

SUCCESS OF FISH CULTURE IN CANADA

FIFTY-TWO HATCHLRIES AND PONDS

Fishermen of the Great Lakes Are Therefore Able to Pursue Their Calling.

The conservation of natural resources has always been a prominent thought in the Dominion mind, and Canada as a country entering upon her youth, has the experiences of older countries from which to profit, and the opportunity to benefit from the utter destruction which follows upon the careless depletion of a nation's natural gifts.

Canada is alive to the expense of knowledge by experience, conservation is a term that looms large in national activity, preached by authority, and driven home by press and literature. The Dominion realizes the disastrous results of depleting her forest products without replanting, of ruthlessly slaughtering each year countless fur-bearing animals without making provision for artificial propagation of depleting her lakes and streams beyond their natural reproduction without replenishing them.

Replenishing the Inland Waters.

It was early realized that with the progress of settlement the lakes and streams of Canada could not withstand the heavy annual toll of sportsmen and commercial fishermen, and to meet the situation the Government inaugurated a system of replenishing the watercourses and established fish hatcheries for the artificial propagation of fish. From a small beginning, this work has grown as the necessity of expansion arose, until at the end of 1919 there were throughout the Dominion, forty-four hatcheries reproducing young fish, replenishing the streams and lakes of the various provinces as well as caring for the commercial fishing fields of both the Canadian Atlantic and Pacific coasts.

There are thirty-five main hatcheries, eleven subsidiary hatcheries, and six salmon retaining ponds in active operation. Those in British Columbia, Nova Scotia and New Brunswick have, in addition to their inland waters, to supplement the supply of fish off their coasts, whilst those of the provinces of the interior occupy themselves with producing fry to restock the inland lakes, commercial fishing on which is ever extending, and the rivers and smaller streams within their confines.

Mortality Among Fish is Great.

Nature unaided can do but little to meet the demand for fish against depletion. Mortality among fish is so great that only an infinitesimal percentage reaches maturity. Against this waste in nature, as high as 90 per cent. of the eggs taken by artificial methods, under favorable conditions, have not only been fertilized but hatched and the young fry liberated. The average hatch in Canadian hatcheries is from 50 to 85 per cent., depending on the species and the conditions under which the eggs are taken.

In the year 1919, the Dominion hatcheries distributed 1,880,000 green eggs, 1,697,000 eyed eggs, 979,147,249 fry, 1,943,601 advanced fry, 356,388 fingerlings, and 12 yearlings, or placing back in Canadian waters the equivalent of 985,024,250 fish. The species used in restocking the waters consisted of Atlantic, greenhead, sockeye, coho, and pink salmon; rainbow, speckled, and salmon trout; whitefish, herring and pickerel.

The Value of Restocking.

The success of fish culture in Canada speaks for itself. Fishermen of the Great Lakes admit that but for the Government's restocking activities, many of them would have had to abandon their calling. The increased value of leases of salmon streams in New Brunswick and other provinces are other silent witnesses.

The manner in which the British Columbia salmon fisheries withstand their heavy annual toll is still further testimony. Amongst the latest examples of the success of these operations are the Petticoat river in New Brunswick and Hicks lake in British Columbia. The Petticoat river was practically depleted of salmon. It has been stocked with fry each year since 1913. As a result, this year, fishermen state that the river appeared to be full of salmon. Hicks lake was stocked with whitefish in 1913, the species not being previously found in the province. At a test, towards the end of 1919, with a small piece of net, eighteen fine whitefish, varying from 15 to 21 inches in length, and weighing from 1 to 4 1/2 pounds, were taken.

Dinah Differed.

A big laugh is going the rounds at the expense of a certain painless dentist. Seems a dainty woman who had been suffering for some time with a toothache finally got up courage enough to go to this dentist to have it extracted. But the minute he touched the tooth Dinah began to roar. "What are you making such a noise about? Don't you know I'm a painless dentist?" demanded the woman as he hastily closed the windows. "Mebbe you is, but I ain't," howled Dinah.

