

FRANCE GIVES ISLE FOR VACCINE TESTS

Dr. Calmette Reveals Plan for Research for Human Tuberculosis Cure.

By WYTHE WILLIAMS.
(Copyright, 1920, by Public Ledger Co.)

Paris, Dec. 2.—Dr. Albert Calmette, of the Pasteur Institute, whose discovery of an anti-tuberculosis vaccine for cattle was exclusively announced in these despatches, has today made further written statements for the Public Ledger Foreign Service, revealing a plan to continue his researches for a vaccine that will cure human tuberculosis.

The French Government has now placed the island of Reunion, in the west coast of Africa, at Dr. Calmette's disposal for a period of twenty years, together with a sum of money for building laboratories and a breeding station for apes, to be used in experimental tests. The government has faith that before the end of this period the "white plague" of mankind will be fitted as a preventable disease. Dr. Calmette's statement follows:

"The possibilities of experimentation on various kinds of monkeys, particularly on anthropoid apes, has already been established by their sensibility not only to tuberculosis but to other human maladies, such as yellow fever, leprosy, several eruptive fevers, typhus and syphilis.

Working Several Years.

"For several years the Pasteur Institute has tried to enlarge and develop its experiments, but large monkeys such as the chimpanzee can be kept under exceptional conditions in laboratories situated in temperate zones. They also are very difficult to get. In their indigenous climate they are not only easy to obtain but it is easy to keep them in good health for an indefinite period of proper care is taken to nourish them with native food and to allow them a relative amount of liberty. French Guinea is especially rich in chimpanzees and other species of monkeys. The islands of Los, although covered with abundant tropical vegetation, are inhabited by only a few native fishermen. The islands are constantly swept by Atlantic trade winds and are exceptionally healthy. Malaria is unknown there. About four knots distant is the commercial port of Conakry, which is the terminus of a railway from Guinea to the Niger, which traverses the forests of Foutah Djallon.

GAS IN THE STOMACH IS DANGEROUS

Recommends Daily Use of Magnesia To Overcome
Trouble—Caused by Fermenting Food and Acid Indigestion.

Gas and wind in the stomach accompanied by that full, bloated feeling after eating are almost certain evidence of the presence of excessive hydrochloric acid in the stomach, creating so-called "acid indigestion."

Acid stomachs are dangerous because too much acid irritates the delicate lining of the stomach, often leading to gastritis accompanied by serious stomach ulcers. Food ferments and sours, creating the distressing acid which distends the stomach and hampers the normal functions of the vital internal organs, often affecting the heart.

It is the worst of folly to neglect such a serious condition or to treat with ordinary digestive aids when have no neutralizing effect on the stomach acids. Instead get from any druggist a few ounces of Bismarck Magnesia and take a teaspoonful in a quarter glass of water right after eating. This will drive the gas, wind and bloated right out of the body, soothe the stomach, neutralize the excess acid and prevent its formation and there is no sourness or pain. Bismarck Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and the best form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy that peace with no more fear of indigestion.

TO MAKE TROUBLE BETWEEN THE UNITED STATES AND JAPAN

Lenine Says This Was Object in Granting Concessions to Vanderlip.

(Copyright, 1920, by Public Ledger.)

Berlin, Dec. 2.—Herald dispatches say that Lenine, placed on the defensive at the Communist district conference in Moscow regarding the Vanderlip concession explained that they were granted for political reasons with the intention of stirring up trouble between Japan and the United States. By granting the concessions, said Lenine, he had sharpened relations between America and Japan and he planned to exploit these troubles in his own interest.

The concessions also represent, he said, a moral and material victory over the bourgeois nations which "instead of defeating us, are forced to strengthen our position."

Evidently feeling, however, that his explanations were inadequate, Lenine supplemented them with the declaration that Russia was forced to enter such arrangements because one nation alone cannot stand out against the capitalism of the whole world.

ALLIANCE WANTS "BONE DRY" RULE

J. Willard Smith stated that there had been one case against a company in St. John awaiting settlement since last June. No newspaper, he said, had the courage to publish the name although the case had come up seven or eight times. When questioned regarding the matter one editor had replied that he supposed all were equally guilty, and the only excuse given was that a member of the firm in question had, at one time, been connected with the newspaper business.

Mr. Boothroyd moved a resolution urging all branches of the Alliance to take steps to publish names of those convicted.

A. C. M. Lawson.

A. C. M. Lawson, of Fredericton, said that, in justice to the newspapers, he thought they were willing to publish letters when signed with a man's name. "People," he said, "are afraid to father what they want the newspapers to father. They want reforms but say don't use my name. Newspapers want to be popular and to please what pleases the general public. If they were sure of raising subscribers they would publish most anything. If they were supported as the W. C. T. U. had supported a paper by paying for space, the newspapers would come across, he was sure. The time is over for expecting free space.

