LEAGUE MAY UNDERGO A CHANGE

London, Ont., Sept. 3.—When the curtain is rung down on the Canadian League 1914 season Labor Day, it will, if the owners remain in the same state of mind until the league meeting, a few weeks hence, see the passing of two cities from the circuit, possibly a third, and perhaps the name of the league itself may undergo a change.

St. Thomas Owners Through.
 The St. Thomas shareholders state that they are through with their team for all time, and are at present attempting to sell their franchise to a number of Youngstown, Ohio, business men.

Attendance at St. Thomas has been dropping off all season, and many times the directors have had to pay the guarantee out of their own pockets. On Wednesday afternoon, while the Tecumsha were on the road, local fans went over to the Railroad City, and outnumbered the home fans three to one.

Erie fans throughout the present season have looked with disfavor on the Canadian League, a majority of them because it stands for something Canadian, and the rest have soured on the league and failed to patronize their team for the simple reason that the papers there have kept continually harping that this league was not putting up a brand of ball equal to that which Erie fans were used to. Like St. Thomas, the attendance dropped off, until the remaining games had to be transferred to Ottawa.

Owner O'Neill has signified his intention of disposing of his present holding to a joint stock company of Erie citizens. The season at Erie was a bad one for the manager, his loss running up into the thousands. Asked if he would hold on for another season at Erie, O'Neill replied:

"What's the use of throwing good money after bad?"
 Fans at Erie are clamoring for a league of their own, with the following cities in it: Youngstown, Akron, Dayton, Erie and Grand Rapids. They all argue that another season of the Canadian league in Erie will kill baseball there for years to come, and with that outlook before him, Owner O'Neill has signified his intention of selling out.

Toronto Spurned Poor.
 When Toronto was picked to enter the league circuit, the moguls thought that they had added a power of strength to their circuit, but it was a bad guess. The Queen City fans have failed to support President Fitzgerald's league, and the men behind George Orr's aggregation must seek another city for their 1915 campaign. The last time the locals played at Toronto they barely made their guarantee.

Change League Name.
 Yankees seeking franchises in the league state that before they will make a purchase the name Canadian League will have to be dropped and some name that would be more appropriate to both sides of the border adopted. The way the Erie papers roared the Canadian League has made it plain to would-be purchasers that the American public will not patron-

CATCHER IN HERO ROLE

1914 Poor Season.
 With the exception of the London and Ottawa clubs, the past season from a financial standpoint has been a very bad one. The clubs mentioned are the only ones on the circuit that will show a balance on the right side of the ledger.

Want a Medal for Man Who Saved White.
 Members of the Erie baseball team besides numerous other friends of Norman, better known as "Bookie" McNeill, catcher, are contemplating asking for a Carnegie hero medal for his heroism in saving the life of William White in Lake Erie, off Waldmeier, yesterday morning.

McNeill dove into the water with all his clothes on and reached the sinking man just as he went under for the third time. Grabbing him by the hair, the plucky catcher set out against the waves and after a desperate struggle brought White back to the beach. Persons on the beach worked on White for over an hour before he recovered. Two quarts of water was taken from his lungs.

McNeill was exhausted after his battle with the waves, but soon recovered and hurried home, where he changed his attire.
