if we had not handled our ship very well we would have lost her and gone down with her. At one time the forward compartment was full of water. Our passage was not so very long compared with some that have been made in late years. I believe after what she came through that the Formosa is the best boat that ever came to this port. It would be wrong to say anything about damages to either the vessel or cargo until we know fully about them."

There is no doubt that the cargo is damaged, and there will most likely be a survey of the ship.

BRITISH FARMERS.

On a Tour of Inspection of the Different Portions of Canada.

On Saturday night a party of British farmers arrived in Victoria from England. They were brought out to this country by the Dominion government to report on the land of Canada available for agricultural pursuits. They have made an extended trip over the eastern provinces, Manitoba and the Canadian Northwest. They were present at the Westminster exhibition and also took in the city of Vancouver. The party spent Sunday in Victoria and visited the warships in Esquimalt harbor. This morning they went to Nanaimo and take the Cutch to-morrow for Vancouver and visit the Chilliwack and Sumas valleys before again returning. The party left England on August 24th and expect to sail for home on October 14th from Montreal. They appear to be very favorably impressed with the country but are somewhat disappointed that they did not make their trip earlier so that they could have seen the grain in the Northwest before it was harvested. The party were selected by the Canadian Royal High Commission. Sir John Thompson, who is in charge of Edward P. Leacock of Winnipeg. Their names and places of residence are: John Roberts, North Wales; J. T. Franklin, Notts; John Pitt, Devon; Arthur J. Davies, Worcester; W. Weeks, Cleveland; Wiles, William H. Dempster, South Wales and Thomas Mills, Bangor, North Wales.

This party represent the south and midland districts of England and Wales. Another party will be the way composed of representative farmers from the north of England, and from Scotland and Ireland.

WOULD BE DASTROUS.

Suggested That the Opium Factories be Controlled by Government.

Ed. Miall, commissioner of inland revenue, Ottawa, arrived in the city on Saturday evening. He was in the Northwest fixing the grain standards and thought the opportunity a good one to visit British Columbia and see how the affairs of his department were progressing. A visit was to-day paid to the department office, the cigar factories and the breweries. Mr. Miall was requested to require into the opium business while in Victoria. It had been suggested that the customs duty on the raw opium should be abolished and an excise tax collected on the refined article. This would prevent the municipality from collecting the license from the manufacturers, the factories being placed under the control of the Dominion government. In conversation with a Times reporter Mr. Miall said he would not recommend the suggested change, as the amount of opium consumed did not warrant it. Besides this it would materially reduce the municipal revenue.

If the Dominion government is not of the same opinion as Mr. Miall in regard to the matter and the change is made it will close most of the opium factories in the city, as smuggling would be practically stopped. If the factories were under the control of the inland revenue department every pound of opium manufactured would have to be accounted for and the United States officers would be able to find out whence the opium was going. It is not likely that the change will be made, as the amount of revenue collected would not warrant the additional expense necessary to look after the factories.

COULD TELL A TALE.

A Diamond That Would be of Service if It Could Speak.

The story of a diamond will be told in the police court on Tuesday morning. This particular diamond has got Edward Currier into trouble. Currier was arrested last night and is lodged in the city police cells, charged with the theft of the diamond, which is valued at $50. The story runs: Some months ago Geo. C. Sauer, saloonkeeper, was taken sick and was sent to the hospital. He had a diamond ring, which he gave to Gus Varrelman, brewer, and a friend of his, to take care of during his illness. Gus Varrelman sent a suit of clothes to R. Ramous, the tailor on Oriental avenue, to get cleaned and repaired. The clothes were returned and Gus Varrelman then missed his friend's diamond. He was pretty positive that he had left the ring in the pocket of the pantaloons, but it was not there when the clothes came back. Varrelman called on Ramous, who said that he had not seen the diamond ring. Some weeks elapsed, when Ramous one day in sweeping the shop saw something glitter on the floor. He asked Currier what it was and Currier unhesitatingly replied that it was a diamond and worth quite a little. Currier returned several hours afterward with Richard Wallace of the Delmonico, and they together examined the diamond. The stone was returned to Ramous and put away. Ramous afterwards discovered that he had a piece of glass in his possession. He had been robbed. Sunday afternoon he saw Currier in the bar of a saloon with the diamond, which was mounted. Currier, when Ramous noticed him, is said to have put his hand into his pocket and to have drawn it forth again minus the diamond. This is the story of Ramous, but Currier says that he paid $300 to Ramous for the diamond and was being swindled. He proved it. The owner of the diamond has nothing to say in the matter.

Three Candidates.
Three candidates were to-day nominated for South ward to succeed G. G. McTavish. They are John Dougall, William McDowell and Dennis R. Harris. Mr. Dougall was the only candidate present when the nominations closed, and consequently no speeches followed. John Dougall was proposed by Percival Brown and seconded by Chas. Hayward; William McDowell, proposed by C. A. Cameron and seconded by R. B. Andrews; Dennis Reginald Harris, proposed by George Byrnes and seconded by Robert Ward. The election takes place on Thursday.

Le Monde publishes the text of a letter addressed by Mr. Mercier to the French citizens of Seattle, Kan., in reply to a communication informing him that so long as he did not repudiate the clergy and the Catholic religion he would not be successful in his agitation for independence. Mr. Mercier declares he is believing and practicing the Catholic faith, that such are his religious convictions, and that he would rather give up hope of seeing his country independent than renounce them.

—The Queen last week laid the foundation stone of the new "kirk" which is to be erected at Crathie, the parish in which Balmoral is situated, and her majesty has subscribed $500 towards the building fund, a similar amount having been contributed by Mr. Panquharson of Invercauld. The present church, which was built in 1805, is a baronial structure, the chief ornaments being the stained glass windows which were erected in it by the Queen as a memorial to Dr. Norman Macleod, and they are to be removed to the new church. Formerly the Queen attended worship in the Crathie church every Sunday when the weather was fine, but such hordes of disorderly tourists were latterly attracted from Ballater and Braemar that this arrangement was discontinued, and for many years her majesty has gone to the service only on "sacrament Sabbath."

One of the aisles of the new church will be set apart exclusively for Balmoral and Aberdeenshire people, and it is to be approached by two separate entrances. In olden times the church of Crathie belonged to the abbey of Cambuskenneth, and the ivy-clad ruins of the ancient structure are very picturesque. The churchyard is exceedingly well kept, as it is under the charge of the Balmoral gardeners, and it is frequently visited by the Queen, who has erected a number of gravestones in memory of royal servants, the principal monument being the one over the "family grave" of John Brown, whose "forbearance" had lived in the parish for many generations. The Brown burial-place is now enclosed by an iron railing.
