Sir Edward Kemp Says Their Achievements Greatest in Corps' History.

London, Aug. 12.—(Canadian Associated Press)—Sir Edward Kemp, overseas ministed of militia, said today the official reports covering the Canadian operations until nine o'clock Saturday morning showed the achievements of the Canadians in the present offensive were the greatest in the corps history. The extent of their advance on August 8 and 9 was twelve miles. They went further in those two days than the Germans had progressed in the first two days of their March offensive. The frontage of the Canadian attack on August 8 was 7,500 yards, while the line held on Saturday was upwards of 16,000 yards wide with fighting of an open character. They captured 7,000 prisoners with over a hundred guns and machine guns by the hundred. On the first day the Canadians were opposed by four German divisions, every battalion of which was identified.

While definite figures concerning the casualties are not yet obtainable. Sir Edward Kemp says our losses are moderate, "the smallest by a long way of any previous major operation in which the corps has been engaged, notwithstanding that the accomplish-ments in the present battle are the most gratifying in the corps history."