PALLID CHEEKS AND DULL EYES

Tell the Story of Watery Blood—How to Regain a Good Color and Health.

To be run down in health and to lose their attractiveness is the double misfortune of many young girls. Their pallid cheeks and dull eyes tell every one that they are doomed to days of wretched headaches and are victims of breathlessness and bloodlessness. The anaemic girl, if she neglects her health, may be a sufferer all her life; for an active happy woman cannot be developed out of a bloodless, consumptive looking girl, without the help of new, rich, red blood.

Pale, weak girls should take heed. Bloodlessness must not be neglected. Plenty of good air, a nourishing diet and rest will help you, but the cure you need most promptly is new blood. Good new blood in abundance, such as makes all the difference between sound health and poor health to girls and women, is supplied by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Their one mission is to make new blood which reaches every organ and every nerve in the body, bringing to anaemic girls and women new color, bright eyes, an elastic step and a feeling of joy in living. The value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to young girls is shown by the cure of Miss Beattie Clarke, R.R. No. 1, Stevensville, Ont., who says: "Two years ago, while studying for the entrance examination, my health broke down and I fell away to a mere shadow of my former self. When the day for the examinations came, I should have been in bed instead of trying them, but I went on with the work and when through was almost on the verge of collapse. I thought then that a rest would help me, but I did not regain my strength. Then my mother was advised to have me try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and after taking them for about a month I found myself restored to health, with good color and a change for the better, which people who knew me readily noticed. I am very thankful for what Dr. Williams' Pink Pills did for me, and hope my experience will benefit some other weak girl."

You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills through any dealer in medicine, or by mail, postpaid, at 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Silk Industry in Britain.

Great Britain is taking an active interest in the silk industry, with a large capital investment. One factory established in that country will produce about nine tons of artificial silk per day in addition to non-inflammable films and other products.

Salada Tea Reduced 15 Cents a Pound.

Every effort is being made to supply the retail dealers with Brown Label "SALADA" at the reduced price of 35 cents per pound. However, it will take some little time before all have it in stock, in spite of every exertion on the part of the Company, as they have tens of thousands of customers throughout Canada from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

Surnames and Their Origin

KAVANAGH.

Variations—O'Keenan, Keenan, Kevin, Keven, Keveney, Coen, Cohen, Cohan, Cowan, Cuan, Cavanna, McKean.

Racial Origin—Irish.

Source—A given name. Virtually all Irish family names take their origin in given names, except in cases where overlords, under English rule, have adopted as their family names the names of the places over which they held hereditary sway; but even here the names trace back ultimately to given names in most cases, for even the Irish geographical names trace back in almost overwhelming numbers to the names of persons.

In this the nomenclature of Ireland is virtually the reverse of nearly all other nations. But in the translation of the Kavanagh group of family names into the English tongue and spelling a most unusual number of variations has developed from the original form, which was "O'Caomhain," the "m" in this instance, as is often the case in Irish, having a "v" sound as the result of the inflections peculiar to that language.

The given name from which it is developed by the use of "o," meaning "descendants of" is "Caomhan," which means "a noble one."

Under certain inflectional influences the "h" predominated, which explains such forms of the name as Cowan, which, if analyzed, would have a pronunciation something like "koo-wan," easily shortened into "Cowan" and Cohan, Cohen, Cuan and Coen, which must not be confused with the Jewish family name Cohen. All of these two-syllable forms of the Irish name are properly pronounced with the accent on the second syllable; not "COW-an" and "CO-han," but "cow-AN" and "co-HAN," though

As Per Instructions.

Mistress: "Why, Bridget, what on earth are you doing with all the broken dishes on the shelf?"
Bridget: "Sure, mumm, yez towld me Oi wur to replace every one Oi broke."

Riding His Bill.

A visitor at a country fair noticed one melancholy individual who, despite the fact that he was apparently suffering greatly, persisted in remaining on one of the merry-go-rounds.

Eventually the looker-on spoke to him and asked him if he liked it.

