Mrs. Jessie Strong died on Saturday af-ternoon at the hospital, where she had been for some weeks. Deceased kept a beer shop in Brussels street

"Nothing could be done to rescue an McClellan sank at once, but the y could be heard calling for help for my minutes. One man had his left arm bken, and another is suffering from my minutes. One man had his left arm bken, and another is suffering from hken for hope of being saved, for though we were in the track of steamers, the Nemea was filling fast, and we feared the might go down before help arrived. We worked at the pumps almost up to our necks in water till they refused to work, and then the Vedamore saw us in the very nick of time.

"It was about 3.30 in the morning"

"We gave up hope of being saved, for the pumps almost up to our necks in water till they refused to work, and then the Vedamore saw us in the very nick of time.