Another member said that newspapers could not be expected to refuse advertising, as they were in business to make money. Another man stated that the papers accepted and published the Temperance advertising at the time of the Referendum.

Mr. Lawson suggested that the Alliance take a column in the St. John Standard and Telegraph and see that the Temperance news is put before the people.

From the chair, Donald Fraser objected to supporting the Standard, making reference to editorials which he claimed constituted an anti-prohibition campaign.

Mr. N. Vroom said that it seemed to him cutting off the head of a serpent was the only remedy. Publicity, as far as the enforcement of the law was concerned, would greatly benefit the work.

A Different View.

E. S. Hennigar said that the press is out for money as everybody is in these days, and suggested taking a column in all papers and having a temperance advertisement in each. He wanted something written in the papers about the magistrate delaying proceedings against offenders.

Rev. Thomas Marshall stated that he had been practically promised by a newspaper that what he wrote over his own name would be published, and that when he sent in a paper, he was asked to pay for it. I don't want to win, he told me. It was easy to believe him.

Pay For What is Wanted.

Mr. Boothroyd supported the idea that the Alliance should pay for what they wanted, and not go with their hat in their hand asking for publicity. Mr. Fraser said that the Alliance had not the money to pay for a lot of advertising, and to this Mr. Lawson replied that the liquor dealers had, and that the Alliance could get it.

A Question.

A question was asked regarding the advertisements in newspapers of Montreal firms why the word "liquor" is not mentioned in such advertisements, and why liquor advertisements are allowed to come through the press.

Rev. Thomas Marshall read a section of the act which forbids a liquor advertisement in New Brunswick. He said it had been impossible to get the use of the mails for such circulars.

Montreal "Sewer."

Another question asked by C. W. Welman was a pertinent inquiry as to what becomes of the liquor seized by the inspectors and stored in the Government warehouses? J. Willard Smith remarked that it was poured into that sewer called "Montreal."

Rev. Thomas Marshall stated that some was sold by the Government to Montreal, some to licensed vendors, some given to hospitals, and some destroyed. It was not found to be pure was destroyed.

An Investigation.

Another matter which was gone into thoroughly was the report of the commission appointed by the Government to investigate the charges against Schlessinger and Denner. The Government has never made public the report of the commission, which directed by William Ryan, of St. John, investigated charges made against the subjects at Andover and Woodstock. It is understood from a copy of the report, which is in the hands of the Alliance, that the subject is completely exonerated.

Mr. Denning stated that he felt the charges against him had been made public, his exoneration should also be published. He had been accused of taking money from rum dealers, and this had never been officially denied, although a report was made five months ago finding no charges against him. The only thing they were able to prove, Mr. Denning stated, was that he had given brandy to a man who had been pinned under a wall for thirty minutes and was in a fainting condition, and to another man who was suffering from the effects of the same accident.

Rev. Thomas Marshall remarked that, while he hated liquor like the devil, he felt it was of the devil, still if he thought a man were in dire need and required liquor, he would give it to him.

Donald Fraser said he thought it was the duty of members of the Alliance to attend trials of liquor inspectors and be sure that justice was done. Not to condemn evil, but to see fair play.

The Receipts.

During a discussion on the salary of the chief inspector it was brought out that the government is in receipt of $85,000, including expenses from

SCOTLAND'S DRY LEADER NEITHER FANATIC OR BULLY

Predicts "Land of Burns" Will be Dry in Five Years—
Wants No Outsiders.

By JAMES HODSON.
(Copyright, 1920, by London Daily Mail and Grosvenor.)

Glasgow, Dec. 2.—"Come in and warm your toes at the fire," said a hearty voice, and a big hand reached forward. The voice and the hand belonged to a broad, big man of 57, bald on top with black-gray, wiry hair at the sides and a short-clipped moustache. A rather heavy face enlivened by twinkling, brownish-gray eyes broke into a smile when he spoke. The place was the office of the National Citizens' Council, 121 St. Vincent St., Glasgow, the "dry" G. H. Q., and the man was Lieut.-Col. James Kyle, 21-G. G. D. S. O., the "brain" behind the movement. Put a pair of horn-rimmed spectacles on him and you would catch a distinct resemblance to "Paddy" Johnson.

For 16 years as solicitor to the Glasgow Citizens' Vigilance Association, Col. Kyle has fought the liquor trade, opposing every new license and striving to get others withdrawn.

Dry in Five Years.

Last year, when the National Citizens' Council formed to organize the local option clauses he was appointed general secretary. The council will go out of existence when Scotland is dry, within—in Col. Kyle's opinion—5 years' time. He controls a staff of 30, and indirectly, thousands of workers throughout Scotland.