"No, I don't like it a bit," the man replied. "The beastly thing makes me ill."

"Then why do you persist on going on it?"

"I can't help it. The man who owns this thing owes me money, and the only way I can get even is by taking it out in rides."

His Chief End in Life.

There lived in an English town a wealthy but exceedingly "tight" old lady, who kept very few servants and paid them as little as possible.

Among these was an undertaker, miserable-looking lad of fourteen, who answered the door, did the dishwashing, waited at table, weeded the garden, washed the dog, and a few other things.

One day a visitor asked this lad: "Well, my boy, and what do you do around here?"

"I do a butler, a kitchen maid and a gardener out of a job," replied the boy gravely.

An Artful Ruse.

"Mamma, didn't you say last week you wanted the carving knife and the chopper sharpened?"

"Mrs. Suburb: 'Indeed I did. Bless his little heart! How thoughtful you are!'"

"Well, I'll take 'em round to the cutter's for you."

"How sweet of you to offer to do such things for your mamma, my little cherub. I'll wrap them up."

"No, don't wrap them up. I want them to show. There's a boy out there waiting to fight me; but I fancy when he sees me coming he'll go home."

Plan Auto Road on Railroad Snowsheds.

Ingenious plans whereby a smooth concrete auto road may be run for 35 miles through a difficult pass of the Sierra Nevada Mountains, and a great transcontinental railroad may acquire, at the same time, a system of permanent concrete snowsheds, have been completed by a U.S. engineer. The design for the new snowsheds provides them with a continuous flat, walled roof, on which autos could run with the assurance that they would encounter no heavy grades or dangerous curves. With federal and state aid on the highway part of the project, the burden of cost on the railroad would be greatly reduced and early construction encouraged.

RHEUMATISM—LUMBAGO, NEURALGIA SCIATICA, NEURITIS

Their Treatment by Your Local Druggist.

Your own druggist, who has known the people of his locality for years, has a pretty good idea of what remedies are giving satisfaction to his customers. No number of testimonials from far-distant persons counts half as much with him as the results he gets from sales over his own counter.

That's why hundreds of druggists from Halifax to Victoria recommend Templeton's Rheumatic Capsules. Each of these hundreds knows of cases in his vicinity where T.R.C.'s have brought amazing relief. Men and women of all ages find freedom from their pain in T.R.C.'s. Mr. W. A. Hawley, of Campbellford, at the age of 84, was entirely cured, after being helpless with rheumatism for months.

Scores of druggists write of the satisfaction given by T.R.C.'s. Here are the statements of three from Ontario:

Ross the Druggist, Midland, Ont.: "Every sale of Templeton's Rheumatic Capsules is a satisfaction to me. I have yet to find a person not receiving benefit from their use. In many cases the relief has been wonderful and their friends I have many calls for Rheumatic Capsules and I never hesitate to recommend them."

G. F. Vicars, Fenelon Falls: "T.R.C.'s is the most satisfactory of any line of rheumatic remedy I have ever handled."

B. J. Cook, St. Thomas: "We have never had a preparation for rheumatism and neuritis that has sold like T.R.C.'s. The sale is wonderful and reports from our customers keep me in a state of surprise. I figure a satisfied customer is the best advertisement."

The explanation is that Templeton's Rheumatic Capsules act directly on the poisons in the system that in some persons cause rheumatism, in others lumbago, sciatica, neuritis or neuralgia. Their composition is the result of thirty years of patient study and experiment, long years of experience in the treatment of rheumatism.

Get a free trial package of T.R.C.'s, or Raz-Mah for Asthma from your druggist or from Templeton Limited, 56 Colborne St., E., Toronto. These remedies are absolutely harmless, or your druggist-agent wouldn't advise the use of them. When your own druggist recommends a remedy he is sure to receive your thanks or commendation. He won't risk the loss of a good customer by recommending a remedy in which he has no confidence.

Better Teeth.

Eminent English dentists have found that Jewish children have better teeth than Gentile children, attributing the cause to the use of oil by the Jew instead of sugar.
